The following item is from the Hawkestone correspondence to the Orillia Times of recent date: Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Reid and family left on Wednesday for their new home at Arkell. Mr. Reid, who has been principal of the public school here during the last three years, has managed the same with extra good results, and all were very much disappointed when Mr. Reid resigned. The family is certainly a loss to our village, being very much liked and respected. We wish them every success in Arkell, where Mr Reid takes up similar duties.

Dr. Airth of Chatsworth met with a severe crossing accident Monday evening when returning from a visit to a patient. The night express came along as he was approaching a crossing when his horse became unmanageable and bolted on to the track in front of the train. The horse had not been found at time of writing, Tuesday a.m.

It costs far more money to-day to run a country newspaper than it did twenty or even ten years ago, and close collections of the multitude of small subscription accounts becomes an absolute necessity. To allow subscriptions to run into arrears merely adds to the perplexities and worries of the publisher and makes collections more difficult as well. How much easier it is, for instance, to pay the one dollar in advance than to whack up several dollars arrears?—Burks Falls Arrow.

Mr. Will Orr, of the Toronto line, recounts a very peculiar find that he made the other day, while cutting wood in the bush. A tree had been felled which contained one large limb, probably eigh or nine inches in diameter. This limb was hollow at the top end, or point. Mr. Orr cut this limb up for wood. After he had made four or five cuts and before arriving at the hollow part he split one of the logs open, when an egg dropped out. The egg was the size of a small hen's egg and bore every appearance of age. Around where it lay the wood was decayed but there was no hollow. He has the piece of wood and egg to prove his statement if necessary. We pass the conundrum on to our readers for solution.

With the Churches

Since Rev. L. F. Kipp resigned the Baptist congregation has been reorganizing its appointments here. At present the churches and missions are six in number. At a meeting held here Friday evening, it was decided to enlarge the Flesherton organization, admitting representatives from the two larger missions, Rockvale and Ceylon. A deaconate was elected, consisting of M. Phillips, T. Chislett and T. Whitten. A Board of Management was elected, composed of M. Phillips, T. Phillips, R. Akitt, and Mrs. A. Blackburn, representing Rockvale; T. Whitten, R. Allen and Mrs. A. Wilson, Flesherton; and T. Chislett, S. Hemphill and Miss M. Cook, representing Ceylon.

Mr. White was stationed at Eugenia a few years ago where he formed many warm friendships both there and in Flesherton. Rev. Wellwood took Mr. White's work at Laurel, preaching anniversary sermons there.

Morris will speak.

Rev. J. W. Penman, late of Lions Head, preached in the Presbyterian church here on Sabbath last. His able sermon was from the text: John 1-19. Many people expressed their appreciation of the sermon.

Rev. A. Thompson B. D., of Palmerston will supply the Presbyterian pulpit the next two Sabbaths.

Foster—Fawcett

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Sept 15th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fawcett, Heathcote, when their daughter, Margaret Lauretta, of Tara, became the wife of Mr. T. Percival Foster, also of Tara, Rev. Geo. Lawrence performing the ceremony.

At eleven o'clock, to the soft strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Mabel Foster, sister of the groom, the bride entered the verandah, which was prettily decorated for the occasion, leaning on the arm of her father.

They were unattended. After the words had been spoken that made them man and wife, and best wishes had been extended, about seventy guests sat down to the wedding dinner on the lawn. The decorations were red and white flowers. After the usual toasts had been given the bride changed her wedding dress for her travelling suit.

She was gowned in white silk mull, trimmed with tucked net and silk and chiffon insertion, and carried a boquet of white roses and ferns. Her travelling suit was navy blue chiffon broadcloth, with net waist, and hat to match the suit. The groom's gift to the bride was a fur-lined coat with mink trimmings, and to his sister, who played the wedding march, a whole pearl ring.

The young couple took the afternoon train from Thornbury for Toronto and Collingwood amidst showers of confetti, and good wishes from friends who accompanied them to the station.

Many friends of the bride, who had not been invited, remembered her with pretty and useful gifts. She was very popular among the young people when she lived in Flesherton, and a large circle of friends join The Advance in wishing the young couple bon voyage through life.

They will be at home to their friends in Tara after November 1st.

The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.
