HE SUFFERED AGONY IN WET WEATHER

Rheumatism Attacked Limbs and Body

He had been bothered with rheumatism for years. The pain in wet weather—to use his own expression — was "indescribable." But all that is gone now—thanks to Kruschen. Read this letter:—

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. I dreaded wet weather, for during such periods the pain was continuous and indescribable. To begin with, it was confined to my limbs, but in time I began to suffer as much agony in my body as I did in my limbs. When I began to take Kruschen Salts, I found it did me more good than all the other medicine I had taken put together. Today, I have peace and freedom from pain, even during wet weather, and can heartily recommend Kruschen Salts to anyone who suffers from rheumatism."—N.M.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients in Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients in these Salts assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

HAVE YOU HEARD

Spring Music!

If you like opera, that's your dish,
Here's hoping that you get your wish;
But as for me, now that it's spring,
I'll listen while the bullfrogs sing.

He appreached the judge with all kinds of politeness. He wanted a favor done. The judge asked what it was.

"Your Honor, I'd like to get out of jury duty."

Judge—"Why?"

Man—"I can only hear with one ear."

Judge (smiling and patting him on the back)—"It's all right. We only hear one side of the case at a time."

READ IT OR NOT—A $4 turkey recently flew through a $70 plate glass window in Grandfield, Oklahoma.

Host—"Those are my grandmother's ashes over there."

Guest—"Oh, so the poor old soul has passed on."

Host.—"No. She is just too lazy to look for an ash tray."

Then there is the yarn about the hill-billy who was so dumb he didn't know the difference between a squirrel and a hair brush. The only way he could tell which was which was to place them both under a tree and see which one climbed it.

An inspector was examining a class in geography, and, addressing a small boy, he asked:

Inspector—"Now, sonny, would it be possible for your father to walk around the earth?"

Small Boy—"No, sir!"

Inspector—"Why not?"

Small Boy—"Because he fell down and hurt his leg yesterday."

If you are a golfer, don't overwork your golf vocabulary.

Dear Old Aunt—"Did you have a good time, Gilbert?"

Gilbert—"No. The seventh tee was sloppy and all the greens were in a terrible state."

Dear Old Aunt (shuddering)—"You musn't lunch there any more, Gilbert. You know how easily you get indigestion."

One of our grocerymen had a lot of explaining to do this week. A lady walked into his store and asked for some spuds. The groceryman handed her a package of cigarettes. The lady happened to be a devout W.C.T.U. member and the poor groceryman is not sure yet whether his explanation was all right or whether he lost a customer.

The successful man is one who keeps his feet on the ground at all times, but who is never afraid to look up and ahead . . . . Our immediate task is to do the work at hand the best we can . . . . But we should still find time to dream of the plan for tomorrow.

"I am the Wind"

I am the wind that wavers,
  You are the certain land;
I am the shadow that passes
  Over the sand.

I am the leaf that quivers,
  You the unknown tree;
You are the stars that are steadfast,
  I am the sea.

You are the light eternal,
  Like a torch I shall die . . .
You are the surge of deep music,
  I—but the cry!

Describes Spanish Refugee Children

Writer Tells of Little Victims of Spanish Conflict—Finding Them Foster-Parents

Langdon Davies, British newspaperman and writer, who organized a camp of 300 refugee children in Spain, was in Montreal last week, the Montreal Star reports. The children are of all ages. Some are ragged, some well-clothed. Some are ill, but most are in excellent health.

Ages ago in the Spanish conflict Langdon Davies, as a member of the Duchess of Athol's Refugee Committee, organized the Children's Village of Peuigcerda on the French border.

Parents Are Dead

"There they are, 300 of them," he said. "They are all refugees from those parts of Spain which are now held by General Franco. All have lost their parents. In some cases the parents are dead, in others they have been separated from the children.

"Well—" he continued, "we teach them and look after them with a small staff of helpers. We try to arrange foster parents for them in other countries."

"To a Spanish child family is tremendously important. And the knowledge that they have an adopted family in some other country helps to brace those who have lost their own people."

Now There Is Discipline

Langdon Davies was a news correspondent in the early days of the Spanish Civil War. He was in Toledo at the time the Alcazar was being vainly besieged by Loyalists. He was in Barcelona during Anarchist outbreaks and during the first of the terrorist bombings by Fascist 'planes.

"The great difference between the Loyalist side of today and that of 1936 when the revolt first broke out, is that there is perfect order and discipline with the Loyalists now," he said. "In the early months it was just chaos."

Four Million Jobs Lost in Depression

Recession of Past Four Months Made Heavy Inroads on Employment In United States

WASHINGTON.—The business recession has taken a total of 4,300,000 jobs in the United States during the last four months, Federal economists estimated, bringing the nation's unemployed to a total of about 10,450,000.

That total, based on a revision of figures prepared for President Roosevelt's committee on economic security, is the highest in three years.

After reaching a peak of 16,071,000 in March, 1933, unemployed in the United States dwindled to a minimum of 6,132,000 in July, 1937.

In October, the jobless numbered 6,145,000, jumping to 7,177,000 in November, 8,080,000, in December, and 10,181,000 in January.

