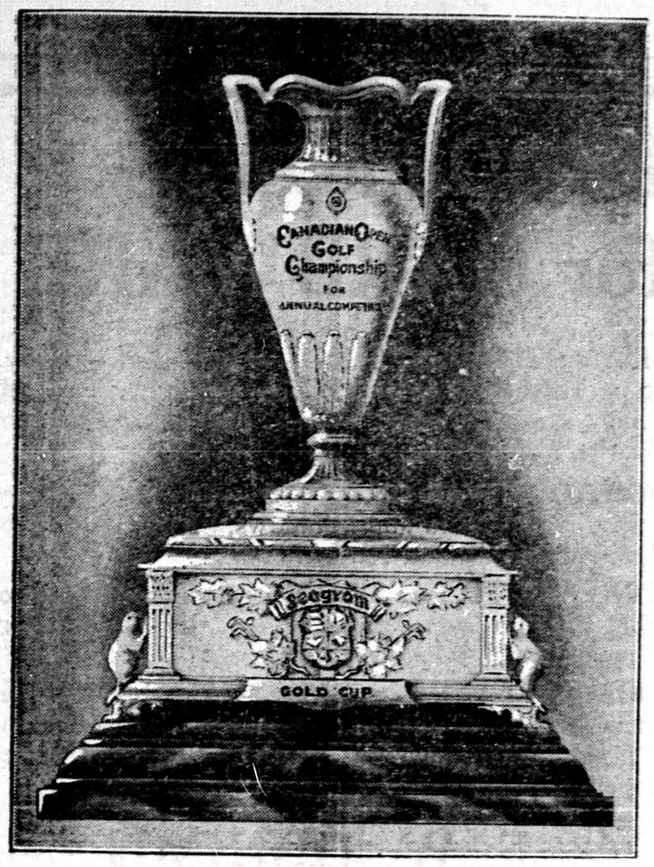
International Golfers Compete For Seagram Gold Cup



Emblem of Canadian Golfing Supremacy
Presented to the R.C.G.A. in 1936 by The House of Seagram

At Lambton Golf Club, outside of Toronto, on the 7th, 8th and 9th of August, the Canadian Open Golf Championship is holding its 1941 tournament. World famous golfers, during these three days, will compete for the highest honor in Canadian golfing history, for the winner of this tournament this year will have his name inscribed on the Scroll of Honour within the Seagram Gold Cup, which was presented six years ago to the Royal Canadian Golf Association by The House of Seagram, for annual competition.

Since the cup was presented in 1936, the names of the most famous American golfers have been inscribed on the parchment scroll. First there was Lawson Little, then "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper; in 1938 Sam Snead — and in 1939 Harold "Jug" McSpaden; then in 1940, Sam Snead again.

Since the Seagram Trophy was presented, there has probably never been in the annals of Canadian golf history such a gathering of world famous golfers as there has been in these Canadian Open Golf tournaments. Players who have made golfing history in many countries of the world have taken part in this tournament.

The cup itself stands twenty-two inches from the bottom of the base to the top of the cup. It was designed by the same firm which, in 1897, made the beautiful casket which Torontonians may still remember was presented by the City of Toronto to Queen Victoria, on the occasion of her Diamond Jubilee. One of the features of the cup is that its outstanding design, workmanship and materials are one hundred per cent Canadian. Standing on a massive base of onyx is the gold casket within which is the parchment scroll, where the names of the winners are inscribed from year to year. This design is similar to the one sent to Queen Victoria. The gold casket is mounted on heavily chased silver feet and at the four corners, heavy Corinthian columns. Beavers act as supporters of the casket and the Coat of Arms of Canada, beautifully executed, appears on the front. Surmounted on this base, is the Seagram Cup itself, also Grecian in design and made of gold.

The cup is of exceptional design, with a beauty that is seldom seen in athletic trophies.

There will be many thousands of people following, with great interest, the performances of Canada's most famous golfers as well as the golfers from the United States and other countries, who are competing now in this tournament. Anywhere on the course, during these three days, such names as Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, Ray Mangrum, Lex Robson, Sam Kerr, Bobby Gray — and many other equally famous golfers will be seen making record-breaking rounds in competition with one another, for the honor of winning the Canadian Open Championship for 1941 and the Seagram Gold Cup.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

1. Why should the bride cut the wedding cake?

2. If a man meets a girl acquaintance in a restaurant and he sits at the same table, is it obligatory that he offer to pay her check?

