DUCK-TURKEY AND STREAMLINED BIRDS

Fashions in the size and shape of turkeys for the dinner table seem to follow in the wake of modish apparel. In the British market the trend is towards smaller turkeys; in Canada the big turkey with honest-to-goodness proportions holds sway, while in Australia the distracted breeders are in search of a "streamlined" bird in order to satisfy the latest demands of consumers. On this subject, the Fish Trades Gazette of London, England, remarks "Large Turkeys for our (British) trade are each year going out of favour.

"To meet the requirements of these days of apartments with small ovens, the Turkey Breeders' Association in Australia is in search of the 'streamlined' turkey. Experiments are being started in Sydney to breed a bird of shorter leg, deeper chest, and broader back to fit an ordinary gas oven. The turkey should also be lighter in weight. The aim of the breeders is a turkey which will look something like a duck in shape
