TRUTH BEFORE FAVOR-PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN

Nomination Was Well Attended

The following gentlemen were nominated for Artemesia Council on Friday last:

FOR REEVE

John A. Boyd, by John Blackburn and Jos. Blakeley.

T. R. McKenzie, by Henry Williams and S. Hemphill.

DEPUTY REEVE

Donald McLeod, by John Blackburn and Jos. Blakeley.

Wm. Caswell, by Alex. Henry and Thos, Taylor.

FOR COUNCILLOR

J. I. Graham, by Wm. Carson and Edward Baker.

Samuel Thompson, by Wm. Carson and Henry Weber.

George Meldrum, by Alex. Cameron and Wm. Walker.

A. D. McLeod, by W. H. Thurston and Thos. Taylor.

T. M. Bannon, by Wm. Sharp and W. J. Boyd.

Harry Shaw, by John Weber and Robert Best.

The two last resigned.

The municipal nomination on Friday last went off very pleasently, the town-hall being crowded with an intereted and orderly audience. Mr. Joseph Blakeley occupied the chair very ably, and introducing the meeting refered feelingly to the deaths of the late repected Reeve and Mrs McLeod, wife of Councillor A. D McLeod. He refered to the high rate of taxation and believed that they might even go higher. His own had doubled during the past eight years. He was in favor of the Henry George system of taxation so for as it applied to farms. He was also in favor of commuting statute labor along the gravel roads as half value was not given under the present system.

Mr. McKenzie spoke for an hour on past years work in the township and in the County Council. He also refered to the dark shadow of death that had fallen over the township during the past year, mentioning the death of Mr. W. C. Pedlar, member of the high school board; Hector McDonald, high county constable; Reeve Alex Muir, and Mrs. A. D. McLeod. He reviewed minutely the financial work of the year and explained that the increased taxes were something over which the Council had no control. The Council had cut the municipal rate 2.10 mills, but the county rate had increased in like ratio. He could not promise a reduction in taxes but he would promise a careful expenditure of the people's money if he were elected to the Reeveship

Mr. J. A. Boyd, the other candidate for the Reeveship followed, but spoke quite briefly. He also referred to the sad experience of the tho past year, and incidentally referred to the work he had done in the County Council with regard to getting the county to take over certain bridges. There had been an agitation to raise Artemesia's county rate and this would in all liklihood have to be guarded this coming year. Owen Sound's rate had not been keeping pace with it's development. If elected to the Reeveship he would give everybody a square deal.

Mr. Donald McLeod, candidate for the Deputyship, in addition to accounting for his work during the year, advocated the appointment of an assessment commission and assessing the township for five years. He also advocated tagging of dogs and that owners of tagless dogs be fined from $5 to $20.

Mr. Caswell believed in fairneas between man and man. He explained his expenditure and the settlement made with Mrs Muir, who had her leg broken by a defective sidewalk at Ceylon. The settlement was the cheapest way out of it. He thought he was better qualified for the Deputyship than Mr, McLeod and would spend the money in the most profitable manner.

Mr. Graham spoke very shortly, explaining his determination to drop the candidature for Deputy and come out as candidate for Councillor. He did not think it would be in the interests of the township to have a three cornered fight.

Mr. Sam Thompson gave a rattling speech that roused the audience to enthusiam and laughter. He had no sins of the past to answer for and consequently had no explanations to make. Neither had he any promises to make. He wanted to be trusted and if the ratepayers could not trust him, why vote for the other man. The past was gone beyond recall. He desired to see a saving in taxes.

Mr. George Meldrum made his first appearance on the platform. It was at earnest request of a large number of friends that he did so. If elected he would do the best he could to serve the the township; if not, why he had lots to do at home.

This ended the speaking, but before adjourning the large meeting unanimously endorsed by a standing vote two resolutions of condolence with the families of the late Reeve, and Councilor McLeod, these resolutions to be forwarded to the respective famlies. The meeting then adjourned in the best ofh umor.

A Local Fur Story

Mr. John McDonald tells a good story of the late Mr. W. A. Ferguson. Many years ago when the late Mr. J. W. Elliott was postmaster at Chatsworth he recieved a potal card one day from a big Fur House in the United States asking him to suggest the name of some one who dealt in or collected furs and whom they might appoint as their agent. Mr. Ferguson was standing by and he said, "Write in McDonald's name for a joke." The consequence was that the name got on hundreds of Fur House lists. That was over twenty-five years ago, and ever since then, year in and year out, and especially in the fur season Mr. McDonald has recieved letters, circulars and tags from nearly every fur house in Canada, the United States and Europe, quoting the price of every imaginable kind of fur from skunk and raccoon up to mountain lion, and asking him to ship on his supply of pelts at once. He says the letters he has recieved have run up into the thousands, and the worst of it is he doesn't know how to stop them.—Chatsworth News.

Pity Your Mother

If She Is Frail or Weak.

The heroic side of life is most often found in the struggle between duty towards the family, and the mother's inability through ill-health to perform that duty.

"Words sometime seem poor things to express one's feelings," writes Mrs. J. P. Merritt. "I have a family of five all pretty close together. After baby was born my strength didn't come back. The child pulled me down a lot, and I couldn't wean him in the hot weather, my other children needed so much to be done for them. My system did not come right—my color was pallid, and morning and night and all the time, I was livid. My druggist told me of how well his customers spoke of Ferrozone, and I got six boxes right away. You wouldn't believe how well it built me up. It seems quite strange now to be real well again, to feel like my old self once more. I was really hopelessly in despair and too completely worn out to feel like living before I used Ferrozone, so you can imagine how highly I prize such a good medicine. My children now say 'mother isn't tired any more,' and for my children's sake I am so glad to be well enough to give them all the care and attention that every good mother feels she must bestow upon her family."

Ferrozone Cures Weakness

You are sure to be invigorated, certain to be built up and kept always at your best—you are bound to enjoy all the happiness of lasting good health if you use Ferrozone. Try it, one or two tablets along with your meals. Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.
