The Advance this week heard a good goose egg yarn. A certain farmer living near town found a goose egg of the ordinary size, with a smaller egg, about the size of a hen's egg, attached to one end of it. Enclosing the yolk of the larger egg was a shell similar to the outer one. We withold the farmer's name as his reputation for veracity is generally good, and he does not wish it to be clouded. However we believe the story to be a true one.

A Sad Death

A telegraphic message arrived here on Saturday morning for Mr. W.J. Caswell, stating that his son, Willie, aged 19 years, had died at Hanover that morning, after an illness of less than 24 hours' duration, of inflammation. Mr. Caswell drove over immediately and brought the remains home, being met at Durham by Willie's late boss, who had brought the remains that far. The funeral took place to Flesherton cemetery Monday afternoon, when a large number of friends accompanied the body to it's last resting place. Will was an estimable young man of sterling qualities, and his extremely sudden call was a sad blow to his loving parents. He had been engaged with the steel laying gang on the new C. P. R. line all spring. Much sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing family.

Riot at Owen Sound

A strike of C. P. R. freight handlers at Owen Sound culminated in a riot on Monday in which 25 shots were fired, and bricks and coal flew promiscuously around. The C. P. R. brought about 300 men from Toronto to replace the strikers, but these refused to work. In the melee two men were shot, but not fatally, and a third badly clubbed over the head. Later in the day the strike was amicably settled on a basis which was practically a victory for the men.

A farmer living not far from here gives the particulars of a good "Goose" story. Mother Goose, who was setting on a nest of twelve eggs for three weeks, flopped off one morning, said "Quack, quack," and the spirit fled. The farmer's wife was in a quandary as to what to do with the eggs that were almost hatched out, when the husband suggested they try a gander. Forthwith they put him on the eggs, where he stayed like a little man, and after a week of patient waiting he was rewarded by bringing out a batch of pretty fluffy looking goslings. The old gander is stalking around with his head in the air filling the dual position of father and mother.—Hanover Post.

Salvation Army Praise

"I feel it my duty to testify to the benefit I have received from the use of Psychine. While travelling in New Ontario conducting special meetings I contracted a very bad cold, which gradually developed into Bronchitis of the worst form. I was advised to try Psychine, which I did, and after using but a few bottles I was completely restored to health. I recommend this wonderful remedy to sufferers from Bronchitis and other troubles."

Later: "I wish to add that my voice, since using Psychine, is stronger and has much more carrying power than it had before I had bronchitis, and the vocal chords do not tire with speaking."

P. TILLER, Capt. Salv'n. Army.
Ann St., Toronto, Aug. 13, 1907.
