VICINITY CHIPS

Mrs. Hodgson of Whitfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. Karstedt.

Miss May Jamieson left on Monday to visit relatives at Shoal Lake, Man.

Born—at Proton Station, April 22nd, to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lyons, a son.

Born,—On April 28th, at 455 Wellesley St., Toronto, to Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Gamey, a son.

Mrs. Homan returned Friday from her daughter's, Mrs. Chard of Markdale, where she spent the winter.

The Maxwell Methodist Sunday School will hold their annual anniversary on July 1st, particulars later.

Mr. Geo. Watson has moved his portable sawmill to Dornoch. He recently purchased a practically new mill

Mrs. I. H. Perigoe of Feversham spent a few days during the past week with her daughter, Mrs. A. Stewart.

Messrs. George and Esdale Walter and W. Walters left last week for Parry Sound district to do some mining work.

Mr. John Boyd returned home Tuesday evening from the West, where he has been for the past five weeks on a prospecting trip.

Mrs. John McFarlane, late of Durham, died recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arch. Boyd, in Toronto. The remains were interred at Durham on Wednesday of last week.

The Baltimore oriole arrived Sunday morning, May 3, this year, and wakened the sleepers in the early morning with his cheery whistle. He was two days ahead of time this year. Last year his arrival was chronicled on May 6.

Mr. Arnold Thurston was home for a few days during the past week. Arnold left Wednesday for Hudson Bay Junction in North Saskatchewan to put in the summer with a government survey party in the Pasque Hills.

The mail train Monday was a couple of hours late owing to a run-off of the Winnipeg express near Woodbridge. The fireman, who was the only person seriously injured, was badly scalded, and died in the hospital.

The Southland Serenaders sang to a good sized audience in the auditorium of the high school on Saturday evening and gave a very pleasing entertainment. The evening was not suitable for a large attendence, still the proceeds amounted to $45. The visit of these talented people was under the auspices of the hockey boys.

A brood of about 25 Dagoes or Mexicans or something in the form of disreputable looking foreign humanity launched itself upon the longsuffering natives of this village on Thursday last and proceeded to do us all up to the king's taste by telling fortunes and grasping anything moveable that could be carried off. The individuals were a dirty looking lot. Fortunately they did not stay long—but too long. The smell is nearly all gone now.

The annual school examinations will be on shortly and pupils are getting their nerves in shape for the ordeal. Principal White of the high school informs The Advance that he will have 22 candidates from the lower form and 11 from the upper. Out of these there are only fifteen in the lower school recommended, however, but the others want to try.

The service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening last took rather a unique form in that the usual sermon was dispensed with and a service of Scripture readings and sacred song by the Southland Serenaders took its place. The church was crowded with a very appreciative audience. A bass solo by Mr. Morgan, "Angel Land," was especially worthy of special mention. Mr. Morgan has a wonderful voice under marvelous control, and this solo alone was worth going a long way to hear.

Mrs. Flynn spent Sunday with her son in Berkeley.

Brigadier Adly, the Divisional Commander of the Salvation Army, will visit Feversham on the 17th of May, under whose leadership special meetings will be held in the S. A. hall on Saturday night at eight o'clock, Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, night at 7.30; Lady Bank at three p. m. Miss Hustler is assisting until May 13.

The pastor of the Methodist church will speak next Sabbath evening on "Mother's Day," giving a special message to mothers. The second Sunday in May is set apart as "Mother's Day," and is observed in Canada, Europe, Australia Africa, Asia, Alaska, Mexico, Phillipine Islands, Fiji, Madagascar, Barbadoes and Palestine. The emblem of the day is a white carnation, that flower typifying the virtue of motherhood. Any white flower will help us to think of Mother. Wear a white flower and enter into the spirit of the day.

May Day came in this year all smiles and dimples, and pink sunshine, with temperature ranging between 75 and 80. The trout fishing season also arrived the same day and a number of waiting anglers let themselves loose. They were all successful too. Among those who brought in handsome catches were Mr. and Mrs. Will Armstrong and Mr. Mrs. Mark Wilson (the ladies may be said to have "skirted" the streams while the male portion waded in), and Messrs. O. Phillips and A. Hawkins. The Advance cuissine was also helped out with a few specimens of the spotted tit bits at breakfast table next morning.

A meeting to organize a Guild was held in the basement of Chalmer's church on Tuesday evening, April 28th, 1913, Rev. Mr. McVicar acting as leader. The pledge was read by Mrs. McTavish and Mrs. Wright, after which the officers were elected as follows: Pres., Miss Lilly Thistlethwaite; 1st. Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. Smith; 2nd. Vice Pres., Mrs. McVicar; 3rd. Vice Pres., Rev. Mr. McVicar; 4th Vice Pres., Mrs, Goldhawk; Rec-Secy., R. C. Walker; Cor.-Sec'y., Donald McVicar; Treas., Geo. Cairns; Organist, Mrs. Jos. Blackburn. Flower Com.—Vera Loucks, Muriel McTavish, Reta Buskin, Robt. Chard, Lawson Whitehead. Social Com.—Chas. Stewart, Lena Duncan, Ettie Thompson, Geo. Stewart, Mrs. McTavish, Mrs. Wright.

An Explanation

Editor of The Advance:

Dear Sir,—In your paper of May first a correspondence from "A Friend of Justice" from Owen Sound brands the Burks Falls Arrow as telling something untruthful. Now I know that it is your Owen Sound cor. that is not telling the truth. There were two hangings and your cor. has confused them, and he is wrong in both. I lived in the immediate neighborhood from 1850 until 1897 and I know whereof I speak. Years ago there lived in the township of Osprey a family, one of the boys of whom left home and was not heard from for some time. At length his folks heard that he was in jail in Buffalo charged with the murder of a young woman. His mother and sister went to see him and he denied that he was her son. It was thought that he was trying to spare them the great grief of thinking their son and brother was hung. A man at the trial swore point blank against him and he was hung on that man's evidence.

About 25 years afterwards as that man lay on his death bed, he confessed that he was the one that murdered the young woman and that the man who was hung knew nothing at all about it. He swore against the man in order to clear himself.

Cook Teat was hung for the poisoning of his wife and the evidence against him was given by his mother-in law. I lived a close neighbor to her for years and from my knowledge of her I would not hang my dog on her evidence, and she never confessed anything about the murder. She lost her reason some time before she died. It was generally believed that Teat was an innocent man and W. K. Flesher was confident that Teat was not guilty. Teat was the only man hung in Grey, and I hope there will be no more innocent hangings in Grey. It is a serious matter to hang a person if there is a doubt of his guilt. Yours respectfully

—THORPE WRIGHT.
