VICINITY CHIPS

Jas. Patton of Toronto has returned home.

Chas. Buchanan of Vandeleur is attending the high school here.

Miss Vida Rundle of Dundalk spent Sunday with young lady friends here.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, on Friday, November 26th, a daughter.

Mr. James White, who has spent the summer at Port Arthur, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart and little son, of St. Paul, Ont., are visiting with relatives here.

Mrs. Stewart, who has been waiting on her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Williams, at Eugenia, has returned home.

The last sailings of the local boats on the lakes took place last week. The C. P. R. beats are still running.

Emerson Adams, of Foreman Welton's telephone gang, was home last week after his sleighs. They will not be of much service at present.

Mr. M. K. Richardson has been appointed arbitrator by the County Council in the matter of a bridge constructed on the county line between Grey and Bruce.

We understand that a Markdale gentleman who had three beaver skins in his possession was brought up before Magistrate Harness one day last week and fined $20 and costs. The skins were confiscated.

Mr. R. G. Holland of Woodbridge has been engaged for the senior department of Flesherton public school for next year, and Miss M. E. Switzer of Dornoch for the primary. Mr. Holland is a man of family and has rented the residence lately occupied by Mrs. Corbett.

Mr. Arch. Boyd received a painful injury in a peculiar manner one day recently. When breaking a piece of board with his foot one end of the board, which contained a long nail flew up and the nail penetrated his leg to the bone. A doctors services were required and the injury still bothers him.

Gibson—McClung—At Markdale, on Wednesday, Nov. 17, by Rev. Mr. Young, John H. Gibson of Flesherton to Miss Emma Elizabeth McClung, daughter of Mr. Wm. McClung of Kimberley. Miss Mina Fawcett of Kimberley acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Robert Croft of Osprey assisted the groom. The young people have taken up their residence in Flesherton.

A sad case of accidental poisoning is reported from Rocklyn, resulting in the death of the three-year-old son of Dr. R. G. Williams. The little fellow was warned against touching a bottle of disinfectant, and the doctor went to an adjoining room. When he returned he found that the boy had taken the bottle, and drank a considerable amount of the contents. The poison was so strong that medical aid could not counteract it, and in a short time the child was dead.

In their wisdom the County Council has seen fit to withdraw the township of Artemesia from School Inspector Campbell's inspectorate and add it to East Grey, which is looked after by Mr. Huff. Had this township been consulted in the matter there would have been a strenuous kick, but it had nothing to say. The change was made with a view to evening up the work in the various inspectorates. There is general regret expressed at Mr. Campbell's withdrawal from this portion of the vineyard.

Business at the station was held up one afternoon last week in a rather unpleasant manner for Agent Rand. That gentleman loaned the station keys to a Eugenia man who wanted to put freight in the shed. After the stuff had been shut up the shipper thoughtlessly put the keys in his pocket and started for home. Agent Rand got the telephone going and the keys were recovered here and returned to the station. For the time being business was at a standstill at the station, as everything was locked up.

Mr. Will Somers, who has been teller of the Standard bank here for the past two years, and employed in the bank for six years, has been removed by the management to the Dublin branch near Seaforth. His successor here is a Mr. Patrick of Parkhill. Mr. Somers' personal qualities have made him a general favorite in town and the citizens generally regret his departure, but as it is in the nature of a promotion we can only offer congratulations.

Hugh McLean, a farmer living on the 4th of Collingwood, fell through a scaffolding on Friday last and died Monday without regaining consciousness.

Flitting Days.

Last week was a "moving" week, and a directory is almost a necessity to find the location of many families now.

R. H. Wright and family have moved to the residence vacated by F. A. Tucker. Mr. Wright has improved the grounds in front of the house, by raising them to a level with the sidewalk.

Will Fields has moved to the house vacated by R. H. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus occupy the residence vacated by Mrs. Davidson, who has joined her husband at Guelph.

John Thistlethwaite and family have taken up their residence with Alf Thistlethwaite and Mrs. Corbett has bought the Christoe residence from Mr. Buskin and will occupy it shortly.

