Railway Wreck Near Hanover

A deliberate attempt was made on Monday night to ditch the Grand Trunk passenger train near Hanover. A large piece of steel was fastened to one of the rails. There were two locomotives on the train and when they struck the obstacle they were thrown from the tracks and plowed over the road bed, ripping up the ties for some distance. Engineer Grieves immediately applied the emergency brakes and shouted to the engineer in charge of the other engine to follow his example. Owing to the speed, however, both engines were carried forward by the momentum, and the efforts of the two men to stop them were vain. After running for some distance the locomotives leaped from the tracks and jumped into the ditch. A peculiar feature of the wreck is that they alighted right side up and did not turn turtle. It was owing this that the engine crews escaped with their lives. Three coaches also jumped with the engines. The casualty list is as follows :

Charles Argue, fireman, London, head and body seriously cut and suffering from internal injuries ; probably fatal.

A. E. Warning, fireman, London, hip fractured.

T. H. Hill, conductor, London, head and body injured.

J. Grieves, engineer, London, badly cut and shaken up.

W. Harris, baggageman, London, wrist broken and body injured.

T. E. Thompson, brakesman, London, head cut and badly bruised.

George Cole, news agent, Chesley, elbow broken and badly injured internally.

C. E. Behin, passenger, Chiswick, wrist sprained.

S B. Halliday, passenger, wrist sprained.

V. E. Patterson, passenger, Shallow Lake, cut and bruised.

Mrs. Thos. Lever's little driver had the misfortune of getting badly kicked about five weeks ago. Having just recovered from this injury she corked herself on the front foot last week and is now unable to be driven.

Durham

We regret very much to report a serious accident that happened to Mr. George Ryan, Sr. one of our most esteemed citizens. While carrying out some ashes on Friday evening last, he slipped on the ice and fell so suddenly that his hip was badly injured. We understand the bone was fractured at or near the joint, and the old gentleman, who is nearly seventy-four years of age, is in a serious condition. The death of a son only a short time ago, together with other troubles, seemed a sufficient burden, without the personal affliction he is now forced to endure. Though advanced in years, he was a smart, active man, and we hope soon to see him recover his usual activity. Everyone who knows Mr. Ryan will regret to learn of his misfortune.—Chronicle.

The Bond Head Methodist church was destroyed by fire the origin unknown. The church was built just twenty years ago and was valued at $6000. There was $2: 00 insurance on the property.

A few from here attended the carnival at Rocklyn on Friday evening last.

Mr. Lance Hutchinson has been securing his summer's supply of ice for dairy purposes. Ice and creamery cans will soon be a thing of the past.

Born—On February 9, 1913, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Bridge, a son.

The five square timber men who were taking out timber for Mr. John Hutchinson of Markdale, in his bush here, have completed their contract and left on Friday morning last for another job in the vicinity of Flesherton or thereabouts.

The funeral sermon of the late Pearle Thompson and little Archie McNevin, who died of diphtheria some six weeks ago, will take next Sunday afternoon. Owing to bad weather and roads it has been left off till this late date. The Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Holland Centre is expected to be here to take part in the service.

Walkerton

Three thousand dollars was subscribed to erect a new skating rink in Walkerton. It will be 155 feet long by 45 wide.

The C. P. R. made a hot threat last week to cut out Walkerton altogether and make Hanover its terminus if the town did not get busy and approve of the plans for the new iron bridge. Needless to say the town complied. The Herald and Times says : "It is to be hoped that the railway that came into Walkerton without a bonus and was later stuck for nearly $12,000 flood damages here, of which many live who still doubt its responsibility for, may hereafter have smooth sailing in town."

Mr. Urban Schmidt, cattle dealer of Mildmay, was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate James Tolton here last week for using grossly insulting and abusive language towards Andrew Oberle, drover of Walkerton.

Mr. J. B. Stephens, a former publisher of the Walkerton Telescope, was instantly killed at Niagara Falls, Ont., by being knocked down by a G.T R. switch engine, as he was crossing the east track to the street at the east end of the station.

While working at the new C. P. R. bridge Tony Mack, a Pollock, had four ribs broken in a peculiar manner on Tuesday afternoon. At the time of the mishap he was suspended in the air adjusting some ropes on a huge derrick, when the large arm of the machine suddenly swung around and carried him forcibly against a big projecting timber on the bridge, staving in two ribs on each side of his spinal column and completely separating them from his backbone. The injured man was hurried to the hospital, where at present he is under the care of Dr. Sinclair. Although in a critical condition, hopes are entertained for his recovery.

In Memoriam

MACINTYRE—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sara (MacArthur) McIntyre, who departed this life March 1st, 1906, late of Priceville, Ont.

Sleep on, dear mother, take thy rest,
Thy willing hands shall toil no more,
On earth there's sorrow, in heaven there's rest ;
We loved you, mother, but God loved you best.

—Daughter Tena.

Was An Osprey Pioneer

John Macdonald Tupper, who was operated upon at the General and Marine hospital, Owen Sound, about four weeks ago, died in that institution on Wednesday of last week at the age of 74 years. Deceased had been in poor health for the past four years and was a sufferer for the greater part of that time. The late Mr. Tupper was born in Port Hope in 1839, and moved with his parents to Osprey township in the early fifties and settled on the farm just south of Maple Valley now owned by John Taylor. The Osprey postoffice, now called Maple Valley, was kept by the Tupper family for many years until the late James Gibson was appointed postmaster about 1865. The deceased, after leaving Osprey township, lived in London until he moved to Lake Charles in Keppel township, where he resided for 38 years. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Martha A. Reed of London, and two sons, Archelaus Tupper, merchant and postmaster at Lake Charles, and Reuben Tupper, near Lake Charles. The funeral was held on Saturday last to Oxenden cemetery.

The Tupper family was among the first settlers in that part of Osprey along with the Armours, Armitages, Badjeros, Browns, Davidsons, Gibsons, Hays, Inglis, Lawrs, Mitchells, Marshalls, McLeans, McKenzies, McKinnons, Sandilands, Stivers, Smiths, Spanhouses, Stewarts, Timleys, Tedfords and Woods families. There are only a few representatives of the old families now residing in the locality.—Shelburne Free Press.

Ed. Robson did a stunt on Monday that qualifies him for a polar trip, if any explorer wants a capable packer. On a wager he carried a 100-lb bag of flour from Monticello in twelve minutes less than three hours, the time given for the feat and won the money. It sure was some back tester, almost as good as beating carpets, or carrying in the seasons wood supply.—Grand Valley Star.