3 When registering at a hotel, is it all right for a woman to sign her name, "Dorothy Smith"?

4. In scoial correspondence, is it right to use envelopes that are a different color than the letter paper?

5 If you have a secretary or maid call a person is it permissible to keep that person waiting until you come to the telephone?

6 Please suggest some refreshments to serve at a garden party.

ANSWERS

1. During the last course of the wedding breakfast. If she wishes she may cut only the first piece, letting one of her attendants cut the rest.

2. No; this is not at all necessary, and the girl should not expect it.

3 No; she must always prefix the "Miss" or "Mrs."

4. No; envelopes must exactly match and fit the letter paper with which they are used.

5. No; while this may be saving your time, it is wasting the other person's.

6. Dainty sandwiches, salads, cakes, candy, cold beverages or tea.

Corks may be made air and water tight by being immersed in oil for five minutes. A cork will fit any bottle if boiled for five minutes previously.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make an indelible stencil ink?

A. Mix two parts sulphate of manganese, one part lampblack, four parts sugar (all in powder form). Then make a paste by adding a little water.

Q. How can I keep moths out of my rugs?

A. Sponging the rugs with hot water, to which a little turpentine has been added, will drive out and keep out moths.

Q. How can I treat an insect bite that has become inflamed?

A. Cover the inflamed area of the bite with a paste made of equal parts of soda and salt, moistened with warm water. Hold the paste in place with a tight bandage.

Q. How can I protect the colored clothes from running when in the wash tub?

A. Put a handful of salt into a good-sized bowl of cold water. Let the garment soak in this for about a half-hour. Then wash with warm water (not too hot) and soap suds. If you should see a little color coming out, rinse in cold water and salt.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a longer period?

A. Eggs can be kept fresh for a longer time than ordinarily if butter or glycerine is rubbed thoroughly over them.

One-Minute Test

1. What is the difference between a dove and a pigeon?

2. In which of Charles Dickens' novels is found the phrase, "I'll never desert Mr. Micawber?"

3. Was the Roman Coliseum standing at the time of Christ?

ANSWERS

1. There is no scientific distinction, but the smaller form of this group of birds are usually called doves, such as the turtle, ring, ground and scaled doves.

2. "David Copperfield."

3. No, it was not built until 80 A.D.

- HAVE - YOU HEARD?

A clergyman noticed a woman named Mrs. Parker, whom he much disliked, coming up his front steps. Taking refuge in his study, he left his wife to entertain the caller.

Half an hour later he emerged from his retreat, listened carefully on the landing, and, hearing nothing below, called down to his wife: "Has that horrible old bore gone?"

The woman was still in the drawing room, but the minister's wife proved equal to the occasion.

"Yes, dear," she called back. "She went long ago! Mrs. Parker is here now."

"So you married that plump little girl who used to giggle so much?"

"Yes. I always did believe in a short wife and a merry one."

A widower, confronted by the sad task of looking over the belongings of his deceased wife, decided that the only thing he would preserve was a hat which he had always admired and in which she had always looked "so sweet." It was placed carefully on a shelf and not disturbed until discovered by wife number two, who inquired about it and was told it was preserved in memory of his first wife.

After a time his second choice was gathered to her fathers, and again the bereaved man selected one of her hats in which she, like the first had always looked "so sweet." This was placed beside the first hat.

Time healed the second wound and a third wife as introduced to his household. She, too, was inquisitive when she found the millinery and asked questions.

The husband explained that the hats had beonged to her predecessors and were kept as mementoes.

"That's all right," she replied. "But the next hat that goes up there is going to be a bowler."

Vacation time is when a wife can get a trunkful of stuff into a suit case.—Kitchener Record.

Sergeant (taking the particulars of the recruit)—And when were you born?

Recruit—December 1917.

Sergeant (musing)—Ah I well remember that winter. It was bitterly cold.

