Priceville Jottings

We hear the whistle of Colin McArthur's big threshing outfit over on the 5th line this week, and there are a few barns in and near the village for him to thresh when he comes back.

We noticed immense flocks of wild geese going south during the last two weeks.

We presume a dance hall would pay better dividends in the Klondike than in Priceville.

The Saugeen was almost as high last week as it was during the spring freshet.

Bobs McKinnon, who has been down with typhoid fever, is around again, we are glad to see.

The last service in Gaelic for the season was held in the Presbyterian church last Sunday. The next service may be in May, or it may be never, as it is generally admitted now that all persons attending church in Priceville can learn the way to heaven quite easily in Engl ish

Mrs. Robertson has gone for the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Chisholm, some distance beyond Wiarton.

The Review last week mentioned a "successful entertainment in the Methodist church," but it is a mystery to us, we don't know anything about it, but there certainly was a Hallowe'en social in Watson's hall on the 31st, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, and those who attended had a great evening's sport. The program was pretty much the same as described by Bobby Burns, with a few exceptions. The place was lighted with jack o' lanterns, and sure enough the witches with red and green lights were there, and their boudoir was well patronised by those who wished to have their fortunes told.

The dictionary man seems to have great faith in the old English proverb regarding "empty vessels," etc., but now-a-days it is generally admitted that there are exceptions to every rule, and several Advance readers are suspicious that many of the sounds, or rattles, coming from Riverdale, are caused by some one being "full."

Mr. Sherman Ottewell and lady friend of Feversham, spent Sunday at W. J. Stewarts.

An outbreak of smallpox is reported from Oxenden in Keppel township. It is, so far, confined to three houses and a strict quarantine has been placed on them. The public school has been closed and meetings in the church have been postponed and every precaution is being taken. The outbreak is said to be of a mild type, but nevertheless the authorities are very careful in taking measures to prevent the spread of disease.

Vandeleur Happenings

Carson and Miss Eva Gilbert of Toronto, who have been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gilqert, and other friends hereabouts for the past two weeks, returned to the city Saturday. Wakerton

On Saturday night while Mr. E. P. Weiss was acting as nightwatchman on the streets here some person entered his hen house and stole a $3 rooster and six wyandotte hens. The thief passed over several mongrel birds that were roosting near by and selected the prize winners from the flock.

Four men working on the coffer dam at the Walkerton Light and Power Co's. construction dam on Sunday morning were nearly drowned. During the day the water rose with such rapidity that notwithstanding the efforts of the men, nothing could withstand the terrible force of the Saugeen, and all embankments that were used to keep out the water from the last 30 feet to be completed were swept away, and the labor of many weeks was in vain. In their efforts to cope with the force of the water the men were precipitated into the stream. With boats and ropes, however, they were rescued from a watery grave.

An interesting case was ventilated in the Division Court here on Monday, in which the Bank of Hamilton sued John Hunstein, a farmer near Mildmay, for $146 on a promissory note which Hunstein is alleged to have given the Rex Sugar Co. for stock food. Hunstein denied signing the note, but admits giving an order to one Fielding, an agent of the company, who sold him the stock food. He claimed also that the stock food had never been delivered and he had got no value for it. The jury which sat on the case found on questions submitted by Judge Klein that Hunstein did sign the note, but that he never intended to do so, and that it was consequently obtained by fraud. On these answers the judge gave judgment in favor of the defendant with costs. The bank, it appears, had made certain cash advances to the sugar company on the strength of this note, and as the company has since gone out of business the bank in all probability will be out the money.—Herald.

The new C. P. R. bridge about to be flung across the Saugeen at the bend near Walkerton will be an exceptionally fine one. The structure, which is being brought from Peterboro, is a $27,900 steel one, a three span affair which will be placed on two massive cement abutments and will be able to withstand the spring freshets without recourse to the old dynamite bombardment. It is expected that the old spike bridge will be removed and the new one in place before winter.

Owen Sound

Mrs. Tebbutt of Berkeley who was so seriouly burned last Tuesday in a brave attempt to save her small child from the flames which consumed her home is, this morning, very low and no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

On Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock the young son of Mr. Peter McGill 1549 Seventh Ave. E., met with a serious and painful accident by which he lost part of the thumb and the forefinger of his left hand. The boy who is about 13 years of age had been walking around Hazelton's stone quarries and had picked up an explosive cap which is used in the quarries for blasting purposes. The boy thought it was a bachelor's button and bringing it into the house, began to pick at it with his pocket-knife. The cap, which contained nitro-glycerine exploded, blowing the top off the boy's thumb and shattering the foreting down to the second joint. Mrs. McGill, the boy's mother, was in the same room reading at the time and the force of the explosion was such that the piece of the thumb was blown across the room and fell on her knee. Mr. McGill was asleep in another room and hearing the noise woke up. Dr. Hershey was sent for and he found that it would be necessary to amputate the thumb at the first joint. Dr. Rutherford was also summoned and the operation was performed at once.—Sun.

The Late Mrs. Walton

Death once more called one of our highly esteemed neighbors in the person of Mrs. Harriet Walton, who died at her home near Kimberley on Oct, 21 at the age of 73 years, and was laid to rest on Wednesday, the 23rd, beside the remains of her late husband, who preceded her nearly six years ago. The deceased lady has had poor health for a number of years, mainly heart trouble but for seven months she was confined to her bed from a complication of diseases and suffered a great deal. Death came as a great relief to her, who was an earnest christian. She will long be remembered by all who knew her. She was a kind and loving mother and leaves to mourn her loss four sons and four daughters, namely: John of Holland Centre, Hugh at Summerland B. C., Fred at Sault Ste. Marie, Henry at home, Miss Lucy at home, Mrs. John Alexander at Thornbury, Mrs. Robert Wright of Clarksburg, Mrs. H. R. Stafford of Kimberley. Two sons, Robert and Thomas, died some years ago. Deceased was born and grew to womanhood near Barrie, where two sisters still live. Her maiden name was Miss Harriet Smith. The funeral was conducted by S. Trotter of Kimberley, assisted by Rev. J. R. Wilkinson of Holland Centre, a former pastor. A large number of sympathising friends gathered to pay their last tribute to one who was held in the highest esteem by all.

Coldwater is a local option town which suffered for proper hotel accomodation for a time after the measure went into effect. About two months ago the Women's Institute opened a house that has improved the situation. This is certainly a radical though none the less praiseworthy move on the part of the women. That house ought to be well patronzed by thoroughly satisfied patrons, if the general principles of the Institute are put into practical effect.

Unanimous Verdict

Newspaper publishers and citizens generally throughout the Dominion are unanimous in their opinion that the picture entitled "Mother's Treasures," given with The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, this season, is a most delightful and beautiful subject. Here is the opinion of the publisher: "Mother's Treasures," is a marvel of beauty. The subject is one that will have a tendency to strengthen home ties. We, in the same business, wonder how you can afford to give such value in pictures besides the vast amount of good things in The Family Herald and Weekly Star." Signed E. W. Richards, The Mirror, Millbrook. No home in Canada should be without this beautiful picture. One dollar pays a full year's subscription to The Family Herald and Weekly Star, including the picture, which is ready for framing, size 23 by 29 inches. It is a big dollar's worth, indeed.
