NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late. Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable. palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreams and losses, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks careworn expression, poor memory. lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings. restless nights, changeable moods. weak manhood, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose. sore throat etc.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most prevalent and most serious diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and unless entirely eradicated from the system may affect the future generation. Beware of Mercury. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT alone can cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches, and ulcers disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical, and vital systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. Dont let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

READER No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. BOOKS FREE—"The Golden Monitor" (illustrated)

On Board S. S. Lake Erie

To the Editor of The Advance.

Dear Sir—I think I promised, or said I might send you some notes on voyage. We have been on board this ship one week to-day (August 8th), and are nearing the close of our voyage which has been a very pleasant one, being favored with bright skies and calm seas all the time, excepting one day.

We left home on Wednesday, July 29th, during the hottest day, or week, of the summer, and, leaving Toronto the following evening, arrived in Montreal on Friday morning. The day was oppressively hot—so much so as to suspend business in some establishments. After attending to the transportation of our baggage from the C. P. R. station to the steamship dock we went up the inclined railway to the top of Mount Royal, where, under the shade of the oak trees with which it is thickly planted, we could escape the humid heat of the city, which is spread out at the base of the mountain. In the evening we went down and by trolley cars through the busy city and its narrow streets. We visited some places of historic interest—the Champ de Mars, the Nelson's Column and the Chateau de Ramsay, the old Governor's residence, which is now used as a museum and picture gallery. It is one of the old buildings of the city, dating back some 200 years, and has associations with the principal men and events prominent in the history of Old Canada.

At eight p. m. we went on board our steamer, went to bed, and awoke in the morning quietly steaming down the river St. Lawrence. The day was fine and the scenery on the shores beautiful and interesting. Two of the places passed have a tragic interest—one the city of Three Rivers, so recently devastated by fire, the heart of the city being a mass of fragmentary walls of charred masonry. Approaching Quebec we came upon the ruins of the immense iron bridge which collapsed in course of construction, precipitating some eighty men into the deep and swift flowing river. Nearly all were drowned. The span when completed would have been the largest single span in the world, and the cost over six millions of dollars. One half of the structure is a mass of tangled iron beams and rods and angle iron. Many hundreds of tons are sunk or hanging suspended from the short anchorage. Soon we sweep past the ruin and Quebec looms up on our left bank and we observe Wolfe's Cove where he landed his men the night preceding the battle of Quebec, which decided the fate and ownership and government of half a continent. In Quebec harbor our vessel was anchored alongside a French war-vessel which had come to the celebration of the ter-centenary of Quebec and would have left with the other war vessels, English and American, but had the misfortune to lose her anchor and anchor chain in the river, and they were remaining to recover it. The value of the chain and pendant was estimated at over $2,000.

We went through the straits of Belle Isle and consequently did not reach the ocean until Tuesday. On Monday it was rough and nearly all the passengers were sick, but Tuesday saw nearly all in their places at the dining tables. Since then the weather has been very fine and we have had an exceedingly nice passage.

We saw many icebergs and sailed quite near to one—two mountain peaks of ice connected at the base on one immense berg. In between was a basin in which a ship might float, and a cove at one side gave an inlet through which a boat might enter. Behind the basin the two peaks were connected by a huge wall of ice. Another berg was seen many miles away, estimated to be several times the size of the one we were passing.

We have the Marconi system of telegraphy on board, and with the permission of the Captain, which I obtained for our party, we were privileged to visit and explore the wizard's den, where the operator very kindly explained and exhibited to us the action and properties of all his wonderful apparatus. In the hold of the vessel there is also installed the lately invented, wonderful sea telephone, by which we can be advised from any lighthouse station of our nearness to shore when lights cannot be seen for fog. Not only can signals be given by ringing of a bell but conversation may be had with parties ashore miles away. It is telephone connection through the water without wire. Our vessel is not so large as others on which I have crossed, but is a well-equipped and very steady boat.

Sunday, 9th--We have had a change in weather, rough, boisterous and raining but not cold. Service this morning in the saloon, conducted by the Purser, Rev. Dr. Bryce of Winnipeg and Rev. J. Cole of Rome, U. S. The last named was the preacher, a man of the build, type and characteristics of our late Rev. Dr. Potts. Last Sunday the preacher was Dr. Bryce, who reminds me much of our Dr. Carmen. I have found them both very genial personages as fellow voyagers. Indeed, the whole company of passengers are about the most agreeable, chummy, jolly lot I ever saw on a voyage. They have been in some cases wishing for a sight of land and by to-morrow will be wishing the voyage were a day or two longer. We were to have sighted land this evening but owing to the rain and thick mist may not see it until tomorrow morning, when we expect to be passing near the north coast of Ireland.

We are all well. Yours truly,

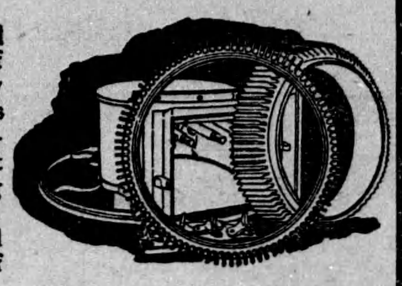
—M. K. Richardson.

Three Great Features of the

"Hecla" Furnace

Fused Joints make the "Hecla" permanently airtight and sanitary. The heated air is fresh and pure, because no gas, dust or smoke can get into the airchamber.

Steel-Ribbed Firepot has steel instead of cast iron flanges. 97 of these steel flanges are fused to the outside of the firepot giving it three times as much radiating surface as any other style. In a three years' test the steel ribbed pot showed a saving of fuel of over 11%.



Triangular Bar Grate enables you to clear any part of the fire of ashes. There are four grates. Each can be shaken separately. It gets all the ashes out—saves coal—and means a clean fire.

Made by the makers of famous "Peerless Peninsular" Ranges.

Stop in and let us show you all the new features of the 1908 "Hecla." 65
