The Pioneer of Toronto is credited with the statement that there are only two papers in Ontario that refuse to publish liquor advertisements—the Montreal Witness and Toronto News. This statement is an absurdity. There are dozens of papers in Ontario that refuse to handle this class of advertisements, but are probably too modest to trumpet it broadcast. We know several in this county alone that have refused to handle liquor advertisements. Before making such a statement the Pioneer should have consulted the advertising agencies, where some valuable statistics could have been obtained, providing the agencies would loosen up on what they know about it. The men who print patent "innards" also know something about it.

Apropos of the article which appeared in these columns last week on immigration matters, a couple of gentlemen have volunteered information that would lead one to conclude that the immigration laws are merely things to be juggled with by those who handle them and are practically useless for the conditions they were intended to control. One gentleman tells us that he knows of three cases where immigrants were given the required amount of money to secure them a landing with the understanding that it be returned. Two of these individuals were criminals that were shipped here and the loan was held over them with the threat that if it was not promptly returned they would be shipped back and sent to jail. Another gentleman says he has watched the landing operations and declares that the authorities merely make a show of demanding a money declaration and he has seen those who did not have the required amount passed on along with those who did. The people of this country have imagined that they had good immigration laws, but "by their fruits ye shall know them," and judging in this manner they are certainly not what is expected of them.

Lord Roberts, when in Canada, during the course of a speech said that Canada had something to learn in the way of clean sports. He said that a victory, unless fairly achieved was no victory, and a gentlemanly attitude should rule the participants in our national games. These hints, coming from such a source, should make our sporting fraternity pause and think. We know ourselves that the substructure of our sports is not built of the proper material. There is too much of the rowdy element. To such an extent is this true that thousands of people take no interest whatever in our so-called sports, and many denounce them as degrading and lowering of the moral standard of our youth. It is not pleasant to be forced to listen to foul-mouthed language, unseemly conduct, on the part of the players, or to know that a victory is gained at the expense of honor, as so frequently happens. In some recent matches in this county all these things, and more, have been in evidence. Drinking of intoxicants by players and supporters, is one of the saddest features of these games, and this is becoming all too common. This is what leads to much of the disgraceful rowdyism and should be put a stop to. Friends of clean sport should see to it that Lord Roberts' good-natured hints are hearkened to and an era of clean, gentlemanly sports inaugurated, where women can go and witness a contest without having their ears assailed by language unfit for any place outside a brothel, and where an honest, gentlemanly contest will rule, regardless of who may win or who may lose. Pennants have been won in Ontario, many of them, that were considered no honor, except in the conceit of the men who held them. It is time the public interest was considered in these matters.

Eight English families have been deported from Deseronto.

Oliver Irwin, of east half lot 5, concession 5, Mulmur township, was running the binder, when the horses took fright and started to run away. His father, Robert Irwin, attempted to stop the team and in doing so was so badly cut by the knife of the machine that he lived only a short time.

Peter May who has been working on the scows in connection with the dredge, Togo, this season, met with a very painful accident, at Meaford on Wednesday afternoon of last week, which deprived him of his left thumb. While in the act of dumping the scow the heavy bar by a sudden jerk from the roller, which winds the chains up, was thrown from its socket and struck him on the shoulder and at the time catching his hand between the wood and the bar thus practically taking off his thumb which was left dangling from the hand by a piece of skin. His shoulder was also bruised. Dr. Jordan amputated the thumb and dressed the hand.—Herald Reflector.
