The Artemesia Election

The election in Artemesia on Monday passed off very quietly with a rather smal vote. Mr. McKenzie's return to the Reeveship was not a surprise to anybody, Probably Councillor Brown is the best pleased man of the bunch, he having headed the poll, and receiving a bumper vote in the divisions surrounding his own home, as well as at Eugenia. The two new councillors are Aldcorn and Cameron. Mr. Graham had a rather close call. Mr. Latimer was scarcely known outside his own division, but the figures of that division show what the people at home think of him. Mr. Cameron is a young man whom we think will make good. Following are the figures by divisions—Div. 1 Orange Valley, 2 Flesherton, 3 Proton Station, 4 Ceylon. 5 Priceville, 6 Vandeleur, 7 Eugenia, 8 Portlaw.

Another of the good times the Presbyterians have always had was experienced at the Sunday school entertainment on Dec. 30. Rev. Mr. McVicar in the chair gave out the numbers, which were each one worthy of applause. Recitations were well rendered and all were of a good moral nature. Three dialogues by some of the older scholars were quite interesting and laughable. A froggie drill, given by the infant class, raised roars of laughter. A Christmas star drill by ten ladies of the school was well given. Tableaux and pantomimes were both pleasing and pretty. Quartettes by Messrs. Morgan, Carruthers, Williams and Cairns, a duet by Mr. Morgan and Miss Georgina Smith, a duet by Willie and Neah Williams, solos by May Carruthers, Benton Carruthers and Hilda Williams were all highly appreciated. Choruses by the children and choir were also creditable to the singers. Santa Claus appeared and distributed the presents off a well laden tree. The proceeds amounted to $41.10.

Dr. R. E. Allan, of Leon, Mexico, put a marked cheque for $15,000 on the collection plate of the Baptist church at Haileybury on Christmas Day. The gift is to be applied to the building of a new church and parsonage. If an event like that happened in the Baptist church here, wouldn't it make Allen Bell look chesty?

The furniture factory is not likely to again suffer destruction from fire. The automatic sprinkler system installed throughout the whole plant seems equal to any emergency. A few days ago, when the factory was closed, the extra steam passing through the heating pipes in the store room, melted one of the sprinkler plugs, and before discovery was made the room was deluged with water and a large quantity of furniture damaged to some extent. The loss, which is variously estimated as the result of the shower-bath, will be considerable, but the problem has been satisfactorily demonstrated that the whole establishment is comparatively safe from fire. These plugs are placed throughout the interior of the building at distances of about ten feet apart, and the water pressure from the tank alone is 35 pounds to the square inch. This pressure can be greatly increased in a few minutes by the watchmen turning on the fire pump in case fire is discovered. —Chronicle.
