EDITORIAL NOTES

The announcement by the Ontario Hydro Commission of a ten per cent rebate to Hydro users of electric power in 1937, and who are also users, at present, is received with gratification by all. For several years the municipalities on the Hydro system have received reductions on their rates when revenue justified such action, and this is the first instance that Flesherton has received a rebate in its history. Apparently the rates in Flesherton will remain as at present, as any reduction would not be available at the present revenue of the system. In years past other municipalities have received rebates of their hydro bill for one month, but this was thought not to be fair in many cases, hence the straight ten per cent rebate in the present instance.

Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs in the Ontario government, denies that Ontario is overgoverned and declared that administration costs were being increased by greater demands on government bodies rather than on the cost of government machinery. He also stated that his department was opposed to the proposal that County Councils in the Province should be abolished. These declarations were made before a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto on Thursday last. This statement is received with gratification by the municipalities of Ontario as the tax burden at the present time is a burden to the majority and if the County Councils can take over some more of the duties that the Provincial Governments have taken away from them, and do so at a decreased cost to the ratepayers, so much the better. Mr. Cross stated that thirty-eight County Councils in Ontario are operating at an annual cost of only $167,000 and they are administering budgets totalling $15,000,000. "We cannot see any advantage that might accrue from abolition of this very necessary form of government," said Mr. Cross. In commenting on the work of the government in assuming the cost of services formerly paid in part by the County Councils the Minister said: "The Province is looking after municipalities as far as is possible within the limits of its own budget. Municipalities benefitted to the extent of $14,000,000 through the one-mill subsidy allowed this year. The Province has assumed full cost of Mothers' Allowances and Old Age Pensions, and the maintenance of indigent tubercular patients, in addition to increasing road allowances. I believe these things indicate in a concrete way the interest of the Government in your problem."

A GREAT SCHEME

Mrs. Newlywed said to her husband: "Darling will you lend me twenty dollars and only give me ten of it. Then you'll owe me ten and I'll owe you ten and we'll be even."

Grandma had a farm, mother had garden and daughter has a can-opener.

A man arrested in London admits being a spy for three nations. That is one thing wrong with the world, there are too many people filling more than one job.

Roadside Weeds

Farmers and city dwellers alike, will agree that country roads are the show windows of Ontario farms and are largely responsible for advertising products of the soil. If roads are marred by an unsightly crop of weeds, tourists get a bad impression and urban residents lose faith in rural Ontario as a producer of agricultural products second to none in the world.

There are seven good reasons why roadside weeds should be wiped out if existent. They (1) infest adjoining farms; (2) spread plant diseases; (3) are dangerous to traffic; (4) will gather and hold snow; (5) clog ditches on roadsides and thus hinder the flow of water and proper drainage of the road bed, (6) are dangerous from a fire standpoint; (7) are unsightly to tourists and residents alike.

The Weed Control Act of Ontario states roadside weeds must be destroyed before seeds mature. The Municipal Council, through its road authority, is responsible for seeing that this work is done. Proper grading of roadsides and removal of stones stumps and brush will enable the road authority to do this work quickly and efficiently. A thick seeding of a good grass mixture will make a thick sod which prevents weeds from obtainng a foothold.

Chemical weed killers have proved efficient and many municipalites have greatly improved county and township roads in a weed clean up via the chemical route.

Maybe your municipality has helped you out in this manner. If not; why not?

Don't forget the municipality is responsible for eradication of all noxious weeds within its boundaries.

Potato Crop Report

The early Irish Cobbler crop is fairly well cleared and the intermediate crop is moving to market from the central part of the province. A shortage of moisture during June and July retarded growth of plants and development of tubers with the result that low yields are being harvested. The quality is excellent.

The late crop presents a favourable appearance at present. During the past two weeks the rainfall generally has been beneficial and plant growth excellent.

The potato bug has been well kept in control by the use of poison applications but the leaf hoppers have done considerable damage to the plants because bordeaux has not been properly applied, and some damage to plants is apparent which will reduce the yield at digging time. Growers are advised to dust or spray with bordeaux thoroughly for leaf hopper control or disappointing yields will be the result. There is no evidence of late blight at this date but the present weather conditions with its sultry atmosphere and frequent showers, should they continue, are favourable for its development. The preventative measures are timely applications of bordeaux that will cover the plants on the under side of the leaves as well as on top.

Gunner: "Aye aye, sir."
Captain: "Let him have a twelve inch shell in the eye."
Gunner: "Which eye, sir"

Food That Caused Death

Hospital records are stories of life and death. Here is an actual record taken from one of Canada's largest hospitals.

In June, Willie Blank, residing in a town about sixty miles distant from the city in which the hospital is located, developed a headache and fever, quickly becoming very ill. A consultant was called. He diagnosed the case as meningitis, which in lay language is inflammation of the membrane around the brain. The child was rushed to the hospital where it was confirmed that he had bovine tuberculosis meningitis; but despite all efforts known to scientific medicine to save the life of this curly-headed three year old boy, he died.

Where did he get the bovine tubercular germ? From milk most likely. So the doctors began their investigation and with little difficulty they traced the milk supply of the family to one herd of cows and discovered one of the cows to be infected with tuberculosis of the exact type which killed Willie Blank.

Six months previous to the infection and death of this child, the citizens of the town in which he lived defeated a By-law which, if passed, would have made it compulsory for all milk sold within the town to be pasteurized. Pasteurization kills germs in milk and had the By-law passed instead of being defeated, it is reasonable to think that Willie Blank would have been alive today.

Since pasteurization of all milk sold for public consumption became compulsory in one of Canada's largest cities twenty-three years ago there has not been one case of bovine tuberculosis traced to the milk supply within that city.

Pasteurization of milk kills the germs that destroy life and pasteurization makes milk safe for you and your children. Contrary to many statements made by ill-informed persons who for various reasons oppose pasteurization of milk, it may be said with confidence born of facts that pasteurization does not destroy the food value of milk. Children—hundreds and thousands of them thrive on pasteurized milk every day.

Safe milk for all children and all adults should be a goal for all Canada. Pasteurization of milk is the answer.

A man in Montral was taken ill while operating a lawn mower, this may be a handy excuse for the average husband.

An Apology

Hanover, Ontario,
August 25, 1938

Mr. J. H. Burrell,
Hanover, Ontario.
Dear Sir,

I much regret having made certain statements which impeached your good name and your credit. Such statements were absolutely untrue and I had no foundation whatsoever for making them. When making such statements, I did not intend to do anything which would harm your good name and credit.

I therefore hereby withdraw the statements so made by me and tender to you my sincere apologies there for.

I have this day paid to your solicitor the costs that have been incurred in connection with this matter and I trust that you will accept such payment and this apology in the spirit in which they are offered and as the best amends which it is in my power to make for the injury, harm and annoyance which I have unintentionally caused you.

I also consent to your publishing this apology in the Flesherton Advance and the Markdale Standard at my expense. I am,

Yours truly,