Recruit—Cold. I'll say it was cold. I was brought by a penguin—the stork couldn't make it.

Canadian National Railways Revenues

The gross revenues for the all-inclusive Canadian National Railways for the week ending July 21, 1941, were $5,845,216, as compared with $4,907,208 for the same period of 1940, an increase of $938,008, or 19.1 per cent.

Count the Babes Then Label Them

Adhesive tape and red nail polish having failed them, Mr. and Mrs. Bley Fees of Weston, Mo., U.S.A., are depending on bracelets to help them tell their month-old triplet daughters apart. At first the babies were labelled 1, 2 and 3 with strips of adhesive on their feet. The tape peeled off. Then red nail polish was applied to one finger on No. 1, two fingers on 2, etc. It chipped away. Now Joyce Fay has a bracelet with one bead; Judy May one with two, and Janice Kay one with three.

Bomb Mechanism Shown at C. N. E.

In the Electrical and Engineering Building will be Displayed Interesting Mechanism for Releasing Bombs.

Canadians have read for many months of the bombing of London and other British and European cities, but few have ever had the opportunity of seeing the intricate mechanism in the modern bomber which carries the bombs and sends them hurtling earthward at the touch of a button. In the 17,500 square feet of display space allotted to the exhibit of the Department of Munitions and Supply in the Electrical and Engineering Building at this year's Canadian National Exhibition, C. N.E. officials announce, such a mechanism will be mounted on a special frame so that visitors will be able to see exactly how the release is operated.

Revolving Gun Turret

In the same display a revolving gun turret, similar to that used in the big Canadian-built Bolingbroke bomber, will be in operation. There will be, it is stated, an actual Bolingbroke bomber on exhibition outside the Electrical and Engineering Building, the giant being much too large to admit to the inside display. Visitors will be shown at first how the turret is turned hydraulically at a touch of the controls and how the machine gun within the turret is brought to bear on its target.

It is emphasized that secrecy will surround certain of the operations within the Department of Munitions and Supply war production plant, where bombs, Bren guns and other war supplies will be made at the Exhibition. Most of the production of war supplies, however, carried on by a large staff of men and women workers, will be on full view. The workers will come from munitions plants throughout the country and every article produced at the Exhibition will go to the assembly plants.

Preliminary statistics place the value of Canada's output of chemicals and allied products in 1940 at $184,152,867, an increase of 15 per cent over 1939.

What Science Is Doing

—o—

LIQUID-FILLED TIRES

Tires 100% liquid-filled, to weigh down the structurally light rear end of tractors, provide better traction. The 15% solution of calcium chloride in water will not freeze above—20°, reduces bouncing and sidewall buckling, requires little care because water will not diffuse through an inner tube as air does. The liquid distributes pressure to all parts of the tire, unlike a solid filler.

—o—

BREATH-DISTILLED WATER

Dean A. Burstall of the faculty of engineering at Melbourne University, Australia, has perfected an apparatus that distills pure water from the human breath. It can be used to prolong the life of people who are facing death from thirst such as in desert crossing or mine disasters.

WARM FLYING SUITS

Electrically heated flying suits have been so perfected that the U.S. Army Air Corps has ordered 12,000 of them. In developing the suits, a Flying Fortress crew last winter flew 10,000 feet up over Alaska in—30° weather, dressed only in long woollen underwear through which electrical coils were woven. The new suits are lighter and cheaper than the sheepskin garments now used, and they leave a flier nimbler at his controls and guns. Heat can be adjusted for outside temperatures from 70° to —60°, can be increased to protect injured fliers from shock and pneumonia. An electrically heated uniform of a German flier shot down over England, was found to be so inefficient as to be nigh worthless.

Rail Man's Watch Must Be Accurate

"If you want to know the time, ask a policeman," ran an old comic, but if accurate information is desired a railwayman would prove a better source. All employees of the operating department of the Canadian National Railways must have an inspector pass on their watches every two weeks. Men concerned in train operations are instructed not to reset their own watches, that task is the responsibility of the inspector. The rules limit the variation to thirty seconds in seven days, but in actual practice owing to improved timepieces and the continuous checking the variation is far less.
