The extensive farm buildings of Mr. Frank Hewson, a mile north of Duntroon, on the Collingwood road, were completely destroyed by fire Monday night, also seven horses, some hogs, fowl, seed, grain and other numerous contents. We venture to say that no handsomer catch of trout was made on Victoria Day than that secured in the Beaver by Messrs. C. Mosier and Geo. Harris. In fact it is very rarely these days that such a fine bunch is taken in one day. We desire to express our thanks to these gentlemen for the gift of half a dozen of the finest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hargrave, Dundalk, called on old friends here Friday last. Mr. Hargrave has been somewhat "under the weather" for some time but is improving. While in town he called in and planked down enough of the "long green" to square his subscription for nearly two years ahead. That is the kind of example to set, but such an act is so rare that we think it worth mentioning. Some of our good friends remain a few years behind instead of greasing the wheels in advance for their yearly trip.

A peculiar rain storm passed over this township on Friday afternoon last. A mile and a half north of Flesherton it rained steadily a regular downpour for nearly three hours. The storm appeared to be almost stationary and described a quarter circle, with one end resting near Priceville, stretching around by Vandeleur and out to Eugenia. At Flesherton only a few misty drops fell. The Vandeleur people say they have never seen a heavier downpour. Our Vandeleur correspondent describes it as a cloud-burst.

Mr. Wm. Moore, whose death was referred to last week, was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, where he was born on March 17, 1820. He was married to Miss Sophia Humphrey of Bellahais, County Cavan, in 1857. They immigrated to Toronto in 1879 and in the following year came to Artemesia with his wife and family, where they have since lived. Deceased leaves his aged partner and three sons and six daughters, as follows: Mrs. Alex. Haney, Sunderland; Wm. H. Moore, Toronto; Mrs. Ellen Parker, west back line, Artemesia; Mrs. Sarah Crandall, Port Perry; Alex. Moore, Cheltenham; Miss Jennie Moore, Buffalo; Mrs. Wm. G. Richardson, Buffalo; Mr. Albert Moore, Silver Creek, N. Y.; and Mrs. Alex. Norrie, Erin. One son—Thomas—is also deceased. The funeral took place to Flesherton cemetery on the 20th inst.

A note received last week from Mr. Heath, late principal of our public school, locates him at Zealandia, Sask. Mr. Heath says: "Just as we were about to leave Regina for Nelson, B. C., I was offered a position in Zealandia, Sask., and accepted it. The town is near the great Goose Lake district, about 60 miles west of Saskatoon on the Goose Lake branch of the C. N. R. Last November no town existed, there was just a post office. We now have nearly 70 houses and shacks. There are some fine residences, 2 hardware stores, 2 furniture, 4 general, 4 restaurants, several boarding houses and a 30-room hotel. All trades are represented, 2 doctors and a dentist and many others, etc. We are keeping house and enjoying western life fine. I met Mr. Edgar Bellamy, son of Mr. Charles Bellamy of Flesherton last Saturday. He is living further down the line, 15 miles, at Rosetown. He is doing well and looking fine. Much of the so-called friendship of the day is but pretense. It exists only in name and as soon as it ceases to be advantageous it is dropped. The friendship that continues the same in prosperity and adversity is to be prized, but all other kinds are worthless. It matters not how hard a may may struggle to do right and make a success of life, there is always some loathsome reptile, some worthless wretch who is ready to drag him down, to blight his hopes and blast his fondest ambitions. The loss of money and property is not the greatest loss a man can sustain in the business world; far better to lose your money than to lose hope and ambition.

District Meeting.

The Owen Sound district meeting of the Methodist church was held in First Street church, Owen Sound, on Thursday and Friday of last week with a full attendance of ministers and laymen. At the ministerial session on Thursday, after routine business, two young men from this section were examined for the ministry—Wilfred Cullis and J. Montgomery—and both were cordially recommended. At the evening session two most excellent addresses were delivered by Revs. Treble of Corbetton and J. S. I. Wilson of Markdale. Music was supplied by Mr. Newton Large and a sextette led by the veteran Methodist, Mr. John Rutherford.

At the laymen's meeting on Friday reports from the various circuits showed finances to be in a fairly flourishing condition. Rev. Morris of First Street church, Owen Sound, was elected to the stationing committee of Toronto conference with Rev. Harold Wellwood alternate. Following are some of the district delegates appointed to attend conference next month: Markdale, W. G. Pickell; Inistioge, Geo. Bannon; Dundalk, Geo. Nixon; Flesherton, W. Clayton, (Mr. Clayton's fifth appointment in this capacity); Priceville, H. Patterson; Walters Falls, J. Bowes.

A hearty resolution was passed thanking the chairman of the district, Rev. Ivison Wilson, for the zeal with which he had performed the duties of his office.

Things were made very pleasant for the delegates by Owen Sound people, the ladies aids of the churches being deserving of special thanks for a bountious dinner supplied by them at the Queens on the last day.

Whooping Cough.

"In February our daughter had the whooping cough. Mr. Lane, of Hartland, recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said it gave his customers the best of satisfaction. We found it as he said; and can recommend it to anyone having children troubled with whooping cough," says Mrs. A Goss, of Durand, Mich. For sale by W. E. Richardson.

The Marathon Craze

Since the Marathon run last summer was won by an American, such tests of endurance have been enthusiastically pursued by the youth of the kindred nations. Americans intend to keep this country at the front in future Olympic games. Englishmen are preparing to take away the distinction—training so arduously as to give cause for warnings which their cousins will do well to heed.

The Marathon distance is about twenty-six miles. At the Olympic it is covered by young men who are supposed to be strong, sound, experienced, and directed by experts who know how to place each stride and get the most out of every muscle. Even so a Marathon "finish" is not a pleasing spectacle. It indicates that the contestants have undergone a strain from which they will not soon, if ever, recover.

Medical authorities are agreed that this is the fact. Many go farther, and declare that just as it harms men to run a long distance, so does it injure growing boys to run a shorter distance, if the strain of competition is added. Five of the most eminent physicians and surgeons in England have united in a statement that "school and cross-country races exceeding one mile are wholly unsuitable for boys under nineteen, as the continued strain involved is apt to cause permanent injury to the heart and other organs."

Some think that this shows excess of caution. Perhaps it does. At any rate, it shows unselfishness, for the doctors are trying to forestall conditions that, in later years, they would be called upon to treat. If they are willing to make that sacrifice for what they conceive to be the general good, surely any youth can afford for his own good to give up the hope of a momentary fame.

The Marathon craze has served one useful purpose, however, in that it has led to a thorough reexamination of large and important questions. So far in Great Britain, the Conservatives seem to have triumphed. Even the setting-up drill of the British army has of late been revised with a view to eliminate all movements that put undue strain upon the heart. No one can go far wrong if he follows that precedent.

Exercise is necessary and wholesome. Excessive exercise, the overexertion that leads to collapse, or invites acident, or brings on fatigue which is not dispelled, is harmful—If not to-day, to-morrow—Youth's Companion.

The Gipsy Smith revival now on in Toronto, is one of the greatest religious movements that ever took place in the Queen city. The city papers have elaborate reports, and, unlike most of the previous revivals, there is no unfavorable comment, so far as the writer has noticed in the press. Thousands of outsiders are making special trips to the city to hear the great evangelist. Not only is there a temperance wave sweeping over the land, but close on its trail is a strong evangelical movement, the Layman's Missionary movement being well to the front. There seems to be a time coming when the better elements of society will join heart and hand for moral advancement of a much higher and better type.—Durham Chronicle.
