ARCHBISHOP CLEARY GROWING BROTHER.

Many of our readers will remember how in 1890 it was the very unpleasant duty of THE WARDER to endeavor to show not only Archbishop Cleary, but also the public generally the erroneous course that that gentleman was pursuing in regard to educational affairs. We then pointed out as one of the very many serious objections to separate schools, the injustice done young men and women of the Roman Catholic creed. They could not expect situations in the average public schools, and only the "Brothers" and "Sisters" could teach, as a rule, in the separate schools.

Some months later, in the fall of 1890, we had a public meeting with the famous archbishop in Kingston; and still later, during a trip in Quebec. On both of these occasions it was our pleasing task to endeavor to show the archbishop the error of his course; while he pursued a similar course towards us. Finally, we proposed that he and we should jointly found a new church along lines laid down by the writer, two of the chief characteristics of which should be (1) that each member should use his own judgment and reason, and not follow the dictates of "high priests"; and (2) that all moneys collected should be expended not in erecting monuments to superstition and tyranny, but in giving employment to the people and in blessing and not in impoverishing humanity.

Some weeks ago it was our privilege to meet the archbishop again. Since 1890 his course has been growing broad, temperate and fairly progressive. All the time we had been flattering ourselves the improvement was at least partly due to our influence. But, lo, and behold, had not Kingston's noted prelate been taking motion to his heart over the change he had wrought in us; for no attacks on him had appeared in THE WARDER since 1890.

Correspondence recently published in the leading dailies proves that as far back as 1893 Archbishop Cleary took very decided ground in backing up the trustees of Kingston separate schools in the removal of the "Christian Brothers" and the employment of lay normal trained teachers in their stead.

THE WARDER congratulates Archbishop Cleary on the progressive spirit displayed.

good secular education there is no fear of the rest.
Perhaps our good friend Archbishop Cleary will in a few years more so the full length we desire in school matters, and have the State's duty limited to imparting a good secular education directly embracing intellectual, moral and physical development, and leaving the spiritual for the churches, the homes and other outside influences?

He has already made himself famous by his demanding that the children in Kingston separate schools shall have the very best secular education attainable. Let him assist in solving the problem causing dissension throughout Canada by having all religious instruction removed from the arena of state control.

It is our hope yet to have His Grace right in line with our views in these progressive problems.

HON. MR. LAURIER BECOMES PIOUS.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier has recently thanked God that there are no orangemen in his following.

It is really comforting to find there is something for which the leaders of the reform party can thank the Almighty.

They made an effort last year to offer up supplications and thanks to the Divine Architect of the universe for the hard times and low prices of produce. But those stringent conditions were not peculiar to Canada, so it could not be specially for the benefit of the critics leaders that such were sent. Further Canada weathered the storm better than any other land, despite the professed direct pull with celestial powers of Mr. Laurier and his lieutenants, who in their own opinions are the Lord's own anointed.

Mr. Laurier's piety regarding the absence of orangemen from his following took form not before an orange audience, but away in an obscure corner of Quebec province where the light of orange principles has not yet taken root. He did not expect to be reported. The appeal was merely to excite the French-Canadians against Hon. N. O. Wallace, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and others of the orange order, leaders in Canadian politics.

The public will watch with interest how brave and pious Mr. Laurier will be in his tour through Ontario in thanking God for the absence of orangemen from his ranks.

It is respectfully suggested to Hon. Mr. Laurier that when he reaches Toronto he should call on Mr. Robert Birmingham who will be pleased to present him with a copy of the orange constitution. That gentleman can then see how the theory of the order corresponds with its practices, and that every creed is given the same fair play, but none are given preference.

Mr. Laurier might profitably study what he professes to ape, i. e. English constitutional models. He will search in vain the records of the Burleighs, Pymms, Hampdens, Cromwells, Princes of Orange, or other statesmen who have helped to make Britain great and mankind free for any such "fiddling" and dodging and equivocating as he has been guilty of in his political career whether on questions of trade or the Manitoba school case.

That honorable gentleman will further find in the history he professes to admire that since the re-establishment, about two hundred and fifty years ago, of the principles of the orange institution in Holland, in France, in Great Britain and in Germany, that the world has made more progress, humanity has won more freedom, tyrants have disappeared with greater rapidity and the world has had less use for "wool" of the Laurier stripe than in all previous millions of years.

Hon. Mr. Laurier will live to learn that deep in the hearts of tens of thousands of Canadians who were once reformers, loyal to his leadership, the principles of the orange order lie deeply imbedded and form the mainspring to their actions. Many are members of the order; thousands more are joining.

It is too late in the day for such as Mr. Laurier or his allies to discredit orangemen.

FARMERS are through harvesting, and the threshing machine has been doing its work along the line. Grain turns out fairly well.

PARTRIDGES are very plentiful here this year. One day last week one flew into the schoolroom and out through the window, breaking the glass. Query—Who will pay for the glass? The partridge! Last Tuesday and Wednesday nights were very stormy. The thunder and lightning were the worst we have had this summer, and some of the hail stones were of an enormous size.

MISS ROGERS attended the school convention at Minden last week. Miss McDonald from Wilberforce passed through this place going to and from the institute. Miss Norris spent a few days visiting friends at Minden last week. We have had some very heavy frosts here lately, and the weather is very "fallish."

CAMERON.

