Rev. W. Sinclair of Epsom preached in the Methodist church Sunday evening to an appreciative audience from Isaiah 40:31. His many friends and old neighbors on this circuit were pleased to hear him. His subject was well-handled and full of helpful suggestions.

Markdale passed a bylaw last year to raise twenty thousand dollars to instal waterworks. It is now found that ten thousand dollars more will be required to complete the work, and the citizens will again be asked to supply the amount. The original estimators on the job were certainly considerably out in their figures.

Flesherton baseball team journeyed to their doing up at Dundalk on Friday afternoon last, where the score stood 8-12. The Flesherton catcher blamed the umpire for the defeat, and others gave various other reasons, so we have decided that the Dundalk club earned its victory. We would enjoy very much chronicling a victory for the Flesherton boys before snow flies, but have about given up hope.

Eight years ago Mr, Aaron Wyville of Markdale injured his neck when alighting from a moving train and was obliged to have it medically treated. Recently the trouble has become more acute and Mr. Wyville finds it necessary to go to Hamilton this week to have an operation performed.

Friday afternoon of this week will be devoted to sport and music by the citizens of Flesherton. Bills have been issued announcing that three baseball teams and three bands will provide entertainment on the agricultural grounds, and the inner man will be looked after as well, all for the nominal sum of 25 cents. Games start at 3 p. m. Take an afternoon off and enjoy yourself.

A defeat and a victory. Since writing the baseball item printed elsewhere our spirits have been materially improved by the action of our baseball team at Markdale Monday evening, when in a five-inning game, the Flesherton aggregation won by the very satisfactory score of 5 to 3. The game is said to be one of considerable brilliance on both sides and one of the most interesting games played in this vicinity for some time. The catching of Das. Mercer for the Markdales and the playing of G. McTavish for Flesherton are spoken of as something worthy of special mention.

A young man named Albert Armstrong, who had been working at Meaford but whose home is in Dundalk, took ill last week and was driven over by a friend. When about two miles from Flesherton Armstrong went into some sort of a fit, becoming unconscious. He was taken to the Park House and Dr. Carter summoned. The young man remained unconscious from Thursday night until Sunday morning, when he recovered his speech, His father was with him here and took him home Sunday morning. We believe he is recovering.

According to present indications another drawing event is to be added to the quarter's worth in the line of sport on Friday, in the addition of a five-mile running race between Hardy Patton and Ted Elvidge of Durham. Both are good men and have lots of backing. The odds point to Patton, and we believe there is an amount of Dundalk money talking Patton against anything Durham or any other point in this neighborhood can put up. In the event of Elvidge not running, McNulty of Swinton Park may be induced to enter. Chances are good for a fast five-mile race with Patton as one of the starters, at least.

The other day a young man died from the effects of shouting at a baseball match. All members and friends of the Flesherton bunch should take warning.

Norris Bros. are rushing the sales of the "Reliance" gasoline lighting system In Durham they installed a system of five lights of 600 c.p. each on the bowling green the Durhamites will, no doubt, become proficient in the noble art of bowling. Durham has appreciated the new system the more as a result of poor electric lights, and a number of the gasoline systems have been installed in various.

Upon the recommendation of Hon. Frank Cochrane, acting Minister of Public Works, an order in Council has been passed prohibiting the hunting, taking or killing of ruffled grouse or partridge for one year from September 15th, 1909. Another order in council is published under which bona fide settlers in the unorganized portions of the province, are given the privilege of killing two deer for their own use during the regular open season only.

J. C. Dunsmoor, a respected resident of Durham, was the first victim to the deadly railway crossings on the Walkerton branch of the C. P. R. Mr. Dunsmoor was killed at a crossing just west of Durham by a cement train. One of the horses was instantly killed and the other so badly injured that it had to be shot. Mr. Dunsmoor was also instantly killed. The deceased gentleman was one of the best known of Durham's citizens, having lived in and around Durham for the past sixty years. Born near Hamilton sixty-eight years ago, he came with his parents to Rocky Saugeen when eight years of age, where they owned and operated a grist mill for a number of years. When about thirty years of age, he came to Durham and followed the occupation of framer and bridge builder for about ten ten years, when he moved to the farm at lot 54, concession 2, N. D. R., Bentinck, now occupied by his son Campbell. Here he remained for about twenty-four years, and two years ago retired from active life and took up his residence in Upper Town, where he lived up to the time of his death. Besides a widow, he leaves a family of two daughters and six sons. The coroner's jury placed the blame on the C. P. R. owing to the unsafe condition of the crossing, but the engineer was exonerated.

Orangeville, Aug. 19.—C. P. R. specials from Owen Sound and Teeswater branches, with harvesters from these places and intermediate points, with the special from here, made up into one train of about twenty-three coaches, conveying nearly two thousand harvesters, many with their wives and children, left here with one engine for the west at 2 p. m.

At the Caledon Horse Shoe Curve the last car left the tracks. The train was divided, the first section proceeding to Mono Road and the engine returning for the remaining coaches. The train left several hours later for the west. No one was injured. It is believed the rails are not heavy enough for the large moguls used on this line, as accidents have been numerous. The harvesters are mostly capable young men. The train negotiated the curve cautiously at about eight miles an hour,

Shelburne.

W. H. Lemon, who lives west of Shelburne, met with an accident on Monday last. He was engaged pulling stumps and had part of the first finger of the left hand cut off with a chain.

Constable Thompson met with a serious and painful accident on Thursday morning last, by which he may lose a portion of the index finger of his right hand. He had tightened a belt on the gasoline engine at the waterworks and was putting it on the pulley when his finger was caught and got crushed and twisted in such a manner that amputation may be necessary.

During the thunderstorm on Monday afternoon last, lightning struck the west end of the barn of Hunter Jessop, lot 22, Centre Road, Mono. The lightning tore the rafters from the roof and ran down the door jamb tearing it away, but fortunately it did not set the building on fire. It was about one o'clock and two of Mr. Jessop's sons were standing at the barn door a few minutes before the building was struck, the rain drove them to a nearby window. They were both rendered unconscious, and it was several minutes before one of them was able to get up and go to the house, and the other did not regain consciousness till some time afterwards. Dr. White of Shelburne was called to see them, and he thinks the young men will be all right again in a short time.—Free Press.

The enemies of local option in Owen Sound are still trying to knock out the law now in force there. Tuesday's Star says: Acting for W. H. Sinclair of Owen Sound, J. B. Mackenzie will ask at Osgoode Hall for a declaration that the bylaw to repeal the local option bylaw in Owen Sound was not submitted on valid grounds, and also for a declaration that the local option bylaw itself was not valid because it was submitted on a public holiday. Such a ground would not hold under the present Act, but Mr. McKenzie says that the present Act was not in force at the time the local option vote was taken in Owen Sound. As to the bylaw repealing local option, it was defeated and local option continued, hence Mr. Sinclair's present action, which is to begin in the form of a writ.

James Livingston of Grimsby haas sold his apple crop for $12,000.

The latest freak is a man who is going to cross the English channel on a plank from Dover to Calais.

The labor situation in Manitoba is causing the government officials deep concern. Fourteen thousand men are needed in that Province. A telegram from Waskada said that thousands of acres of unstooked sheaves were to be seen.
