mittee in England, an incident not only regrettable, but from my point of view most improper. I refer to the disclosures made in the letter of bishop Gravel, which has recently seen the light of day, a declaration made by no less a personage than the bishop of Nicolet, which throws a flood of light upon the means employed to influence the decision of the imperial privy council.

Understand me clearly, I do not in the least wish to asperse the character of the noble lords who rendered the decision, or noble lords who rendered the decision, or impute any motives save those which are honorable and just. Yet we have before us the declaration of the bishop of Nicolet that the church dignitaries of the province of Quebec, two thousand miles away from the province affected by the legislation of 1890, were not content to abide by the legal and constitutional methods devised and provided for setting such questions, but they had to resort to ways and means contrary to and inimical to the principles lying at the very foundation of British jurisprudence. Are we to understand that we are returning to the practices which in the past have been the practices which in the past have been the provocation of evils untild and struggles written on every page of mediaeval history? (Ories of "No," "No.") Are we to accept without protest this new system, or, rather, the old and the obsolete practices which we as British freemen have the productions of the productions of the practices which we are the productions of the productions of the production of the pr practices which we as British freemen have struggled so long to banish from our legal tribunals, and expunge from the constitution? (Loud cries of "No," "No.") For my part, I answer no, most emphatically no, and the great majority of the citizens of Canada will answer no when called upon to render their verdict. The bishop of Nicolet informs us that, to use his own words, "I am asked if the sacred congregation of the propaganda can usefully intervene to assist in the settlement ot this important question. It is certain ot this important question. It is certain that the sacred congregation can contribute assistance of great value to the bishops by giving them their support.

"But in what way can this sacred congregation accomplish this intervention?

"It might, perhaps, through the intervention of his eminence cardinal Yaughan, represent among other things to the colonial minister that his predecessor, Lord Carnarvon, had given in his own name, and in the name of her majesty the Queen, the assurance to the catholics in were successful, and the celebration ipsed all records. Upwards of ten parts of the surrounding country, in-light several hundred from Montreal. ht vanguard captured the city early in the morning, and the detachments kept the Queen, the assurance to the catholics of Manitoba that they should have their Jacques Cartier square, where dinner sprepared for them in the drill hall rain, which had been threatening, separate schools, and that, consequently, the crown is bound in honour to fulfill these solemn promises, if it does not wish to allenate the hearts of the eatholies of Manitoba. An intimation of this nature might have a good effect in reference to the judgment which the privy council will render within a few months upon the question which the Canadian govern-ment has submitted to it." and gorgeous sight as the various led unitorms and banners mingled in mous profusion. Shortly after two look the procession got under way. It

This deliberate attempt to influence a judicial decision would be characterized in ordinary cases as an attempt to get at the jury, and is very properly an indict-able offence. Such methods are not only reprehensible, but they are dangerous, as they tend to cloud with doubt the deci-sions of our highest tribunals, while at the same time the publication of the fa the bishop of Nicolet reveals the startling the bishop of Nicolet reveals the starting truth that the ecclesiastics of his church deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to deem it both wise and just to resort to practices which the common law of Canada not only torbids, but punishes as a felony. Without dwelling longer upon this incident, let me state to you briefly the attitude that I take in the present it was promptly announced to the direumstances on this question. The government, after the last decision of the i udicial committee, referred the question to Manitoba, as provided by the constituon, ordering the authorities of that province to restore the separate school In James Clarke, of Ottawa, P.G.M.

He was followed by as declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievances exist on the part of the minority they will be removed, although still insisting upon the maintenance unimpaired of the public school system. The Dominion government, as a consequence of the legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the concurrence of the legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the concurrence of the legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the concurrence of the legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the concurrence of the legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with the same time has intimated that if any real grievance with system in existence prior to 1890. The has pledged itself before parliament and the country to introduce legislation at the next session of parliament provided that in the meantime Manitoba does not make what is called a satisfactory settlement of the difficulty. Now, for my part, and I speak under a fall sense of the responsibility of my utterances, I have to say trankly, but firmly, that I favor the maintenance of a non-sectarian school system in Manitobo—(cheers) and that if our constitution permitted it I would advocate with the same fervor a membership.

The terrible injuries to his leg were due largely to the fact that at the moment of the collision it was jamed tight against the brake roo, and broke like a stick at the blow. GENTLEMEN.—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Fiux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Wild Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy.

Saturday afternoon at 2.47 car No. 444 of the Toronto railway company, with a trailer containing 150 pupils and teachers of Sackville-st. mission hall attached, collided with car No. 8 of the Scarboro line, better known as the "Lalla Rookh." The scene of the collision was just opposite the Cobley cottage, about 100 yards west of where the line turns down to Victoria park.

In front of the Cobley residence there is a curve in the track amounting to some 12 feet from the straight line and at its western end thick cedar trees shut off all view of the line tor a longer distance than The motormen of both cars say they

The vestibule of the front ear, carrying the Sackville-st. mission children, was filled with children as the two cars passed the Ontario house, but all, with the exception of two lads named James Stewart aged 11, son of Mrs. Sarah Stewart of 155 Sumach-st., and Frank Townsend aged 13, son of Henry Townsend of 185 Eastern-avenue, either jumped into the road, or pushed small sleeves and narrow skirts. This bit their way inside before the crash came. The front of the city car was completely shattered, and the two lads, with the motorman of 444, William Graham of 289 Logan-avenue, were buried in the debris. Accountant Robert H. Dunn of the Toronto type foundry, who resides at 375 Parliament-street, and is a teacher at the mission, was thrown on the road unconscious, and many of the pupils were more or less ahaken up. The cries of the terror-stricken children were appalling, and it was some minutes before anyone of intelligence does not necessarily clinch the doom of the balloon sleeves and the letter A skirts, but it will tend to make prudent investors wary of locking up much capital in those varieties.
