Word was received here Monday announcing the death of Mr. David Wright of New York, formerly of Flesherton, Mr. Wright resided at Bloomfield, N.J., and had been recently ailing with heart trouble. The deceased, who was in his 54th year, was born near Flesherton and was the eldest son of the late Mr. Wm. Wright. Here he received his public school education and after a business college course was connected with his father's business for a number of years. Later he was in business at Markdale with Mr. J. R. Trimble. About 24 years ago he joined his uncle in New York, but for most of the time since has been in business for himself as a noedle importer. He was married to Miss Isabella Keefer, eldest daughter of the late George Keefer of this place, and the brick residence now the Presbyterian manse, built by him, was the new home of his bride. Besides his widow, two daughters survive, the eldest married in July last to Mr. K. A. Price of Colorado and the younger, Miss Emmeline, at home. The friends here of the bereaved family deeply sympathise with them in their loss.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

The Christian Commercial Traveller's Association have completed a good work in Owen Sound. This Association has undertaken the work of placing a Bible in every hotel bedroom in the Dominion. Frank A. Douglas, General Secretary, visited our town this week and obtained consent of all the hotel proprietors placing 231 Bibles. The Association organized in March, 1911 and have placed to date over 9000 Bibles in Ontario,—O. S. Sun.

Do you know that more real danger lurks in a common cold than in any other of the minor ailments? The safe way is take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, thorough reliable preparation, and rid yourself of the cold as quickly as possible. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

A Fall Trip Across The Atlantic

John Coulthard of Feversham, who is on a visit to the old country, and whose present address is Rough House, Asby, Cockermouth, Cumberland, England, sends the following account of his trip across the Atlantic:

On Nov. 23 we left Montreal on the S. S. Virginian, but for some reason which I could not learn the vessel stopped before night and did not move for 26 hours. At last we again got under way and after picking up some passengers at Quebec we started on our long voyage to Liverpool. The passenger list numbered 600, of which 50 were 1st class, 150 2nd class and 400 steerage. They were from the States as far west as Salt Lake city and from Canada as far as Prince Rupert. Many of the passengers were young Englishmen who had been out two or three years and were now going home on a visit. There were two pianos on board and so many of the young people could play and sing we had plenty of music, which greatly increased the pleasure of the trip.

At dinner on the first day out from Quebec we found on our plates a list of the names of the first and second class passengers, a slip to fill out giving our names, place of birth, age, etc. and another slip stating that the Allan Line News would be printed daily, giving the current news as received at the wireless telegraph station on board. The subscription price was 12 cents for the trip, five issues, or four cents per single copy. By the second day out all the young ladies on board were receiving the attention of at least one young man, who were improving the time by promenading with their partners on the deck, a pastime which could only be indulged in during fair weather. Seats were arranged on the sunny side of the ship where the older people could sit and engage in conversation. I had a long talk with a man from B. C. He owns a tug and is engaged in towing logs to the sawmills. As this kind of work ceases in winter time, he frequently takes a trip to the old home in England. The passage money for himself and family amounted to over three hundred dollars. I also fell in with a Mormon, a Dane by birth, who is making a two years visit to his native land, after an absence of thirty-seven years in Utah. I made bold to ask him if his church countenanced polygamy but he said it had abolished that practice in 1896. He had divorced one wife for incontinence. He said he was 55 years of age, though by his walk and general appearance he seemed like a man well over seventy. This he said was on account of hard work, and he certainly looked like a man who had had too many wives and children to support.

Later in the trip a terrific storm sprang up and as there was danger of the waves coming in ever the stern of the boat, they turned her around and with her prow pointed away from England, let her drift with the storm toward her destination. During the ensuing night they got her turned right again and on the following day, when the storm had abated but while the sea was still running high, it was a grand sight to see this great twelve thousand ton ship being tossed about like a cork, the sport and plaything of the waves. On one occasion while crossing to the stern I just missed being caught by an immense wave which swept in over the lower deck.

The morning on which we were due at Liverpool found us still six hundred miles from that port. For the next three days it was so rough that I had to hold on to something while writing my journal. One of the passengers was hurt by a fall caused by the pitching of the boat, and an old sailor was dashed against an iron post with such force as to render him unconscious and inflict a severe flesh wound in his head. From such incidents you may form some idea of how the great ship was bufeted by the waves.

But all voyages must come to an end at last. Nine days after leaving Montreal, and three days overdue, we arrived at Liverpool and you may be sure we were glad enough to feel the solid earth under our feet once more. Six hundred people from over the greater part of the United States and Canada had been thrown together for a few days on a ship. There they formed a distinct community, isolated, except, for the mysterious agency of the wireless telegraph, from the rest of the world. Under such conditions an acquaintance of a few days seemed like a lifelong friend, but once the boat touched shore each went his own way. The six hundred passengers separated, in another day or two to be scattered over the entire continent of Europe, never in most cases to meet again with a companion of their voyage Across the Atlantic on board the Virginian.

There is no better medicine made for colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions, aids expectoration; and restores the system to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

Mrs. John White

Died—At the home of her son-in-law, Thomas Taylor of Portlaw, on Jan. 22nd, Mrs. John White at the age of seventy-six. Deceased, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Weir, was born in the county Fermaugh in Ireland, coming to Canada in her 23rd year. Forty-eight years ago she was married to John White of Artemesia township, who afterwards removed to Glenelg, near Markdale. Nine children were born of the union, only four of whom are now living. Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Portlaw; John J. in Glenelg, near Lauriston; David, Science Master of the Normal School, Toronto, and Miss Margaret of New York, all of whom were present at the funeral. Mrs. White has for some years been failing in health. She was of a retiring disposition, unselfish and a devoted wife and mother.

The funeral took place to Markdale cemetery on Thursday, January 25. Among those who attended from a distance were Robert Weir of Wingham; William Weir of Wroxter; Edward Armstrong of Fordwich.

For a sprain you will find Chamberlain's Liniment excellent. It allays the pain, removes the soreness, and soon restores the parts to a healthy condition. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

SOWING HIS WILD OATS
REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing their wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reformed but what about the seed you have sown—what about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a misspent life—DRS. K. & K. ARE YOUR REFUGE. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.