BRANDING CHEESE.—It has only been the custom in the past to brand the best, but the way that business is carried on in the foreign markets at present it is necessary that Canada's reputation along the line of dairying be not injured to brand the cheese, also at least the word "Canada" should be branded on the cheese and box, and not a cheese be allowed to be shipped from our Canadian ports without being thus branded. We are informed by good authority that American cheese are sold to retail dealers as finest Canadian. Mr. H. Glendonning of Manila states that he found in his travels to his ain country where a dealer had been thus humbugged that he purchased a lot of U. S. cheese as finest Canadian, Ingersoll make. Upon examining the boxes it was found that not one was branded Canada, the only brand was O.O.O. Now, it appears to me this is the way we have had to shoulder the blame of making skin-milk cheese and substituting margarine in place of the butter-fat. It is high time the dairymen of our fair Dominion would wake up to the interests of our beloved industry, and use every effort to maintain its reputation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson are visiting friends at Montreal. Among those that attended Canada's great fair were Miss Ada Ferrin, Miss Mary Bryson, John Suggitt, John Maunders, Wm. Chapman, Wm. Merrill, Wm. and Dixon Copeland, Miss Graham, of Selwyn, is visiting friends here. R. P. Cummings and Miss Ida Campbell paid us a flying visit on Sunday.

SUNDAY duck shooting is again becoming very prevalent. We would like those gentlemen that come out from the town with their canes and guns to understand that we do not intend to allow our peaceful Sabbath to be thus disturbed and are they are aware of it they will have Col. Deacon's decision on the matter.

The Lindsay fair with its various attraction of trapeze, acrobatic performances, fire-works, and not least if last the baby show will draw a large number from here.

FRENCH FALLS.
From our regular special correspondent.

THE large number of drives of logs which have passed down our lakes this summer have lowered the water to such an extent that the "Marie Louise" struck bottom below the canal last week and tore up a portion of Mr. Jackett's water works pipes before she was rescued. The rain of this week will no doubt raise the water.

The children of St. James' (episcopal) Sunday school enjoyed a small picnic on the rectory lawn last Friday, when very substantial refreshments and all kinds of amusements were provided. Judging by the happy shouts during the afternoon the little people enjoyed themselves immensely.

"Bos," Mr. J. H. Brandon's well-known and thoroughly liked dog, had the misfortune to be run over by Mr. Lancefield's bus one day last week, breaking one of the front legs. It was soon set and is slowly healing but the big fellow is missed off the streets at present.

A hand in Henry's mill broke last Monday morning but was repaired with such rapidity that the whistle sounded about one hour later than usual.

Some of the many houses erected in our village this summer have become ready for occupation. Mr. J. Jones, Mr. E. Edwards, Mr. W. McIntosh and Mr. T. Poulton have been living in theirs for some time, and Mrs. J. Twomey, Sr., moved into hers last week.

Mr. F. Magee has commenced the foundation of the house he intends to build in the grove, all the lots of which were sold this summer. In fact a sort of property wave has lately passed over us, nearly all the sons of Adam amongst us having become landed proprietors.

A certain gentleman of local fame, who lately reached one of Gilmore's cribs stationed near Sturgeon Point. Having no boat to row from the point on he attempted to walk the logs, thinking that if one of them turned with him (as it did) that he could perhaps have sufficient faith to walk the remaining distance on the water. But like Peter his faith failed and he reached home a wetter but a wiser man.

Miss K. Austin of the Lindsay model, and Miss A. Dickson of the Lindsay collegiate, spent Saturday and Sunday at home. The visitors to Toronto are home from the fair. Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. F. Kerr, Miss Austin and several others returning last Monday.

The storm of Tuesday night—Wigan's storm we suppose, a little late—broke the boom of Henry's drive and the logs were scattered over Cameron lake.

These special attractions at the Lindsay show this year of fire-works, acrobatic performances, etc., will draw a large number of visitors from here.

15 Years of Itching.

Wm. Golding, commercial traveller, 180 Bathurst St., Toronto, says: "For 15 years I suffered untold misery from Itching Piles, sometimes called pin worms. Many and many weeks have I had to lay off the road from this trouble. I tried almost every remedy and so called remedies with no permanent relief to the intense itching and stinging, which irritated by scratching would bleed and ulcerate. One half a box of Osse's Ointment cured me completely."—95-4.

ELDON.

DEAR SIR,—As you have often spoken through the columns of THE WARDER re the necessity of having better train accommodation for the north and more particularly points north of Lorneville I submit the following:

1st, Run conductor Rundle's through way freight, which leaves Toronto at 6 a.m., to Lorneville instead of Lindsay.
2nd, Then run Rundle to Cobosconk as a mixed, take on the mail car and passenger coach and deliver mail, etc.
3rd, Then run Rundle through to Toronto as a mixed as at present. Rundle's coach could be brought to Lorneville by No. 6 a.m. mail. Rundle would arrive at Lorneville about 10.30 a.m. from Toronto and would then have ample time to get his train in order to leave for Cobosconk on arrival of No. 5 mail at Lorneville at 11.10 a.m. Of course, I may be asked, will this train pay? I see no reason to think otherwise. The revenue from carrying of mail, etc., and the increase in business that a train of this description would create would make it pay. Now if any of the above suggestions are of any value use them. Yours truly, FARMER.
