Henry Sterling of the Port Elgin brush and broom factory, was given two months in the Walkerton jail by Judge Klein on Tuesday for assaulting his foreman, whom he is alleged to have attacked and and broken three ribs when the latter undertook to dismiss him from service. The prisoner, who is an Englishman, appeared before Judge Klein some months ago, for the offence, but on account of the illness of his wife, sentence was deferred until May 6th, when he was again ushered before the Judge and committed to the cells for two months.

The neglect of the late James L. Lloyd formerly of Walkerton, and who built most of the cement sidewalks here, to make a will before his death has resulted in his widow losing $1,000 of insurance he intended her to have. Lloyd was married twice. During the lifetime of his first wife he took out a policy of insurance for $2,000 with the A. O. U. W. naming his wife and one daughter, Mary, as the beneficiaries. The wife predeceased him. He married again but failed to notify the company. On his death the daughter, who is now Mrs. Eli Birch, claimed the whole of the money. His Lordship Justice Middleton said he regretted to have to order the whole of the money to be paid to the daughter, but it was her statutory right.—Herald and Times.

Owen Sound

Last Thursday a small dog, tagging along after a woman who went up to Harrison Park for the afternoon, began to chase one of the deer the parks commission secured last fall. The little animal was so terrified that it rushed against one of the wire fences and with such speed that it broke right through the fence and took to the woods on the full bound. It apparently wandered all night and days following. On Monday someone saw the animal and the intelligence was conveyed to members of the parks commission and they took steps to have him brought back to the park. The deer was terribly lacerated and torn about the legs and lived a day or so after. This reduces the number of the deer the parks commission have in the park to three. They are taking steps to have all the dogs kept out of the park, as a deer is too costly an animal to have at the mercy of every cur that comes along and sends him scampering into the fence with which the park is surrounded. The members of the commission state that the deer was worth fifty dollars. The owner of the dog that was responsible will settle.—Times.

The Late S. Foster Heron

A correspondent sends The Advance a clipping from a western paper announcing the death of Mr. Foster Heron, who removed to the West from Osprey seven years ago. The clipping reads as follows:

Last week the Key West district lost one of its pioneers, in the person of Mr. S. Foster Heron, who died at his home on Sec. 20-8-22, on Friday, April 27th, after a painful illness of several months' duration, aged 53 years, 8 months and 10 days.

The funeral services were held in the Ogema Methodist church, on Monday afternoon, and were conducted by the Rev. A. Armstrong. A large number of residents of the town and district were present to pay their last respects to the deceased. Interment was made in Ogema cemetery.

Samuel Foster Heron was born in the township of York, county of York, Ontario. When he was two years old, the family moved to Osprey, Grey county, where he resided until he moved to the West.

In the year 1884 he was married to Miss Keziah Kernahan, of Osprey, who survives him.

About seven years ago, the deceased turned his eyes towards the golden West, and in the year 1906 he moved his family to McTaggart, Sask., where he resided for a year. From McTaggart he moved to Key West district where he resided till the time of his death.

The late Mr. Heron was the first postmaster of Key West, which position he has held since the office was opened. In religion the deceased was a consistent member of the Methodist church. He always took a keen interest in public affairs, and was independent in the exercise of his franchise.

Besides his widow, two sons and three daughters remain to mourn their loss, namely; Mrs. Hartley, of Key West; Clarence, Etta, Clara and Ernest, all at home. He is survived by his father, Mr. C. S. Heron.

Mr. Heron held a warm place in the hearts of the residents of the district, by whom he was regarded as a most estimable, upright and honorable citizen, and a model husband and father. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

No. 4. Co. of the 31st. Regt. will still be stationed in Durham, despite the reports a few weeks ago that it was to be transferred to Hanover, providing that at least a dozen volunteers can be recruited here. McLachan will likely go as lieutenants.

We wish Will everything good and will look for his safe return in the not too distant future, for he will be greatly missed, not only as a League Worker, but in the neighborhood in general.

Mr. Lucas is Prov. Treasurer

The Toronto world of Tuesday says:

Now that the legislature has come to a conclusion, the air again is full of rumors of changes in the provincial cabinet, which crop up every year. It was stated that the Hon. J. J. Foy, attorney general, would be appointed to the senate but this is not probable. Since the death of Hon. A. J. Matheson, his place has been occupied by Hon. I. B. Lucas, and there is every probability that Mr. Lucas appointment as provincial treasurer will be announced very soon. It was rumored that if Mr. Foy went to the senate Mr Hanna would become attorney-general, and Mr. Lucas would be appointed provincial secretary. This, however, will not come about just yet. There is every reason to believe, however, that Mr. Lucas will become permanent provincial treasurer, and that a by-election will be in South Grey on the same day as the one is held in the north riding, to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of A. G. MacKay.

Later—Mr. Lucas was sworn in on Tuesday. The eleceion is set for June 2.

Remains Were Petrified

Mr. John McDonald, a prominent C. P. R. contractor of West Toronto, was in Walkerton this week, and the remains of his parents, Mr. and Mrs McDonald, of Eden Grove, exhumed from the old Presbyterian cemetery here and removed to a plot in the present Walkerton cemetery. On opening the grave of his father only a few crumbled bones remained of the parental side of the house, but in the grave of his mother was discovered a stone image of her whose features he could never forget, and which might easily have been set up as a statute to her sainted memory. The head, face and body of the woman were featured so natural, that had the son not known that his mother had departed this life some forty-five years ago, he could easily have imagined that he was confronted by the living instead of the stone image of his parent. It was one of the most remarkable instances of human petrification ever known in history, and were it not that Mr. McDonald doesn't care to have the sainted image of his mother placed on exhibition for the gaze of the curious, the stone corpse might readily occupy a place and command attention in some great museum in the land. It took the united efforts of four able-bodied men to lift the human rock from the ground and place it in its new grave in the Walkerton cemetery.—Bruce Herald and Times.