News of The Women's Institute

An Advance reporter had the pleasure of a visit at the November meeting of the Kimberley Women's Institute at Mrs. W. S. Bishop's last week. Needless to say, he enjoyed himself immensely—only one man in the midst of a number of ladies. He had heard rumors of the Institute being a place to exchange gossip, but there was none of that. Mrs. G. H. Walter gave an excellent paper on "How we can help our members to have a merry Christmas." The paper and the subsequent discussion brought out some helpful thoughts. It was regretted that several members who were to have given other papers were unable to be present. The light lunch prepared by the hostess, Mrs. Bishop, was a most happy feature.

The Flesherton Women's Institute held a fowl supper on Wednesday evening of last week. The ladies went into it with such energy that it could not fail to be a success. The receipts were $45, and the expenses $20, so that the members feel well repaid. The program in the town hall was enjoyed by a good crowd. The Ceylon String Band gave a number of selections that brought the house down, feet and all. Miss Mabel Boyd sang a solo, and A. S. Thurston gave a trombone solo. A litttle dialogue in rhyme by R. N. Cornfield and Marguerite Runstadtler was a decidedly taking affair, and entirely in keeping with the event, for did not the woman get the last word? A dialogue, "An Interrupted proposal" by a number of young folks, was well acted and amusing. Rev. Mr. Wellwood gave a speech as also did M. K. Richardson who was chairman.

A Rare Musical Treat

A musical treat of rare excellence was the concert given in the town hall by Miss Freeman, vocal teacher, on Monday evening, assisted by her sister, Miss Wilda Freeman, the Misses Mitchell, all of Chatsworth, and Mr. Turner of Owen Sound. The audience, while attentive and enthusiastic, was not of an inspiring nature when numbers are considered, still the performers gave us of their best—at least if they can do anything better we would like to hear it. We believe the occasion was unique here; and an entire program of music, vocal and instrumental, is something we are are not used to, yet there was nothing tedious or tiring in the two hours devoted to the entertainment. Miss Freeman has a sweet voice of fair calibre and under excellent control, while her sister can manipulate the piano in a way that brings forth expressions of astonishment. As we heard one musical critic say, "She can jest paw the piano any old way and music comes out." To put it better, she is the most finished and expert pianist ever heard here. She gave two difficult selections from Liszt, and was assisted by Miss Freeman in two piano duets that were very highly spoken of by competent critics. Mr. Turner on his 'cello was a rare treat, this instrument seldom having been heard in Flesherton, and certainly never with the powerful touch and tone of this performer whose wide experience and practice has made him a wonderful master of the instrument, the possibilities of which are fully brought out under his delicate touch. The Misses Mitchell of Chatsworth also made a strong and acceptable addition to the vocal portion of the program, the quartet of young ladies giving us both something new and some of the old favorites as well. Their "Come where the lilies bloom" was exceedingly fine. These talented young women are certainly an honour to their home town, and we would be delighted to hear them again, when we fancy they would receive a reception of a much more remunerative nature than on the present occasion. This was one occasion where the reality exceeded by long odds the anticipation, and those who missed hearing it lost an opportunity of rare p'easure.

Feversham

While the good sleighing lasted the business people were kept busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davidson have returned to their home in Collingwood, after an extended visit to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Conron.

Fred and Harold Karstedt of Flesherton paid a flying visit to Feversham, Friday evening.

Mr. Jack Adair is on the sick list at present. Hope he will soon be around again.

Mr. Ben Brackenbury has completed his new butcher shop, which is very nice indeed, and has moved into it.

Norris Bros. were in town on Friday repairing the furnace in the school house.

Mr. Eli Robinson has completed his new residence which is up-to-date in every particular, and he is now moving into it.

Quite a number of people were here to attend the Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Brown which is mentioned elsewhere in this paper.

Miss Tena Priestly of Maxwell is visiting friends here at present.

Rev. Mr. Smith of Toronto preached a very interesting sermon on Sunday morning. His text was taken from the 23rd Psalm. He will also preach next Sunday afternoon.

There was not as many out to Salvation Army Sunday evening as usual on account of bad roads.

EDITOR OF FLESHERTON ADVANCE:—

Christmas Eve is drawing near, and I would like to announce in the column of your paper that on the above date we intend having a big time at the Salvation Army Hall, Feversham. This big time will include songs, recitations, duets, etc., which will be rendered by the young people connected with our Sunday school. We are also having our Christmas tree, and if our friends around the country districts would like to place their presents on the tree to be handed over to their own children and friends, they can do so by acquainting Santa Claus., who at present is going under the name of Captain Beecroft, Feversham.
