Feversham Items

Our school teachers, Miss Brunkard of Alma and Miss MacFarland of Hockley, spent the holiday at their parental homes

Mr. and Mrs. Hammel spent the holiday with friends at Singhampton.

Miss Arlene Buckingham and Miss Pearl Whiteoak spent a few days last week with friends in Thornbury.

Mr. and Mrs. (Rev.) Thomas Scott of Meaford were callers in our village one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colquette visited with friends near Singhampton last week

Mrs. John Paul has returned home after a visit with her daughter in Owen Sound and other friends in Dundalk.

The first snow of the season arrived on Sunday night last when about two inches fell.

Mr. R. J. Colquette of Guelph O.A.C., spent the holiday with his parents here.

Mrs. Thos. Hawton of Rob Roy visited with Mrs. John Buckingham the past week.

Capt. Wm. Dray of the S. A. Emigration Department, Toronto, took charge of the S. A. meetings on Sunday last. Capt. Dray is an old Feversham boy, and his many friends were glad to see him.

Dundalk

Police Magistrate Fennell heard his first case on Saturday evening, an information by a lady against N. B. Agnew for bad language. A fine of $10 was imposed.

Two Dundalk youths, Ernie Morrow and Dan Mossop, went hunting rabbits near Melancthon Station one day last week. They were going through the swamp, not far apart, when Dan stumbled on an upturned root, and, in the fall, his 22 calibre rifle went off, the ball lodging in the fleshy part of Ernie's thigh, where it still remains. The wound is not painful and the doctor advised him to not disturb it. Lucky for him that the bullet did not lodge in a more vital part.

After an illness of six months from cancer of the stomach, George Grummett, a prominent and respected farmer of Osprey, passed away at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thos. Mills, Gravel Road, Melancthon, Tuesday night. Deceased was born in the county of Norfolk, England, and came to Canada a boy of ten years with his parents, who settled first at Clinton, in Huron county. The family moved to Osprey thirty-six years ago. Mr. Grummett was married to Jemima Penny, who pre-deceased him nearly two years ago. A family of three sons and one daughter survive, namly:—Samuel, on the homestead, 3rd line, Osprey, Albert, on the same line; William, in Toronto; Addie, residing with her aunt, Mrs. Arnott, Feversham. There are, also, four brothers and three sisters: John, Robert and Jesse Grummett, Osprey; James, at Honeywood; Mrs. Arnott, Feversham; Mrs Geo. Brown, Heathcote; Mrs. Thos. Mills, Melancthon.

Durham

Gordon Gun, oldest son of Dr. A. Gun broke his wrist on Friday last. He was riding on the water tank of Mortley's threshing outfit and fell off when the back axle suddenly broke. It was a double fracture and his father had him taken to Stratford on Wednesday for exray examination.

Whether the children of the members of the Methodist church are regular church attendants or not is not known, but a unique way has been adopted to keep the youngsters going steadily and is said to be successful. Each child is given a packet of tickets, especially numbered, and drops one in a box at the door at the close of every service. When the tickets are done, the child is given a hymn book or testament as a reward.

Mrs. (Rev.) Prudham took her husband's place in the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday evening and proved an able substitute.

Caused by a defective chimney, a destructive fire burned the home of Mr and Mrs. Harvey Boyce on the Bentinck baseline on Monday. The house, which was the property of Mr. Robt. Twamley, burned rapidly once the blaze had a start and efforts to save it were in vain. The neighbors who formed a voluntary brigade were able to save most of the downstairs furniture but the 2nd floor effects were all consumed. There is $250 insurance on the effects.—Review.

Andrew Beechie, the man who mysteriously disappeared from his home some six weeks ago and has been roaming the woods in an apparent listless state, was captured by Chief Ferguson at the home of Mr. Ignatius Weiler near the G. T. R. station here about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The man had been sleeping in various barns over night and had been stretching himself in Mr Weiler's stable for the few nights previous to his capture. When found he was in a weak and pitiable state, and on being ushered before Magistrate Tolton was given 30 days for vagrancy.—Bruce Herald.

The citizens of Clarkburg and surrounding country are up in arms against a band of chicken thieves that are working havoc among the different poultry flocks. It would appear that the culprits are making a living out of this illegal business and becoming quite bold. Sooner or later they are bound to run up against the law and will be meted out the full penalty of the law.—Reflector.

