THE TWO WAYS

The lawyer thus illustrates the language of his craft: "If a man were to give another an orange he would simply say: 'Have an orange.' But when the transaction is intrusted to lawyer to be put in writing he adopts this form: 'I hereby give and convey to you, all and singular, my estate and interests, right, title, claim and advantages of and in said orange together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pips,and all rights and advantages therein with full power to bite, cut suck and otherwise eat the same or give the same away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pips, anything thereinbefore or hereinafter or in any deed or deeds, instrument r instruments of whatever nature or kind withsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.' And then another lawyer comes along and takes it away from you.
