A two-year-old child of Mr. Wm. Hill of the west back line had an extremely narrow escape from drowning on Saturday last by falling into a rainwater tank near the door. The accident was unobserved and it was only by the merest chance that another child saw the little fellow lying in the water at the bottom of the tank. The mother was called and the infant taken out. At first it was supposed life was extinct but vigorous rubbing and heat brought the little fellow around all right.

Mr. P. Loucks had a nasty experience with a vicious sow on Saturday, which might easily have been worse. Mr. Loucks picked up one of the young pigs to examine it when the old sow made for him. He was unable to get to the fence before the infuriated animal attacked him. He was knocked down and bitten on the face and leg, but succeeded in reaching the fence and crawling over. A Dr. had to sew up the wound in his face, and so far no after evil effects have manifested themselves. Mr. Loucks was in poor health and not as able to defend himself as he used to be. He considers that he got off lightly and would not care to go through a similar experience.

Mrs. Mary Reed, wife of a prosperous farmer of Maidstone, was found murdered in the house by her son. Her husband is missing and suspicion points to him.

John Morrison, aged 66 years, an old resident of Meaford, was run down by an auto and died of the injuries received.

Rev. S. H. Eastman, pastor of Erskine Presbyterian church, Meaford, has resigned his charge.

A Walkerton child chewed a piece of Gillet's lye which its mother had accidentally dropped on the floor, with the result that its mouth was terribly burned.

While removing hay from a barn at Meaford George Tomlinson had the misfortune to fall through a hole in the mow to the floor beneath, breaking several of his ribs and shaking him up very badly.

All lovers of the sport of partridge shooting will have one month's time in which to enjoy their pleasure. The season this year will open on the 15th of October and will close a month from that day. As a good many sportsmen seem to think that the season will open the 15th of September, it is only fair that they should be warned before hand. The Ontario constables have strict orders and these orders will be enforced to the limit.

On Saturday morning Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Yule's little daughter, aged about 17 months, was severely burnt by a can of Gillet's lye which she pulled off a window sill so that the contents were spilled over her face and body, some entering the eyes and mouth. Mr. Yule had left the evening before to spend a holiday in Toronto and Aurora. He was at once notified by wire and returned in the evening. We are pleased to learn that the little sufferer's condition is improving.—Mt. Forest Confederate.

Fire on Saturday afternoon last completely destroyed the lumber and planing mill formerly owned by the Watt Milling Co., near the C. P. R. station, Shelburne, for the past few months operated by Mr. Geo. Mustard, formerly of Creemore. The loss, we understand, is in the neighborhood of $9,000, with insurance in the neighborhood of $6,000. Eight men are thrown out of employment. We have not heard whether it is the intention of Mr. Mustard to rebuild or not.—Economist.

Chalmer, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Brown, Simcoe street, is lying in the G. & M. Hospital between life and death. His critical condition is the result of a premature explosion of a quantity of calcium carbide which he had in a can. The top of the can was blown off with terrific force and struck him on the right forehead, depressing about five square inches of the skull and fracturing the base. Medical aid was hurried to his side and he was later removed to the G. & M. Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. He is now in a precarious state, his life being despaired of.—Collingwood Saturday News.

Paddy McKinley, a horse well known in Flesherton, having been owned by Postmaster W. W. Trimble, was recently sold by the owner, John Calvert of Durham, to Herbert Wilkins of Owen Sound, for $1200.

An electric storm last Saturday, left its mark on the farm of Mr. Dan McAuliffe, Glenelg. One of the bolts struck his barn, containing the crop of 200 acres and all was destroyed including the bulk of his implements and machinery. An insurance of $1500 will barely cover the implements. To loose a barn now is a serious matter and Mr. McAuliffe has the sympathy of his neighbors in the heavy loss.—Review.