The Federal statisticians expect the coming of Spring weather will stimulate seasonal outdoor work sufficiently to offset any new increases in industrial unemployment in the next few months.

Bullets Open Oil Channels

Drilling oil wells by shooting bullets into the ground is a new process for mining oil pools. It has been developed in order to reach beyond areas tapped by ordinary drilling methods, creating small lateral shafts, like the horizontal shafts that branch out from the main vertical shaft in ordinary mines.

The lateral shafts in the oil sands are made by lowering a gun down the well to the desired distance and discharging a bullet through the metal casing, or pipe, that lines the well. When wells are drilled they frequently pass through oil bearing sands but are driven further to reach larger pools. When the deeper pools are exhausted the pools at the higher levels which the well passed through would be lost unless another well was drilled at heavy expense.

Since careful records are kept of everything through which a well passes, it is known at what levels the oil sands exist. By lowering a gun into the well and shooting holes in the casing a channel is made by which the oil can flow into the well. The gun is about ten feet long and has fifteen barrels through each of which a bullet is discharged.

CROOK SAMARITAN

An American burglar was told that his victim had a weak heart. He put down his gun, gave the invalid a massage, then asked where the money was and went off with the loot.

Along Canada's Mining Highway

The Golden Gate mine, originally known as the Lucky Cross property, located at Swastika a few miles to the west of the Kirkland Lake camp, is reported to be developing important ore in high-grade and low-grade veins in underground work. Mill construction is well advanced.

Tovarich Larder Gold Mines is a new incorporation covering properties to the west of Omega and bordering on the town of Larder Lake. After years of effort, numerous small owners have been brought together. Hollinger Gold Mines at one time tried to negotiate a satisfactory deal on part of the consolidation.

Cheminis Gold Mines has obtained good grade ore over substantial widths in its deep drilling campaign.

Barber Larder shaft is down over one hundred feet. Next month should bring reports on first underground ore developments. Kerr Addison mill construction is rapidly nearing completion.

O'Brien Mines in Cadillac Township, Quebec, reports excellent depth results.

Lacoma Gold mines in Tavernier Township continues to obtain favourable results in its extension drilling. A mining plant capable of deepening the shaft from the present 250 foot level to depth and to allow for aggressive underground development will be installed shortly.

GARDENING

Spread Plantings

Most people realize that all vegetables deteriorate in storage. The early potatoes are always tastier than those coming out of frosty cellars this month. The former taste better because they are not ripe. To get this quality in all vegetables experienced gardeners spread their seeding season over a period of weeks. They realize that vegetables deteriorate in the garden just as they do in storage and so they always have a few feet of lettuce and a row or two of spinach, corn, beets and practically everything else coming on rather than the whole gardening maturing at one time.

To have a succession of really tender vegetables, one is advised to make at least three sowings from the one packet, at intervals of from ten days to two weeks, and to still further extend the season by using early, medium and late varieties. For instance, by using leaf lettuce for the early crops, head lettuce for June and July and again in the Fall, and Cos lettuce for the very hot weather, a fresh, tender supply of this salad material is available all season.

Change

There are some people who are afraid to make a change once a garden or home is laid out. But with most plants a shift is not only perfectly feasible but is good for the plants themselves. This does not mean that permanent trees and shrubbery should be dug up and replanted each spring, but with many of the perennials and annuals only confusion, over-crowding and deteriorating growth will result from too long residence in one spot. True, there are certain species which do better in one location than another. Some flowers must have full sun, and other partial shade. Any seed catalogue will list these different tastes. But there are usually a score or more which have these special preferences and one may be used one season and one another.

Sesame seed, also known as "til", "gingelly", and "benniseed", is an important source of edible oil in the countries of production, where it is also used as an article of food. India and China account for more than nine-tenths of the world production of sesame seed, other minor producers being the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Turkey, Mexico, Greece and the Soviet Union. A small quantity of sesame seed oil is imported by Canada for industrial purposes.

8 MONTHS VICTIM OF RHEUMATIC ACHES

Now back at work again

No one with a spark of human sympathy could fail to be touched by the experience of this victim of rheumatic pains who had spent months in hospital. He had tried various remedies without result until . . . But read his own words.

"I had Rheumatism so bad, I was as helpless as a child. Then my wife suggested Fynnon Salt. I am on my third package and believe me the relief I received in the first week was surprising and now I am back at work again. I was told I should not be able to follow my regular employment, only a light job, but there I am back at my work, just as if it had not happened."

After an experience like that to inspire them, Rheumatic Sufferers can turn with confidence to Fynnon Salt. What Fynnon Salt did for this sufferer it should do for you. Fynnon Salt works because it combines many natural salts of the earth. Take a dose every day, and you will soon be singing the praises of this famous British remedy. 75c a large package at your druggist's. Black Phosphorus Can Be Produced

A new kind of black phosphorus, produced from the white kind at high temperatures and pressures, is reported by Dr. Robert B. Jacobs, of Harvard University. Another kind of black phosphorus was obtained some time ago by Dr. P. W. Bridgeman, of Harvard, by the use of high pressures. Dr. Jacobs also reports a violet variety of the element. This makes phosphorus the most versatile of the elemental substances because in addition to the two black and the violet there are the white; yellow and red varieties.