Mr. Claude Macdonell, K. C., member for South Toronto in the House of Commons, took seriously ill with nervous indigestion after addressing the big Conservative mass meeting in Walkerton on Tuesday night. The speech, which he delivered, while a most eloquent utterance was made in great physical pain, a fact that was evident to many in the audience who had their eyes closely on the speaker. Shortly after the conclusion of the address, Mr. MacDonell withdrew from the platform, when he almost immediately collapsed. Dr. Fraser, who was summoned, had the sick man removed to his room, where at time of writing he is still confined with his ailment.

Up to the present time campaigns looking toward local option voting on January 5th have been launched in forty-eight municipalities. Of these places one is a city, thirteen are towns, fourteen are incorporated villages, and the remainder are townships. There are eleven of the forty-eight which have not before voted upon the question of Local Option; there are ten in which majorities were polled against Local Option in former contests; there are twenty-six in which Local Option by-laws were defeated by the three-fifths requirement; and there is one in which a Local Option by-law was carried and subsequently quashed upon a technicality.

W. G. Bright, a school teacher on the ninth line, and eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bright, met with a terrible accident on Friday evening, when returning from a Teachers' Convention held at Kimberley. The young man made the trip to Kimberley on his bicycle and was returning home by way of the seventh line. When he came to Quinton's hill, he applied the brakes and was coasting down, when something went wrong and he was thrown to the ground with great force. When picked up he was unconscious, and has not yet sufficiently recovered to know just what did happen. His father was communicated with by telephone and in twelve minutes he was at the scene of the accident, the trip being made in Mr. Kennedy's auto. The young man was brought home, where he is resting quietly. No bones were broken, but the victim of the accident received a severe shaking up. The "bike" was badly broken, the front wheel and forks being smashed to pieces.—Meaford Express.

BOILER EXPLODED AT MIDLAND

Midland, Oct, 21—With a roar that could be heard for miles the boiler at the Manley Chew sawmill exploded this morning, causing the death of Harry Sager, a fireman, and Fred Frazer, 16 years old, who was a helper at the boiler house. More than a hundred men were working close to the scene of the explosion and two of them were seriously injured by flying fragments from the boiler house, which was utterly demolished.

The cause of the tragedy was still a mystery up to noon.

The boiler room was a building 130 by 40 feet, built of brick, none of which is left standing.

Bristish newspapers report that on June 19th, while violent thunderstorms were being experienced in various parts of Scotland, a dense pall settled over Glasgow, and at noon the city was plunged in midnight darkness. Heavy rain fell soon after.

SURGERY ON THE SKULL.

The Operation of Trepanning Was Common In Ancient Times.

While the medical profession is agreed that some rough form of surgery must have existed from very ancient times, it has always been a matter of wonder that so complex and delicate an operation as trepanning should also be one of the oldest.

There is authentic record of this operation dating back to the time of Hippocrates, who wrote treatises on fractures, dislocations and wounds of the head, wherein he described the method of procedure to be followed in the case of a fractured skull. His idea was to cut away a piece of bone so that the pressure on the brain might be relieved.

The annals of this era also show that a file was used for this purpose, which, at a time when modern anaesthetics were unknown, must have been, to say the least, painful.

According to Holmes, the operation of removing pieces of bone was performed long before historic times. The effects on the skull are easily seen after death and are visible as long as the bones are preserved. From inspection of certain skulls of the later stone age in ancient Britain there has been derived the conclusion that some of these had undergone the operation, which must have been performed with a stone implement.—Harper's Weekly.

Origin of St. James' Palace.

Henry VIII. when he built St. James' palace designed it for a country residence to take the place of the manor of Lennington, where he had been in the habit of going for a change of air. He pulled down the hospital dedicated to St. James the Less and on its site, as Holinshed tells us, "built a goodly manor and made a faire parke for his greater comoditie and pleasure." The palace stood in the midst of fields well stocked with game, and these were inclosed as its private demesne. Even while residing here Henry held his court first at Westminster and then at Whitehall after he had taken the latter palace from Wolsey. It was not until 1697, when Whitehall was destroyed by fire, that St. James' palace became the London residence of monarchs.—London Standard.
