East Grey Fall Fair

East Grey Fall Fair has come and gone again and can be classed as a success in many ways, although a large attendance was prevented by rain on both days. In the hall all departments were well filled, with notable improvements in roots and vegetables, butter and grain, over last year, and the ladies showed a magnificent lot of beautiful work. The competition in drawing among the school children was keen and some excellent work shown. Fruit was of extra choice quality and in great variety. Flowers and plants were plentiful, although some of the largest exhibitors in these lines of past years were not present.

The outside exhibit of horses, cattle and sheep was fully up to former years, while pigs were not numerous

The poultry department was the only section that showed a decided falling off from last year, although some very fine birds were shown. It is a pity, too, that more interest is not taken in this line as poultry is becoming one of the most valuable assets of the farm and more attention is being paid to it every year. The directors have for years provided an expert judge in Mr. Harry Wright of Owen Sound, who turned thefeathers over again this year, and whose judgemment is seldom, if ever, questioned.

In the team of roadsters class the judge was compelled to hand out to M. Bolger of Dundalk a raw deal, as a result of the conditions imposed, which were, "pair of roadsters in harness, geldings or mares, judged for value, action and appearance, and usefulness for roadster purposes." The judge advised the directors to drop the last clause. As Mr. Bolger's team were pacers they had not the same usefulness for roadster purposes that the trotters had, though they were much the better team.

There was not a great deal "doing" in the line of sports, but the third of a mile foot race was rather exciting. There were seven starters in this event. Ted Vickers of Durham won the race without any trouble. Vickers is a good sport and "some runner," and though his favorite race is five or ten miles, yet he won the third of a mile and 100 yard races.

The only special attraction was a moving picture show, which was all very well in its way, but the films were of a highly sensational class—the usual run of train robbery, etc., also a film showing a faked up scene where Thaw shoots White on a roof garden in New York, certainly not a desirable thing for children to gaze upon. There was also on the grounds the inevitable cigar-doll man with his rank cigars

The gate receipts were low, only some $136, but the directors are thankful for even that when the weather is taken into consideration, and hope to pull out even when everything is summed up.

Compared with some of the shows in larger towns, by men who have attended them, ours of this year shows up ahead, and everyone was united in pronouncing it a good all-round show, and better than the average.

The concert at night drew a large crowd who thoroughly enjoyed the program. Harvey and Kenny, as we predicted, proved a great success as a drawing card, and the local numbers were also highly appreciated. This latter consisted of a piano solo by Miss Mabel Boyd, a piano duet by little Misses Gladys Cornfield and Maude Boyd, selections by the band, and a pretty little dance by Master Laurie and Miss Lulu Pedlar, accompanied on the violin by their father, Mr. Sam. Pedlar. These little tots (twins, by the way) gave a very attractive number. For genuine, side-splitting fun, sense and nonsense, humor and pathos all in one "sitting" Harvey and Kenny are "it." Mr. Kenney's impersonation of Dickens' characters in Nicholas Nickolby was certainly what might be called a redeeming feature, and balanced up the program to perfection. His portrayal of the villanous Squeers was thrilling, as also was Nickolby's denunciation of the cruel master. As a reader Mr. Kenney takes high place with a Flesherton audience, while for innocent humor Mr. Harvey has no peer. The proceeds of the concert amounted to $107

The official returns of the day are as follows: gate, $136.70; concert, $107.95; booths, $24; entry fees, $3.50, which totals $272.05. With this, the government grant and the membership fees, the directors think they will meet expenditures.

Kipp of near Woodstock and was born and brought up on the farm at Gobles, Ont. He joined the Baptist church there in 1893 as a result of revival services under the pastor, Rev. R. M. Cunningham. He entered Woodstock college September of 1894 and graduated in 1897, afterwards attending McMaster University from 1898 to 1901, graduating with the degree of B. A., after which he did work as a student pastor at Belle Ewart, St. Thomas and Gravenhurst. He was ordained at the latter place in 1903, and since that time has held pastorates at Strathavon, 1903-1906; and Flesherton from September, 1906, to the present time. Mr. Kipp has been Clerk of the Owen Sound Association for the past five years.

During the pastorate here there have been 33 baptisms, besides additions by letter and experience, and at the present time the membership is the largest in the history of the church here, and the congregations have been largely increased at Flesherton, Priceville and Ceylon.
