The Value of Economy

Many people fail to save, because they do not realize the importance of small economies.

The practice, once begun, of laying aside a portion of your income, no matter how small, every week or month, will soon become a fixed habit.

The result in a few years will probably surprise, and certainly gratify you.

On Monday morning the barn of Mr. Chas. Croft, of the fourth line was burned to the ground The fire started at an early hour, before any of the family were around, the cause being unknown. Three cows and two small pigs were burned along with a quantity of hay, straw and grain. The Advance has been unable to learn the full particulars. The barn was a log one with a number of additions.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the heart and kidneys. The old fashioned way of dosing the stomach or stimulating the heart or kidneys is surely wrong! Dr Shoop first pointed out the error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said her each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerve," When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell. Sold by all dealers,

Married

Hopps—Shier—On Wednesday evening last Mr. James Jones Hopps was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Eva Shier of Port Law. Mr. Samuel Shier assisted the groom, while Miss Tena McLeod performed the duties of bridesmaid. The bride looked handsome attired in a dress of white lustre with waist to match, trimmed with lace. The interesting ceremony took place at the Methodist parsonage where Dr. Caldwell tied the bridal knot. The Advance joins with the many friends in the congratulations.

The home of Mr. J. E. Little of Wareham was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wed. Nov. 4th at 11.30 p m. when his only daughter, Margaret, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to Mr. William Murrey Gaudin of Heathcote. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Caldwell in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in cream taffeta, made in Princess effect and trimmed with Irish point lace and carried a boquet of white carnations. She was attended by the groom's cousin, Miss Carrie Hurlburt, of Thornbury, who wore a gown of silk eolian over silk and carried pink carnations. The bride's travelling suit was of dark blue vicuna cloth with hat and veil to match. The groom was supported by Mr. W. Little, brother of the bride.

The bridal party entered the room to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Ida Osborne of Port Law. The happy couple left on the evening train for Toronto and other points of interest amid showers of rice and confetti. As organist, Sabbath School teacher, a consistent member and faithful worker in Mount Zion Methodist Church, the bride will be greatly missed. The groom is well and favorably known, having had charge of the Eugenia circuit prior to the present pastor, Rev. Thos. Laidlaw M.A. On their return the happy couple will reside in Heathcote. Heartiest wishes of the community follow them to their new home.

Mr. Alexander Stewart

On Friday, November the 6th, one of Artemesia's sturdy pioneers passed to his great reward in the person of Mr. Alexander Stewart, who died of heart failure at the home of his nephew, Mr. Roderick Stewart. The deceased gentleman was born on May 31st, 1826, in the parish of Urquhart and Logie Wester, Ross county, Scotland, and came to Canada to hew a home out of the forest. He worked his way up to Artemesia in company with his brother, Rodrick. They stopped for several days at Mr. Shelson's, a brother-in-law of A. Munshaw, opposite where the cemetery now is. Locating on the west back line in 1850, the year they came to Canada, when the subject of our sketch was only 24 years of age, they cleared farms and built in the forest, opening up the way for others who followed later. At that time Flesherton consisted of only two or three houses and the site of the town was mostly native forest. Mr. Stewart saw the country develop, and was one of the few remaining heroes who braved the dangers and trials of the then practically unknown wilderness, and beheld the township of Artemesia develope and grow into the splendid farming community it now is. About seven years after coming to Canada he was joined by his sister, Ann, who lived with him till her demise in 1901. In 1886 Mr. Stewart moved to Flesherton where he lived a retired life until 1904, when he returned and lived on the old homestead with his nephew, Roderick, who cared for him in his last days with all the consideration and kindness of a son. Mr. Stewart was a life-long adherent of the Presbyterian church, and had for a number of years been a staunch member. The deceased was a gentleman who held the church in high reverence, and whose life was upright and honorable, commanding the respect and honor of those with whom he came in daily contact, and with his demise an earnest christian went to claim his reward.

The largely attended funeral took place to Orange Valley cemetery on Monday, November 9th, after a service at the house, Rev. G. C. Little, his pastor, officiating.

Will a Move be Made.

Mr. Editor—Many people in town shake their heads and assume a look that would lead one to think that their great-grandmother had passed from this world of sin and woe, when they speak of the young men of this town.

Admitted that the young men do stand around corners and in the stores at night, yet what is to be done about it? They have to go somewhere. Why will not some of those who are so concerned about the young men do something to help them out. A good suggestion would be that the public library be started again. Surely there are enough people in Flesherton to put the library on a sound financial footing again and to start a reading room in connection. This would be an influence for good which would be appreciated by the young men and would not cost a great deal, if only some of those who are so fond of talking would get busy and do something. I would suggest that the clergy of the town interest themselves in the problem.

—One of the young men.

Attempted Murder

Albert Porter, a well known local character of Owen Sound, is in custody, charged with trying to murder Andrew Peterson.

Wednesday night about 11 o'clock persons passing Checkley's quarry, in the north-east section of the town, heard cries for help and found Peterson lying at the bottom of the pit. He was suffering from a compound fracture of the thigh and was cut and bruised from head to foot, but was able to say that Porter had thrown him there. His story is that they, with some others, had been drinking during the afternoon; that he had met Porter again, when a quarrel had started, and that Porter, with the threat, "I'll finish you, you—" had thrown him over the edge of the pit.

How Peterson escaped with his life is a marvel, as he had a sheer drop of twenty feet to the rocks below. He was taken to the hospital, and is likely to recover.

Porter was arrested last night. He is a mulatto, and though he has but one arm, is powerfully built, and more than a match for most men.
