TRUTH BEFORE FAVOR- PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN

THE LIVE STOCK INDUSTRY

During the present session of the Imperial Parliament our representative, Dr. Sproule, in a vigorous speech called attention of the Government to the steady decline of the live stock industry in Canada during the past ten years. The figures he gives of our exports, both in numbers of animals and their value, are somewhat startling. A decrease of fifty thousand cattle in 1910 as compared with the year 1900, and this decrease steadily going on every year for the past ten or eleven years, is alarming in an agricultural country like ours. The decrease in money values even in face of enhanced prices, is from three to four millions per annum. The decline from packing house products has gone from over $17,000,000 in 1903 to less than $10,000,000 in 1910.

The sheep industry is in even worse condition than that of cattle and swine. Comparisons are made between our country and other British colonies, Australia and New Zealand, also the Argentine republic, showing how small our product comparing our area of territory with their products and area. The Doctor's address is timely and most interesting, but in these comparisons he leaves out any notice of difference in climatic conditions. The five to six months of winter has been our greatest difficulty to contend with in stock raising. In Ontario conditions in this respect are rapidly changing. Many of our farmers with large clearances and crop area can and do produce more winter feed than they can get cattle pasturage for summer. This opens another question we may have something to say on in our next issue.

Great Britain's Indian opium trade forced upon China, which has long been a disgrace to the empire and has hampened the work of Missionaries, is likely soon to be cut off. Between the Indian Government and China negotiations have for some time been under way which it is expected will result in the extinction of the trade within two years.

It has now been decided that Sir Wilfred Laurier shall attend the coronation and Imperial Conference soon to be held in London. Sir Wilfred with other members of the Government, expect to sail on Friday. Hon. To Revise the Calendar

It is to be hoped that the movement started by the Swiss Government fot revising the calendar will meet with general approval and be put into effect. The proposal is that, by a simple change, a given date shall always fall on the same day of the week. The proposal is that New Year's day shall not be the first day of January, but shall stand by itself, not counting as a day of the week, month or quarter. This leaves for the rest of the year 364 days, a number which divides exactly into four equal quarters of 91 days each and into 52 weeks of 7 days each. Each quarter would contain 13 weeks, 2 months of 30 days each and one of 31 If the change were made in 1912 any given date would hereafter fall on the same day of the week. Easter Sunday would always fall on April 14 and Christmas day would always come on Monday. But what about the odd day in leap year? The proposal is that this loose day should in every fourth year, stand by itself and be known as Leap Year day, be inserted between June and July, but not counting in the week, month or quarter. This day would be a bank holiday, and, coming immediately before Dominion day, would, in every fourth year, enlarge the scope of that national festival. A bill embodying these proposals is before the British House of Commons. A simplified calendar would greatly convenience mankind. Any printed calendar would answer for any or every year. A date would be a fixed date, and the human mind would be released from one of its vexing and unending worries.—Toronto Star Weekly.

Queer Chinese Headdress.

The female headdress is carried in some countries to singular extravagance. The Chinese beauty carries on her head the figure of a certain bird. This is composed of copper or of gold, according to the rank of the person. The wings spread out and fall over the front of the headdress and conceal the temples; the tail, long and open, forms a beautiful tuft of feathers; the beak covers the top of the nose; the neck is fastened to the body of the artificial animal by a spring that it may the more freely play and tremble at the slightest motion.

Man's Early Building.

The ruins of successive human habitations unearthed in Asia show how man advanced from primeval savagery to the pomp of Babylon and Nineveh. First he improved the caves in which he dwelt by leveling the floors and cutting windows to give him light. Afterward he constructed entirely artificial habitations for himself, at first roughly made tents of boughs and leaves, then huts of mud and finally dwellings of wood and stone.

"Yes," said the engaged girl, "Dick is very methodical. He gives me one kiss when he comes and two when he goes away."

"That's always been his way," returned her dearest friend. "I've heard lots of girls comment on it."

Thus it happens that they cease to speak to each other.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline."

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 50c., trial size, 25c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Inspector Burgess on schools

Inspector Burgess of West Grey in his report to the County Council last January says—We would think our homes badly kept if swept once a day and scrubbed only once a year. Then why should our children spend the impressionable years of their life for five-sevenths of the time in conditions that no good housewife would tolerate. Gentlemen, I have some schools swept two and three times a week, and scrubbed once in two or three years. Occasionally we hear of teachers detaining a child at recess. This is the time that the schoolroom should be thoroughly flushed with air. The recess is not a privilege of which a child may be deprived for bad conduct, but a time to let the room and the child get the necessary fresh air. The ideal is a "Sound mind in a sound body." In some it would be a good step to have a sanitary inspection of schools. We have health inspection of factories Which are the more important, the cheese or the growing children? The schools are our centres of culture and must have the support of every citizen, whether he sends children to school or not. Frequently I have heard men say "I pay taxes and I send no children to school". Education is a protection to property. Imagine how a man's property, and the neighborhood in which he lives would depreciate if there were no schools, and the intellectual life of the place were not stimulated. A good school well built, well kept, and finished in good taste, is an educative force in itself that cannot be estimated in the life of the children that are fortunate enough to spend their school years within its walls. A girl trained in such a school will never be satisfied with untidy surroundings, or an unhygenic home. It means better homes, better men, better women, better citizens.
