Rivers On The Rampage

Heavy snow, no winter thaw and a sudden rise in temperature to spring mildness on Thursday last, continuing for three days, were responsible for more financial loss in this county than was ever before known.

The township of Artemesia has been a heavy loser through loss of bridges, culverts and roadways.

The C. P. R. bridge at Walkerton was washed away and other damage was done out that way.

Meaford had several dams demolished, flour mill and tannery swept away, and much other damage done, amounting to $100,000.

At Owen Sound the harbor was strewn with wreckage of small craft, logs, trees, stumps and timber swirling around as though in a maelstrom, undermined buildings and damaged bridges, is the tale of Owen Sound's worst flood experience. Five dams on the Pottawatomie and Sydenham rivers were carried away. On the Sydenham the dam above Inglis' Falls at Inglis' Mills was carried out, followed in quick succession by that at Harrison's flour mills. The immense bodies of water backed up by these structures came down with a terrific rush, carrying along a dozen or more motor boats from the score or more hauled up along the shore for the winter. The temporary wooden bridge erected at 9th street two years ago was wrecked and piles of wreckage went tossing down the Niagara-like current. Below the new Tenth-street cement bridge was a pile-driving plant on a scow. The current wrenched this from its moorings and, turning it over, it went crashing into the steamer Vennetta, a pleasure boat owned by a local syndicate. The result was disastrous, as the boat lies to-day with stern sunk and its bow on the upturned scow of the piledriver. Scattered through the harbor are the wrecks of motor boots, while several of the fleet of fishing tugs are scraped and battered by the impact of timber and floating cakes of ice. But while the Sydenham river put up the spectacular, the Pottawatamie river's rampage did the greater damage. The dams at Wright's oatmeal mill, Nichol's planing and sawmills and Wright's flour mill gave way about the same time as those on the Sydenham. The worst damage is the wrecking of the storehouse at the flour mill. The water cut through an embankment and made a watercourse causing the storehouse to topple over with its contents of mill stuff into the rushing water.

A large iron traffic bridge over the Saugeen at Durham was undermined and in the sight of hundreds of spectators the big structure fell into the river. This bridge was erected five years ago and will cost $3,000 or $4,000 to replace

Fourteen dams on the Credit river, from Alton to Port Credit, were washed away by the freshets.

WHY HE WAS LATE

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs." Sold by all dealers.

Durham

Mr. Wm. Bradley has sold his farm, lot 11, on the 2nd concession of Egremont, to Mr. Geo. Pollock, who occupies the farm opposite. The purchase price was $2200, which is considered very low.

Last week Mr. Middleton of the Rocky lost a $250 horse, which he had purchased just a few days before.

A very serious operation was performed Tuesday on a four or five-year-old daughter of Mr. John Bartman of Allan Park. The large bone of the leg had decayed, and Drs. Gun and Hutton decided it was necessary to remove it. It seems the leg will have to be entirely removed, as it cannot possibly be of any use as it is. The child is being cared for in town by nurse Carmont, but grave doubts are entertained as to her chances for recovery.—Chronicle.

Beeton has an old couple who have been married for sixty years. Both were natives of Glasgow. The gentleman is 85 and the lady 89 years of age.

Walkerton

William Scott was taken into custody on Friday and placed in jail as a vagrant. William is an ex-inmate of the House of Refuge.

Having sent a sample of his apparatus for force feeding lunatics and suffragettes to the Holloway jail it London, England, Dr. H. H. Sinclair was surprised this week to receive word that his rig had been used there with marked success on some militant female prisoners. After being spool fed a few times the Holloway girls gave up the fight against food, and all that is necessary now to stimulate their appetites is to show them one of the spools, at which signal, it is said, they fall to and fairly exhaust the pantry.

Mr. Nicholas O'Hagan, who purchased James Cameron's farm in Greenock, is the proud father of twin babies, which his wife had the fortune to present him with on Friday last. The mother of the infants was formerly a Miss Cassidy of Greenock, and it is a fact not probably equalled elsewhere in history that no less than eighteen set of twins have been born to the Cassidy family. The Cassidy women who are all related and originated from the same family tree, had the honor of presenting their husbands with fifteen set of twins, while the Cassidy men had three set of twins presented to them by their wives. As Greenock is also the home of the Bechberger triplets there must be something in the climate that so distinguishes birthdays there—Herald-Times.

A Big Seizure of Game

Provincial Game Inspector Holden and Inspector Jermyn of Wiarton paid a visit to Owen Sound last Friday and startled some of the citizens. The net result of their visit was 55 partridges, 24 hare and two boxes of dressed hare. The provincial game laws are very strict, and any of this species of game after Jan. 16 of each year is liable to be confiscated and a penalty imposed for each bird or animal found. While the open season closes on Dec. 15th a period is given until Jan 16th for disposition of the game. Thus while the partridge and hare seized by Inspector Holden may have been shot during the open season, they are none the less liable to become confiscated. The seizure was made at the cold storage warerooms of Messrs. Lemon Bros., where the game was being stored for different parties about town. The ownership of the big end of the lot is said to rest with the Patterson House, while the balance of the property is said to be owned by three very prominent business men. Inspector Holden stored his seizure in Lemon's cold storage warehouse under the name of the department and returned to Toronto to report his work to the Department. Just what action will be taken remains to be seen. —Chatsworth News.

A Bad Pair

On Monday of last week James Dowdall of Mono was in Toronto and visited an employment agency to secure help to work on his farm. He succeeded in securing a young man and his supposed wife and brought them home with him on Monday evening and took them out to his home. He soon learned on Tuesday morning that neither of them were suited for the work and he drove them back to Shelburne on Tuesday afternoon and left them at the Queens hotel. They both went upstairs and shortly afterwards the man came down and bought a couple of drinks of lagerine at the bar. They said they were waiting for the north-bound evening train. When R. B. Smith, meat dealer, went to his room after tea he discovered that his gold watch which he had left in his room was missing and shortly after a commercial traveller complained that his grip had been opened and several articles taken. At this time the pair were at the station waiting for the train to get out of town. The proprietor of the hotel went to the station and brought them back—they denied having taken anything and were greatly annoyed at being detained. After being questioned by Mr. Smith and the traveller they finally admitted taking the goods and disgorged. The man had the watch secreted inside his pants and the woman had the balance of the stolen goods. They remained all night at the hotel and next morning R. B. Smith laid information against them but before the papers were ready to serve they got away on the train. The couple hailed from the American side—Free Press.

April Rod and Gun

Once more Rod and Gun in Canada is out with a special spring fishing number—the April issue—and as usual there is something to interest fishermen in every province of the Dominion. The Rest Easy fishing club's Canadian outing on the French river is the opening number, and, believe us, it is a good one, illustrating the fine sport indulged in by a party of American sportsmen who answered the call of the wild. In this story it was not the big fish that got away, as is evidenced by reproductions of photographs, one of which, "I love my best girl but O you muscalonge," has been utilized as a cover. Of exceptional interest, also, is the account of a fishing trip through Tusket Lakes, Nova Scotia. Other articles are in keeping with the character of a special fishing number of this Canadian magazine which is published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Peter Tiffany, an aged employee of the Hepworth Furniture Factory, attempted on three occasions, on Sunday and Monday to commit suicide. First he took poison, but the doctor was soon called and he was put out of danger; then he attempted to cut his throat with a knife, but his son was watching him and prevented the act; then finally, he attempted to hang himself, but was likewise foiled in this act. He is deranged and was taken to the county jail and will likely be transferred to the asylum.—Tara Leader.
