The temperature during the past week has been decidedly high and we have been perilously near losing our sleighing. January has given us remarkably mild weather this year, more like spring weather than anything we have seen for many a year. Where the snow has gone on the fields the grass presents quite a green appearance.

Mr. A. S. Hurlburt of Caron, Sask. called on friends here Friday last. Mr Hurlburt left Kimberley some thirty years ago and is classed as one of the successful Westerners. He was on his way to Ottawa to purchase a herd of dairy cattle and dropped off here on his way. The Advance man regrets deeply that he was out when Mr. Hulburt called, the latter having been a school chum of ye editor.

Mr. Andrew Gilchrist of Ceylon informs The Advance that on Friday last his children, while coming from school, saw a very lively snake on business bent making his way—probably towards a frog pond. This is something unheard of in January, so far as we know. Some say it denotes an early spring. We think ourselves that it merely means the reptile has been wakened from his slumbers by spring-like conditions and came out to see if the frogs were croaking. Any foolhardy snake that [illegible] the dodge is likely to [illegible]

We wish to call our readers' attention to the new advertisement of the Northern Business College, Owen, Sound, Ont. The management of this school has been continuous since 1881, when the present Principal, C. A. Fleming, F.C.A. founded the school. Students, each term, travel thousands of miles to attend their classes. The college building was enlarged a few years ago and they are having a record attendance this year.

This promises to be a very interesting entertainment. Don't miss it. Admission25 and 15 cents.

Mrs. Bunt Passes Away

A sorrowful hush spread over this village on Sunday morning last when it was learned that Mrs. W. H. Bunt had passed away about 4 a. m. On Tuesday of last week she was stricken with something in the nature of an epileptic stroke, just what the doctors were undecided. Three doctors and a trained nurse were engaged on the case, but in spite of skill and the ministration of loving hands the angel of death was victorious and the spirit took its departure from the clay after forty-eight hours of total unconsciousness. The church bells were silent throughout the day and the Methodist Sabbath school, in which the deceased lady was a teacher, and whose husband is superintendent, was withdrawn.

Mrs. Bunt was an indefatigable worker in the church through the W.M.S., Ladies' Aid and Sabbath school, and her departure is mourned by all her associates, as well as by the citizens at large, with whom her kindly nature was the open sesame to every heart. She was born at Paisley, Ont., forty-six years ago last August, her maiden name being Maggie Burton. Most of her life until her marriage was spent at Woodbridge. She was a daughter of the late Wm. Burton of that place. Besides the stricken husband, Mrs. Bunt leaves three young children—Lilian, aged 14; Florence, aged 12, and Frankie, 9. She also leaves behind her mother, two brothers and a sister—Neil, Gideon and Mary Burton.

The Methodist church on Monday afternoon was crowded to the doors with a sympathetic audience who listened to a feeling acdress by the pastor, Rev. H. E. Wellwood, B.A., B.D., who said the occasion required no sermon—the deceased's whole life was a sermon. Rev. Dr. Caldwell of Owen Sound, a former pastor, also spoke a few words in praise of the deceased lady's unselfish and kindly disposition. The bier was adorned with a wealth of beautiful flowers including a magnificent wreath from the Chosen Friends, of which Mrs. Bunt was a member; a spray from the Presbyterian Sunday school, a beautiful wreath from the Methodist Ladies' Aid, a pillow from the Methodist Sunday school, a spray from the Women's Institute and a quantity of flowers donated by private individuals.

The Presbyterian and Methodist Sabbath schools and the public and high schools all attended at the church in a body, showing the universal esteem and love in which Mrs. Bunt was held by all people and classes. The remains were taken by the evening train for interment at Woodbridge, in the family plot.

The James Cornfield

Of the late James Cornfied, who died in Kansas recently, the Kirwin Kansan says:

James Cornfield was born in Ireland, July 12, 1830 and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alexander Barron, in Kirwin, Kansas, December 22, 1912. age 82 years, 5 months and 10 days.

His father died when he was a child. He came to America with the family when he was thirteen years old and settled in Ontario, Canada. At about twenty years of age he was married to Jane Wallace and together they blazed their way through the forest to a piece of land which they converted into a farm on which they lived for fifty years and where was born to them a family of twelve children, eight of whom survive. At the death of his wife he came to Kirwin, about eleven years ago, and has since made his home with Mrs. Alexander Barron, his oldest child. So long as the family can remember he has been an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church in the little church which he helped to build on the corner of the home farm. When he came to Kirwin, he transferred his membership to the Kirwin M. E. church and his life was one of simple faith and his personality and exemplification of the Gospel good [illegible] without a murmur or

Wodehouse

Too Late For Last Week.

Death has again visited this neighborhood, this time claiming for its victims two in one family. Last week we mentioned little Archie McNevin as being very low with diphtheria. The little fellow passed away the following Thursday and was interred in New England cemetery the following morning. Two other members of the family, Rena, Archie's sister, and his cousin, Pearle, also fell ill of the dreaded disease, but it was thought the doctor had checked it and, with the attendance of two trained nurses, they were reported as recovering slowly. But on Friday morning word spread around that Pearle had passed away, heart failure closing in at last. Everyone was awe-stricken, for Pearle was a young girl only twenty years of age, a League worker and a general associate with all the young people's gatherings and in the Sunday school, where she took an active part. She had spent the past three months as the mainstay of the family. Rena is still improving and it is hoped that nothing more will develop. The McNevin children, four in all, whose mother was a sister of Mrs. Thompson, died some four years ago, and they had been making their home with their aunt, little Archie being an infant when she took them. The mother, two sisters and a brother survive the deceased, namely Mrs. S. Wiley of this place, Ed. and Stewart in the West, and Lou and Ida at home. The funeral took place to New England cemetery on Saturday, this being the fourth funeral from that home in two years, that of Mrs. T's mother included. The heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended to the grief-stricken family in their double hour of sorrow. Truly it is said one trouble never comes alone.

Mrs. J. J. Cherry has gone to Toronto for medical treatment.

Miss Carrie Kernahan of Feversham has been engaged as teacher in our public school here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McArthur and the Misses Nettie and Ella entertained the Epworth League on New Years evening. The regular League meeting was taken the first part of the evening after which the remainder of the evening was spent in games and music.

Married—In Meaford, on Jan. 8, 1913, Mr. Will Brown to Miss Maud Thompson, both of this place. We offer congratulations.

Lumber drawing is the order of the day through here, with Kimberley and Wodehouse teams all in the route.

East Grey Ag'l Society

East Grey Agricultural Society held its annual meeting on Friday afternoon last in the town hall. The treasurer's report showed the society to be in good order with a surplus on hand of $30 08 after paying all prizes in full. The officers appointed for the ensuing year embraces considerable new blood, which it is hoped will result in added efficiency and prosperity for the fair. The officers are as follows:

President, Chas. Stewart; 1st Vice President, A. Harrison; 2nd Vice President, F. Brown; Secretary, S. Shunk; Treasurer, W. Buskin; Directors—D. McTavish, W. Paton, R. Allen, Geo. Walter, L. Fisher, W. H. Bunt and Fred Stuart. Auditors—Jos. Blackburn and W. J. Bellamy.

The date of the next fall fair was set for October 7 and 8. The meeting for revising the prize list will be held on Mach 1.

Votes of thanks were tendered the retiring President and Secretary, which were suitably responded to.
