HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice.

Woman Likes Life On Sheep Station

Not So Primitive, Says Widely Traveled Woman

MONTREAL — Life on a sheep station in Australia is far from the primitive affair generally imagined by people on the other side of the world from "down under," according to Mrs. Hedley Hardman, much-traveled visitor to this city, whose late husband owned two such stations in the New England of New South Wales.

The workers have comfortable cottages and pretty gardens, and there is usually provision for community recreation, such as tennis courts, Mrs. Hardman told a reporter.

Merino sheep were raised on her husband's sheep stations, the "population" being two to an acre. One of the stations was a freehold of 23,000 acres, the other comprised 4,500 acres. The sheep are shorn by electrically-operated shears, the work being done under contract.

Social life among the owners of the sheep stations is most enjoyable, she said. They generally spend a month to six weeks at the stations, for quail-shooting and polo. The Hardman town house was in Sydney.

Mrs. Hardman has traveled to many parts of the world, but she finds Canada one of the most interesting countries she has visited, and was enthusiastic about the variety of the scenery on her route from Vancouver.

Travel has always been plain sailing to Mrs. Hardman, who has never run into a revolution or a war, whether in the Far East or in Europe. But a few years ago she omitted Madrid from her itinerary while traveling through Spain, having been warned of disorders there. She went through the Basque country, and retains vivid impressions of its charm and the simplicity and quiet ways of the people. There was no sign of a policeman, she said.

"Fateful" 1940

John O'Ren, in Baltimore Sun observes—There is something particularly soothing in the news that the Olympic Games are to be held in Tokyo in 1940. We have got into the habit of looking to 1940 as one of the horrible years when the human race will be crawling out of hades again, reluctantly making some sort of inadequate peace, that it is very interesting to learn that, as far as the people who run the Olympic Games are concerned, 1940 will just be another round of competitive javelin hurling and discus throwing. With nothing to cloud the future more serious than the possible ejection of a champion swimmer for too great proficiency on the parallel bar 1940 can be taken as it comes.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

25 Millions Month Repaid

By Home Owners—Comparatively Few Try To Duck Obligations

WASHINGTON. — Termination of all lending by the Home Owners Loan Corporation on June 12 officials said recently, has resulted in creation of one of the nation's largest collection agencies, now gathering about $25,000,000 each month.

The HOLC was required by law to cease mortgage lending on June 12, they explained, and the entire machinery of the organization has been geared to collect the $3,000,000,000 in loans made to more than 1,000,000 home owners.

Reports showed that monthly collections approximate $25,000,000 representing small installment payments from borrowers. The records also showed that on June 30, 15,791 employes in 271 offices were engaged in collecting the loans. This office and field force was a reduction from the total of 19,548 employes in 300 offices on January 31, 1936.

HOLC officials said the amounts due each month from borrowers average about $24, including principal and interest. Most of the loans were made for a 15-year period, at five per cent. interest.

Officials said that each case of a delinquency is handled on its own merits, and that every effort is made to keep the mirtgaged property on the books as a paying property. Cases of wilful refusal to repay were described as "comparatively few."

On June 30, 1936, the HOLC had completed 3,884 foreclosures, and had taken 1,673 voluntary deeds in lieu of foreclosure. A separate division of the corporation was established to manage and sell properties taken over by the government.

Also on June 30, reports showed, 6,804 borrowers had repaid their loans in full, a total of $14,082,914.

Rich, Like Poor, Always With Us

J. P. Morgan and John D. Rockefeller, jr., are financiers of the first rank, but as prophets their standing will depend on events, notes the Cleveland Plain Dealer. When Morgan predicted that large private fortunes would be dispersed in 30 years, Rockefeller called his statement conservative. Internal revenue bureau statistics, however, show that large fortunes are becoming more numerous and those already in existence increasing in size.

