EDITORIAL DRIFT

The bright sunshiny weather of the past few days makes last week's storms appear as a nasty nightmare.

The opposition down at Ottawa have for some time been on a hunt for timber wolves. It is still a matter of dispute as to whether any game has been secured. The C. P. R. wolf hunt was a tame affair compared to this event.

The farmers of southern Ontario are up in arms against the automobile, and are making a strong push to have them kept off the road altogether. Autoists have themselves to blame for the kick, and if they are not more careful and considerate these farmers will have the well-wishes of very many in their campaign. Accidents have been numerous, caused by reckless autoists, who apparently think it a good joke to see farmers' horses ripping harness and vehicles to pieces and injuring the owners. There has got to be something done about it.

One hears a good deal of grumbling at the class of immigrants that is being brought to our shores, and the hundreds of poor in Toronto are given as an illustration. These Toronto people, while impecunious at the present time, are not paupers in the true sense, as they are able bodied and willing to work. They are mostly new comers who have been unable to fortify themselves for the present winter. No doubt the coming summer, with plenty of work, will see the willing ones placed in comfort and a position to avoid a repetition of the present hard time. Those who ought to know say they have the making of good citizens. Still, the poor we have always with us, and charity is one of the graces.

The government has decided to revert to the old rate of postage in vogue previous to May 1 of last year on daily newspapers going to subscribers in the United States. It took them nine months to discover that it was not the daily papers they were after. Another three months may persuade them that weekly papers are quite as worthy of a reversion to the old rate as are the dailies. We had always heard that the Canadian Press Association was a power in the land, and so it was when Mr. Mulock was informed that the press of Canada was not averse to paying a just postage on their issues. But this was a case where the proverbial inch resulted in taking an ell. If the Association wishes to discover whether it actually has any prestige let it now get after the fool postage law and see that it is relegated to where it belongs—the dark ages.

THE WORK AHEAD.

The Ontario Legislature, which opened for business in Toronto last Wednesday, has a number of important matters ahead of it, some of which we will mention:

Two years ago the Whitney government sold a mining claim to the Cobalt Lake Company for the sum of $2,085,000. The company bought in good faith but later on litigation was entered against them and their solicitor informs them that their title is not good. The company is now after the government for a return of their money with interest. To satisfy this claim may cause the government some uneasy moments, but they should do the right thing. If they cannot deliver the title a refund of the money should be made. This matter is not exactly a matter of business before the government at present, but is likely to be made such.

Law reform is on the program, and if this matter is gone thoroughly into it will take a big slice out of the session, because if there is any one thing in the world that can be reformed and made more bearable it is Law. In the past it has too often been reformed in the wrong direction.

The temperance forces are after Mr. Hanna for a modification of the three fifths clause, which bears so heavily on their local option campaigns. Mr. Hanna has given them to understand that he will not concede their demand, but he may reconsider his position on this matter—or he may not. There will, however, be some amendments to the license law.

These are three important matters that will come before the Legislature, and there are others, which, altogether, will no doubt make a busy session. More than usual interest attaches here to the session this year from the fact that our own A.G. leads the loyal Opposition. We all have our eyes on him.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Favorite.

We Heartly Agree

The Meaford Mirror says: "What to our mind is a gross miscarriage of justice is revealed in the case of a letter-carrier in Toronto who was sentenced to five years in the Central Prison at hard labor for stealing nine dollars from a registered letter. The man, we are told, has a wife and four children depending upon him for support. What crime has this woman committed that she and her children should be thrown upon the charity of a cold world for five long years in order that the husband and father may be made to suffer punishment which is out of all proportion to the nature of the offence? Why should the Crown take the fruits of this man's labor while he is confined in prison and allow his poor wife to wear her life out in the effort to provide bread for herself and her little ones? The stealing of so small a sum of money does not call for such severe punishment, and its tendency will be to make the man worse instead of better. We trust that a sense of justice on the part of the Canadian people will cause them to take prompt action in this matter. "That is the most perfect form of government in which an injury to one is the concern of all." The administrators of the law should be taught that they are not privileged to abuse the sacred trust which the government of our country has placed in their hands."

In a dynamite explosion Wednesday at Camp No 3, some twelve miles from Deception, on Grand Trunk Pacific construction, Colin Campbell, employed as foreman of rock work, lost his life while loading a hole. Two others whose names are unknown were seriously injured.

The Famous Pedestrian

Gentlemen:—

"I was a martyr to catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I was so bad the doctors feared consumption. I tried many physicians and medicines. A friend suggested Psychine. I tried it and it was the only thing ever did me any good. I am now perfectly well. It is the greatest remedy the world has ever known. I do not need it for my health now but I use it as a strengthener for my walking matches. I owe much of my physical endurance to Psychine."
