A citizen of Flesherton tells a good joke on himself. He received a box from Toronto in which was some fine packing that he decided was a nice grade of bran. Being frugal he administered a dose to his pigs and mixed up another for the hens. The hens scratched it all out of the dish but refused to eat, and the pigs simply turned up their noses and their tails to the trough. Close inspection proved the bran to be common sawdust with a few buckwheat and oat hulls among it.

With the Churches

Anniversary sermons were preached in the Methodist church on Sunday by Rev. J. T. C. Morris of Scrope street Methodist church, Owen Sound. Large congregations greeted Mr. Morris both morning and evening, who listened to two powerful sermons by the Rev. gentleman. Mr. Morris is a speaker of much strength. His clear cut, crisp sentences, simple yet incisive language, held the acute attention of his audience at both services. He is also a speaker of much originality of expression and keen reasoning, and his sermons were very highly appreciated by those who were so fortunate as to hear him. We hope to have him with us again at some future time. The church was lavishly decorated with flowers, fruit, autumn leaves and wild clematis.

Rev. H. E. Wellwood conducted Rally Day services in the First Methodist church, Owen Sound, on Sunday last.

A unique gathering of its kind was held in the Methodist church on Monday evening when a circuit rally was held. The inclement weather kept a number from the outlying points from attending, but such as turned out enjoyed a pleasant evening. The heads of the various departments spoke, and showed the churches to be in a thriving condition. The speakers agreed the proper mode of raising money was that employed this year—a free will offering and then, if necessary, a free tea-meeting. Rev. Mr. Thompsom was present and gave a short address on "Our Heritage." Rev. L. F. Kipp gave an interesting address. A novel feature was a history of the church here, given by Mr. Clayton. Mr. C. is among the last of the pioneers and can relate many interesting incidents of the early life in this town. Space forbids an extended reproduction of Mr. Clayton's most interesting historical sketch, which, however, we may publish at some future date.

Rev. A Thompson, B.D., of Palmerston, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, and will also preach on Sabbath next. Mr. Thompson's sermon was highly spoken of by those who heard him.

On Tuesday evening the Baptist Sunday school rally of eight of the surrounding schools, including Durham, was held in the church here. Rev. B. W. Merrill, B. A., General Superintendent, was the speaker. He gave a most inspiring and interesting address on Sunday school work, and later conducted a conference. Mr. Merrill is most happily fitted for these duties. He has command of a ready flow of logical argument, and appears to never be staggered by any question on the work that may be fired at him. To those who were present it was a time of much profit, and should have marked effect on the future work. Mr. Merrill was here some three years ago, and to the memory of this is due a portion of the good attendance we are assured.

On Saturday afternoon Thomas Flewelling of West Luther was the victim of an accident which might have been attended with much more serious results. With a team on the horse rake he was raking, when the tongue pulled out of the neck yoke. The team became frightened and in attempting to run away, threw their driver under the rake. He was drawn a considerable distance receiving some very severe bruises, and a bad cut on the head, in which several stitches were put. Although badly shaken up, he is doing as well as can be expected for a man of his advanced years.

A peculiar accident happened to Arch. McKillop and James Clark on Friday of last week. They were working on the top of a large whey tank at the cheese factory when the lid gave way under their combined weight, and they were submerged in about seven feet of the thick liquid. Being unable to extricate themselves, there was a possibility of their being drowned in the whey, had not help been at hand to respond to their lusty calls for assistance. As it was, they presented a sorry spectacle when fished out.—Harriston Review.

District League and Sunday School Convention

The Convention of the Epworth Leagues and Sunday Schools of Owen Sound District opened in the Methodist church, Dundalk on Tuesday morning.

The first session was a devotional character and was attended by the ministers and delegates from the various Methodist congregations of the district.

In the afternoon the financial district meeting took place. This was followed at three o'clock by devotional exercises ley by Rev. Dr. Caldwell, of Owen Sound. Miss Flossie Thurston gave an excellent paper on "Junior League Work" in which the qualifications of the Superintendent were defined. The responsibility resting upon those who attempt to lead the boys and girls is very great, beginning of course with the mother in the home. The various ways of interesting the boys and girls in the Bible and holding their attention when other things are so apt to detract was dwelt on at some length and many practical and helpful ideas brought out. Thorough knowledge of the Bible and systematic tact in dealing with the little folks were essentials in the Superintendent's work. The discussion which followed this excellent paper also brought out many valuable points on Junior League work in its different branches.