The millionaire population is still a long way from the 15,977 listed in 1928, but in 1935 there were about 2,500 of them as compared with 1,930 in 1934. Figures indicate that the income in this class increased 25 per cent. in one year or from $367,000,000 in 1934 to $435,000,000 in 1935. It is intersting to note, also that the few millionaires of 1934 had wealth averaging $3,800,000 as against the the average of $1,347,000 in 1928. In other words, while the depression thinned the ranks of the very wealthy it increased the wealth of those able to hold on.

This order may be changed to some extent when the new wealth tax act, signed Aug. 30, 1935, begins to show results. It was frankly designed as a weapon against what President Roosevelt called the "unjust concentration of wealth and economic power." It is this policy on which Morgan and Rockefeller supposedly base their predictions.

New estate taxes, too, will cut into large private fortunes, but the cost of government will continue to bear heavily on the small earner. Heavy levies against the rich will be slow in relieving the tax burden of other classes. Hard work and thrift will continue to be the chief reliance of the average American. Any real redistribution of wealth is likely to come about only through a betterment of general conditions. The millionaires, like the poor, it appears, will be with us always.

Pussy's Tail

(Our Dumb Animals)

The tail of the cat is part of the backbone, or spine, which is made up of a number of little knots of bones joined together, just like our spines; and pussy's spine also is joined to her brain. You will understand now why puss cannot bear to have her tail pulled and why she growls and scratches when the baby drags at it. No wonder for it affects her brain and half maddens her for a minute.

FINE CUT

Dining in "Shakespeare-Land"

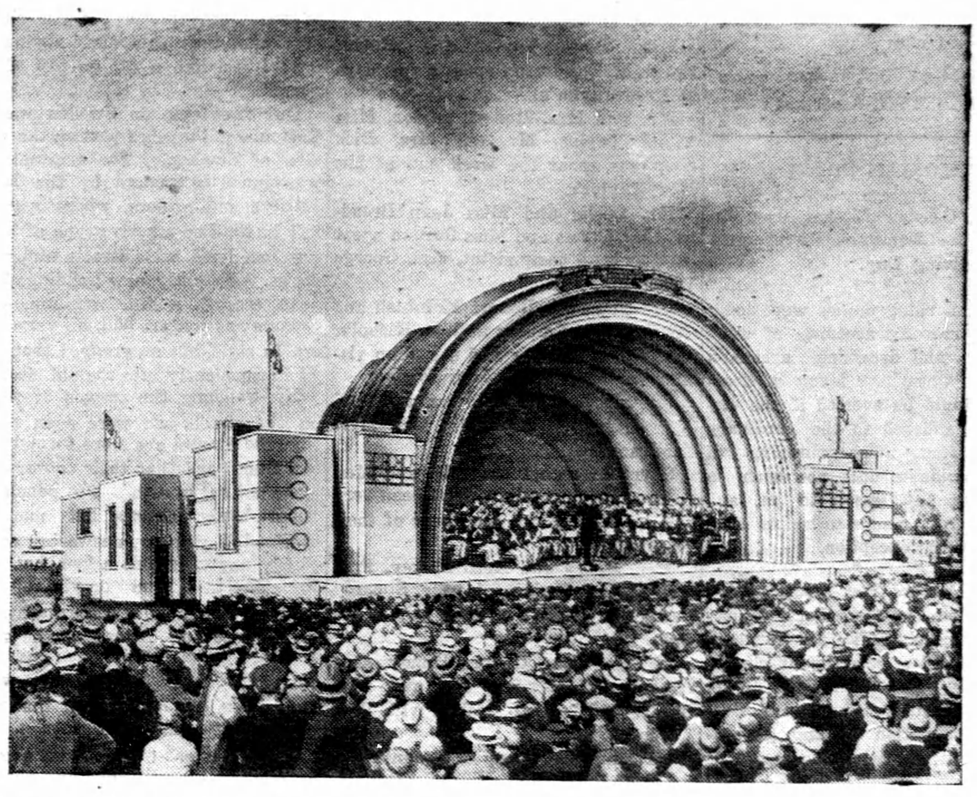
Above is a little corner of Shakespeare-Land located in a quiet by-way of down-town Toronto, yet within a stone's throw of King and Yonge Sts. This photograph depicts one of the five beautiful mural paintings in this quaint English restaurant at 6 Wellington St. East. Each painting represents a scene from Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's birthplace.

