Helping Young Men

It is interesting to note that the Young Men's Christian Association is advancing another step in their great work of assisting young men. They are constantly reaching out far beyound the bounds of their immediate membership, and are now doing a work which encircles the world in its effort to give the helping hand to any young men needing assistance.

A new department of the work recenty organized in the Toronto Central Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is one which should be known to every one. It is a co-operative effort between the Christian churches and the Young Men's Christian Association in which they unitedly undertake to look after all young men coming to Toronto as strangers, putting them in touch with employment, good rooming and boarding houses, proper companions and with prominent young men of the church, etc.

"Key-men" are being appointed in every church of Toronto, men who assume the responsibility of looking up young men whose names may be sent to them by the Secretary of the work. "Key-men" are also being appointed in outlying municipalities whose duty it is to notify the Secretary of the Inter-Community work of any young man leaving his home town and for whom he is to work, etc. Information is also being sent in from many other sources in Canada, United States and the British Isles as to young men coming to Toronto, and hundreds are already being looked after.

Parents and friends of young men going to Toronto will be glad to know of this important move on the part of the Y. M. C. A. and the churches, and will, no doubt, take the opportunity of of notifiying the Secretary of the Inter-Community work, Mr. E. F. Trimble, at the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, of ny friends going to Toronto to live.

We understand that, without any properly organized effort, the Central Branch of the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association has assisted in different ways more than 5,000 men during the year ending May 1st last, fully 1,000 of these being assisted in employment. That being the case, the possibilities for good in this new department, with the churches assisting in every way, are beyond calculation.

We are pleased to give this information to the public through the columns of our paper, knowing that by doing so we are assisting in one of the greatest movements the Young Men's Christian Association has ever undertaken.

Morbid to the Fore

Henry Love, the man in Owen Sound jail under sentence of having murdered his wife, will pay the penalty for his crime on Tuesday of next week, May 27, unless in the meantime the Department of Justice decides to commute the sentence. Mr. Wright, counsel for Love, interviewed the Minister of Justice at Ottawa last week on behalf the condemned man. The result of this interview is not known at time of writing. The Sun says:

It is evident that the Department is taking particular pains to get all possible information to this end. Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson, Chief Coroner of Toronto, Dr. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Hospitals and jails for Ontario and Dr. D. Phelan, of Kingston, were in town yesterday and examined Love at the jail. These experts will submit a report to the Department which will be taken into consideration, when the cabinet meets on the case Dr. Johnson, when asked by the Sun if he had anything to say, replied that he had nothing whatever to say for publication.

As an example of the morbid interest of the public in the Love case, Governor Miller has been beseiged with applications from hundreds of people, asking to be allowed to witness Love's hanging. Preparations are being made for the erection of the gallows on which Love is to hang but if the looked-for reprieve comes from Ottawa before May 27th, they will not be needed.

An annoymous letter recently arrived from Woodstock addressed to Love, in which the writer stated that Love was an innocent man and that the writer himself had committed the crime. The missive, of course did not reach Love.

The license commissioners of South Grey have refused to grant a beer and wine license to Wm. O'Mara of Dornoch. The hotel has been without a license for a year because certain improvements ordered by the license commissioner were not made. The Dornoch hotel is the last one on the list of country hotels which were so plentiful years ago when Grey and Bruce farmers teamed their wheat to Guelph which was their nearest market.

The Hydraulic Ram

To most people an hydraulic ram is a mystery. As a matter of fact, it is the most simple and efficient mechanical device for raising water by water power. This is probably what makes it seem so mysterious to those who have never seen a ram at work.

Pumping water by hydraulic ram makes a water-supply system far superior to any other except a gravity system. In some instances it is even better than gravity in matter of expense when a gravity supply requires a long line of pipes. A windmill must depend on the wind; a gasoline engine means continuous attention and expense for fuel; an hydrauliic ram costs nothing to operate, requires no attention, depends upon nothing but the source of supply.

Hydraulic rams are not only adaptable for pumping water for household purposes, but they can be used for delivering large quantities of water for irrigation, town water works, railroad tanks, etc. Where the least possible expense must be incurred for pumping water for any of these purposes, there is naturally a great demand for rams. This applies particularly to irrigation, as it enables the farmer to raise crops at a minimum cost per acre.

Hydraulic rams can derive the power for operating them from a spring, brook, flowing artesian well or river; and if the ram can be located at such a point that a constant stream of water can be supplied to it through a pipe having an incline or fall of three or more feet in a given distance, the conditions being such that the power water which escapes at the ram can be drained away, it is possible for the ram to deliver a steady stream of water to a point at an elevation thirty times the difference between the levels of the ram and the water supply. This stream of water, once started flowing, will continue without interruption, day and night, winter and summer, requiring no attention nor expense except for the renewal of rubber valves on the ram once every year or two. This is a trifling expense, as the valves cost but little.

The efficiency of a ram can be very great, reaching, under favorable conditions, 80 per cent or more. This means that the ram will pump more water to the same height than any other kind of engine which pumps water by means of water power.

The amount of water that may be pumped per day by such a ram is remarkable. It will pump as much as a quarter of a million gallons a day. If a delivery of two million gallons a day is required, a battery of rams can be installed. That is, two or more rams are placed side by side.

Where pneumatic pressure tanks are used instead of gravity tanks, rams will not only supply the water, but also maintain the air pressure up to 100 pounds, as may be desired.—Scientific Amerscan.

Baby Dies on Stage

Wiarton, May 19.—Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Adamsville, took passage at that place for Wiarton by the Lion's Head stage Saturday morning. She had with her a baby, which cried continuously through the greater part of the journey. Later the baby became very quiet, to the relief of the mother and other passengers.

The stage had nearly reached Wiarton when Mrs. Campbell happened to look at her baby, and suddenly exclaimed, "My goodness, baby is dead." The driver alighted, took the baby in his arms, and carried it to a house. A doctor was summoned, and pronounced that the child had died from heart failure.

New Methodist Body

Though the Methodist General Conference at Victoria, B. C., voted almost unanimously in favor of union with the Presbyterians, the minority opposed to that action are keeping up the fight.

They have changed the method of attack and have applied to the Dominion Senate for the incorporation of a new body to be called, "The Wesleyan Methodist Connexion." The leader of the revolt is Irwin Hilliard, of Morrisburg, who, as member of the conference, vigorously opposed the proposed union. The bill for incorporation has passed the second reading in the Senate, and has been referred to the committe on private bills.

The Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodists, when seen this morning, said that the conference had made representations to the Senate in opposition to the bill, but he was not prepared to give any further information for publication. He did not think, however, that the movement was at all serious. —Toronto Star.

Henceforth Issuers of Marriage Licenses and Clergymen are subject to a fine not exceeding $500, if they know or believe that either of the contracting parties is an idiot, insane or under the influence of liquor. The new law also provides that if neithr of the parties has lived in the town or district where they propose to be married for 15 days before the date set for marriage, their marriage must be published for three weeks in a local paper.