Rev. H. E. Wellwood, of Flesherton, gave an address on "Some Defects in our Present Sunday School System." The question required a critical survey of the work from various sides and the subject was ably handled in a strong and forcible address. Defects were not misfortunes which were beyond remedy. Lack of interest in the school by pastor or parents were very serious defects. Pastors generally have their work cut out for them on Sunday and attendance at the school is out of the question but the interested pastor though absent knows what his school is doing. The disinterested attitude of parents and the home life as well as unfaithful teachers and officers present obstacles to Sunday school work. The speaker mentioned several helps such as the family altar, the home department, adult bible class, equipment in the way of black-board, maps, pictures and teachers' reference library. In Sunday School work we need the very best. "I believe the golden age of the Sunday school is before us—the new evangelism will be through the Sunday school" were the speaker's closing words.

The evening session was attended by a large audience. The opening exercises consisted of a service of song led by the choir of the church who also rendered several anthems. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, of Euphrasia, District League President, occupied the chair. Rev. J. T. C. Morris, of Owen Sound, who was to have given an address was prevented by an accident on Saturday from being present. His place on the programme was taken by Rev. Kennith Beaton, of Toronto, a leader in league and missionary work, who gave a most inspiring address along league lines. Mr. Beaton is a young man of large ideas, splendid ability and marked enthusiasm in christain work.—Herald.

At the afternoon session on Wednesday the following officers were appointed: President, Rev. J. R. Wilkinson, Euphrasia; 1st V.P., Mr. W. Leavens, Owen Sound; 2nd V.P., Miss Sprung, Markdale; 3rd V.P., Miss Eva Rundle, Dundalk; 4th V.P., Miss J. Murdock, Markdale; 5th V.P., Miss Flossie Thurston, Flesherton; Sec.-Treas., Miss Nettie Dench, Owen Sound.

While unloading flour in the hold of the C. P. R. liner Keewatin at Owen Sound, a sling broke when hoisting a a load of ten bags. William Cornwall, aged 55, who was known as the hooker-on in the stevedore's hatch gang, was immediately under the falling bags, which weighed half a ton. He sustained a fractured leg and serious internal injuries. He was hurried to the hospital in the ambulance, but it is not anticipated that he will recover. Cornwall has worked in the C. P. R. through freight gang for over ten years. He has no relatives in Owen Sound. It is supposed that he came from King township.

Five young men appeared before Police Magistrate Rutherford, Monday morning on the charge of disturbing the peace, consequent upon the midnight racket dished up early last week by a bunch of fellows who kroke into the band room and abstracted instruments therefrom with which to make unholy, barbarous and discordant noises on Main street. The case against three of them was proven and a fine of $3 and costs imposed. The other two got off.—Shelburne Economist.

During the windstorm yesterday forenoon, a portion of the third storey wall of the Spiesz Furniture Co's factory was blown over. During the past summer a funeral procession going along the Queensville flats to the cemetery was met by an auto car from Toronto. The chauffeur was motioned to by several people to halt or turn aside, but this he refused to do until the whole procession was thrown into confusion, endangering the lives of many people. Information was entered against the owner, J. Y, Eaton of Toronto, and he was mulcted in a fine of $40 and costs, amounting in all to something over $103. People who ride in these fine cars needn't think they own the road.—Newmarket Era.

During the past summer the trustees of S. S. No. 5, W. Garafraxa, advertised for a teacher. From the applications received they accepted that of Miss Curry of Collingwood, who took charge at the close of the vacation. A short time ago Inspector Craig called at the school and discovered that Miss Curry was without either normal or model school certificate, and was therefore unqualified to hold her position. The school has since then been closed and the trustees are endeavoring to secure a successor who can hold down the job.

Donald McPhail, about 75 years of age, and one of Bruce township's pioneers, was burned to death in his home near Underwood on Monday week. As he lived alone the cause of the fire is unknown, the house having been burnt to the ground. The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary.—Post.
