EDITORIAL NOTES

A flag is an emblem of nationality. The Union Jack flying in the breeze is an emblem of our relationship with the British Isles and our membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations, a fact that we our all proud to acknowledge. There is, however, no better way to acknowledge our loyalty to Brtiain and the Empire than by flying this emblem on all occasions, and more especially while this country is at war. In the past few years sentiment has been against flag waving, no doubt through partisan reasons, and the absence of flags in this country has been noted on many occasions by foreign visitors. The time has now arrived when every home in Canada should have a flag waving and calling attention to the loyalty

"It's only an old piece of bunting,
It's only an old colored rag;
Yet thousands have died for its honor
And shed their best blood for the flag."

That has been a fact for a hundred years and today our men are ready to do the same thing again, believing that right is might. So again, let us fly the flag of might.

A modified conscription decree has been naugurated by the Dominion Parliament for the defence of Canada and the calling up of the first members of this force will shortly be made. The government intends to teach the rudiments of soldiering to all men between the ages of 18 and 45 years, but these will be called up in certain grades, the first to be single men. These men will not be called for active duty outside Canada, only those who volunteer will be used for overseas service. We hope this will bring the necessary volunteers, but we are of the opinion that ultimately conscription in Canada will be for service outside the Dominion, as trained men will be needed, when the implements of war are numerous enough for their effective participation in hostilities.

Thousands of Canadian homes have been opened to young refugees from England, who will escape the ravages of war and so prevent their innocent lives being taken on the altar of sacrifice. They will be safe in this country and when the war is won they will be able to return to their own land safe and sound. Already many hundreds of the more fortunate classes have arrived in Canada, but there remain millions of children whose parents have not the means of sending their children to a safe haven of refuge. It is that class which the people of Canada desire to help, but their removal is a problem that is the business of the governments of Canada and Great Britain and which we hope will be solved shortly and that the underprivileged children will also find a safe haven in Canada.

German System Not Wanted By Canadians

(By An Ex-Princess Pat)

We read of the war in Europe and it seems far away. The British Navy will always protect us, and anyway Hitler's Birdhuns could get across te Atlantic to do any damage, and if things did really get serious here, why our good neighbour to the south would certainly not let any foreign power hurt us. "No, it can never happen to us." Let's turn over and snooze again. When we wake up Great Britain will have single-handed driven the Swinish Hun back to its own lair, and everything will be all rosy again. Please don't talk about the awful war, it upsets us so. Lets keep on living our soft and protected lives, but please don't disturb our slumbers by trying to arouse us about something that is happening many thousand miles away."

If we don't want any of the following to happen to us in Canada, we will have to change our soft ways of living and get busy this very day to get ready to defend ourselves and our own people.

Here are a few things that will happen to us here in Canada should the Basche be successful in his war on Britain. First, everyone would be regimented and forced to work for the state, no freedom, no initiative, you would be doled out a mere existence in return for your forced labour. You would have no freedom in your work, in your pleasure, or in your worship. You could listen to only Hun sponsored broadcasts, you couldn't farm your own farm; in other words there would be no freedom at all, everything for the state, and the individual only looked upon as cannon fodder

Every woman and girl of child bearing age, would be compelled to raise children for the state, and if this were not done legitimately and apparently willingly, then some blonde-haired Swinish Hun would forcibly become the father of your sister's or your sweetheart's children, to be raised as puppets of the state overrun by the dastardly Bosche up to now and Canada would be no exemption. Do you want this to happen in Canada? Better be under the sod after taking toll in good measure of the foul Huns and our friends with us, than to exist under the heel of the soul destroying berbarians who consider individual freedom as something not fit for human beings. Let's get ourselves licked into fighting trim. It isn't too late yet, but lose no time. Canadians took second place to none in the field in 1914-18, and it can be done again. Let's wake up and stay awake.

