At the coming session of the County Council a proposition will, it is expected, be made for their consent to the use of part of the House of Refuge land at Markdale as an experimental farm plot. Mr. H. C. Duff, the Government Agricultural representative at Markdale, is the originator of the plan of conducting experimental work in connection with his department. The scheme looks reasonable, and it is likely that the Council will consent to co-operate—O. S. Sun.

TRUTH BEFORE FAVOR—PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN

THE TEUTON NIGHTMARE

This continual talk about the war-like intentions of Germany, and the hair-breadth escapes that we have recently had from feeling the mailed fist of Kaiser Wilhelm, will goon get on our nerves if it is not stopped. Why is it that it is always Germany that is waiting with ghoulish eyes to snap the head off England and drink her blood? Well, perhaps the world knows that Germany is the most worthy opponent and best prepared nation to measure swords with the British lion.

Yet it cannot be claimed in justice that Germany is a bloodthirsty nation, as she has not indulged in any great war since that waged with France in 1870-71. In that war Germany did not lose a single battle until the surrender of Paris and she received a war indemnity of £200,000,000, also acquiring Alsace and a big slice of Lorraine. With such spoils and the blood lust now upon her, Germany would never have settled down to peaceful, prosaic occupations for these forty years past had she been the grasping and ambitious ogre that she is sometimes depicted.

On the whole, we will try to sleep comfortably, notwithstanding the hair-raising yarns of Germany's hatred for Britain and the narrow escapes we have had from a disastrous war with the Teuton.

A WET ARGUMENT

Anti-local option newspapers are pointing out that a report issued by the Inland Revenue Department announces a considerable increase per capita of intoxicating liquors consumed during the past year. As the business of the "trade" is to sell as much as possible, and as local optionists desire the spread of local option until it embraces all of Canada, both forces should work together quite harmoniously. Judging by the arguments used by the "wet" party, they are the ones who are trying to curtail the use of intoxicants by taking away all impediments to their open sale. Local option causes an excess of drinking, and therefore the trade is against it, "hoof and horns." Now, there is some rich argument for you.

The figures of the Inland Revenue Department, however, deal with the whole of Canada, and the local option fight is practically confined to one province, so that the argument is scarcely a sound one. In the large cities even of Ontario an increase might be noted, but such an increase is made possible through the large influx of foreigners and open bars. The cities do not take kindly to local or any other option that wil cut out their booze.

Mr. Calder of Durham is opposing Dr. Jamieson in South Grey. For some reason Dr. Mearns of Hanover, who had announced his intention of contesting the seat, retired from the field. Mr. Calder has little chance of winning South Grey from the genial Dr., who has so long and faithfully represented the riding in the Local House.

The Toronto Star says it reads The Advance and likes it. The Star would be a curiosity if it didn't like it. Everybody likes to read The Advance. At the same time the Star thinks The Advance shows signs of "grumpiness" since coming home from the deer hunt. Not at all, dear effulgent point of brilliancy in the literary ether, it is merely a venison diet that makes us appear a little wild at times. Pay no attention to these idiosyncrasies of ours. We can't help it.

Considerable fun is being poked at Dr. Sproule over the fact that he has been obliged to learn the opening prayer of the Commons and repeat it in French. There are some who believe it to be a great innovation for the good Dr. to learn a prayer of any kind, but we have no sympathy with the cynical sinners who give voices to any such belief.

We notice that some of the surrounding villages are moving in the matter of organizing farmers' clubs. For a year past a club has been in operation here and the meetings have been instructive and of an educational character. More farmers should identify themselves with this club and share in the benefits. Mr. C. Bellamy in the Secretary.

November Rod and Gun

For the big game hunting month Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont., still keeps big game stories well to the front in the November issue. Hunters on their annual vacation bent, those in camp and those returning, after fine experiences and with many pleasant recollections of recent and former outings, will all welcome the wealth of good stories contained in the latest issue. Mr. Bonnycastle Dale opens the number with one of his British Columbia studies, which he makes so fascinating to all lovers of the outdoors. The articles on the Wild Passenger Pigeon and the surveying of a new Alpine district by Mr. A. O. Wheeler should by no means be overlooked.