Immediately upon entering the big iron-studded oak door of this unique old-world tavern, one feels the atmosphere of hospitality so characteristic of the way-side Inn of Shakespeare's day. Rest and relaxation are suggested in the hunter's table, long churchwarden pipes, the heavily beamed ceiling of dark oak, and the general air of seclusion.

While the surroundings at Shakespeare-Land are conducive to convivial dining, not the least important part is played in good food, well-cooked and served. Mine host M. Arno Frind buys the choicest meat, fruit and vegetables, which are cooked by experienced European hotel chefs, who know how to prepare food in the old-fashioned way made famous by our grandmothers.

Recovery Year at the Canadian National Exhibition

To Be Marked By Opening of New Mammoth Band Shell. Music with Lighting Effects a New Feature



Features never before embodied in a bandshell are included in the mammoth structure at the Canadian National Exhibition park in Toronto. The new shell is the result of three years research. Accoustics' engineers from several universities have been consulted and Fred Mayberry, chief electrician of the big annual Canadian exposition has utilized the best lighting features from the Swift and Ford shells at the Century of Progress, Radio City music hall, San Diego exposition and in addition visited Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels and Karlsruhe in search of most modern methods. These have been elaborated and special electrical equipment built to order.

Band and orchestra conductors will have a miniature simplified switchboard immediately in front of the podium from which they will be able to manipulate the lighting effects to suit the moods of the music as they change from time to time during the playing of selections.

The Canadian National Exhibition has engaged the Kneller Hall band from the Royal Military School of Music at Twickenham, England, to dedicate the new shell. This organization is composed of bandmasters taking courses at the school. All are masters of several instruments, several are organists and vocalists, some of them are composers of note. This ensemble will be under the baton of Major H. E. Adkins, Mus. B.; L.R.A.M. who will be remembered by the bandsmen of America as guest conductor at the American Bandmasters' Association convention in Cincinnati two years ago.

Bring Vallee Back For Two-Week Visit

Famed Radio Showman With Orchestra and Show Engaged for Exhibtion

Radio's famous showman, Rudy Vallee, outstanding Thursday night celebrity of listening America, is returning to Canada again this year, for the entire fourteen days of the exposition. He is bringing with him an augmented orchestra and a large stage presentation. His regular radio performances, during the period, will go out to the continent's fans from the Exhibition.

Lawns at Night

Introducing an innovation in horticulture, lighting experts have developed special night illumination for lawns and flower beds. The 350 exposition acres are famous for their landscaped groves and plazas as well as their natural floral displays. Last year, the creation of unusual night effects outdoors with lights and flowers were seen for the first time. It will be further developed this year. Much of it is done with concealed or indirect lighting though in some cases, elaborate floodlighting systems have been used.

Hopi Invasion

The Indians Are Coming — Will Settle in Toronto — for 2 Weeks

Reservations have been made with the Canadian National Exhibition for an Indian village and construction of the temporary community is now completed. For the two weeks of exposition, it will be the home of the Hopis. The copper-skinned aborigines of the American southwest, famed for their snake dances which are staged with live reptiles, are also great craftsmen. They will carry on their native arts as silversmiths and weavers during their Canadian stay.

Scotland Sending Mission to Canada

Goodwill Visit and Trade Exposition Planned for Canadian National Exhibition

Here will be a gathering of the clans in real earnest this year. For the first time, Scotland is coming. In addition to the elaborate British Industries' sections and the famous Court of Empire where last year, replicas of the Royal jewels in the Tower of London were shown, Scotland will be present with its own trade exposition in the British Trade pavilion. The undertaking is being sponsored by the Scottish National Development Council which is planning to make it a meeting place for Scots and those of Scottish descent from all parts of America.

There will necessarily be sprigs of heather, tartans and the bagpipes but there will also be machinery and many other products of industrial Scotland with which the average Canadian is not so familiar. The plans of the Scottish show will follow the lines of the Scottish trade ship which visited Canada several years ago.