Eight year old Elden Atkinson of Berkeley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Atkinson (nee Ella Best) had the misfortune to break hs right arm, just prior to examinations. The beautiful autograph quilt, which was made to raise funds for the cemetery's care, was sold to Mrs. Walter Allen of Toronto, who is donating it to her niece, Anna Maude Acheson, so the quilt will stay in one of the pioneer families. Roll call was answered by very timely canning hints. The program committee, composed of Gertrude Montgomery and Marjory Stevens, took charge. Della Bannon read the Scripture, and a violin solo was given by Florence Batchelor, accompanied by Gertrude Montgomery. The topic, a most excellent description of the 23rd Psalm, was given by Mrs. Patterson, our minister's wife. A reading of garden poetry was given by Mrs. Walter Acheson and a duet rendered by Mrs. Elmo Stevens and Marjory. The meeting closed with a hymn, collection and the benediction.

There was an old saying "asleep at the switch", but the more modern phrase is "asleep at the wheel" and it means just that. In the days gone by when a lad courted a girl or when a person was returning home late at night, old Dobbin would get his passenger home in a safe manner. Not so today. The use of the auto has changed all that, and now when a person falls asleep on the way home, instead of being taken care of by horse sense, he finds himself in the ditch or over the fence. It does not pay to fall asleep in a car, but which appears to be on the increase. It is a bad type of accident as it gives an approachng car no chance and very often the sleeper is badly injured. When one becomes overcome by drousiness the thing to do is to stop the car and have a rest. A slow trip home is better than a fast trip to the hospital.

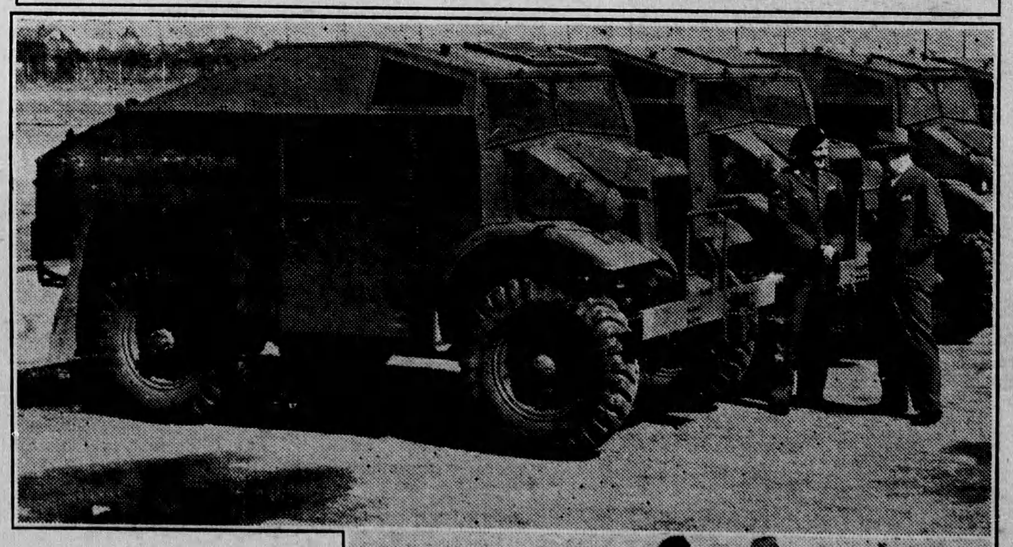
Canada to Supply Army with Universal Carriers



UNIVERSAL machine gun carriers will soon be added to the list of army vehicles made in Canada for the fighting forces at home and overseas. These are equipped with caterpillar treads and are very manoeuverable and speedy. They are armoured against small arms fire and will carry three Bren guns, or can be used to carry ammunition, wireless sets and other necessary equipment. They will be produced in the Windsor plant of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, which has been selected as the most suitable for the production of this vehicle. In the lower photograph, Mr. Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Canadian Ford organization, is shown with Lieut.-Col. D. C. Warnica, officer commanding the Essex Tank Battalion, Windsor, inspecting one of the Universal carriers. Other army vehicles now made in the Ford plant in Windsor include the powerful four-wheel drive gun tractor pictured above. These and other types of military vehicles are rolling off the assembly line of the Canadian Ford plant which is supplying nearly 10,000 units to the Canadian army and another 25,000 units for military purposes to other Empire governments. The plant is now being expanded by a $700,000 addition to provide facilities for building Universal carriers and to increase production of other types of military vehicles.
