SERGE GOWNS FOR TRAVELLING. Blue serge has always been associated with long journeys, for so many hundreds and thousands of women have found it the best of materials to travel and live in. There are many reasons in favor of serge for travelling gowns. It does not rumple like linez or mothair; and then there is a great advantage in the extra warmth it possesses, for though the day may be cool when one starts off, by evening the weather may change, and a earge Mr. E. If you would renew the system, cleanse the blood, and rid yourself of disease, you must use Paine's Celery Compound, the great cystem-cleanser and blood purifier. The following letter from Mr. D. One of Mr. Depew's Stories.

Mr. Depew's reputation as a good story teller is so well known that it is unnecessary to comment upon it. Probably one one of the best stories with which he delights his audiences is the one involving the question of supply and demand, and the regulating of prices solely by the e two factors. In dispute of this Mr. Depew says that one day he was walking along a street and passed a German butcher shop. Out of curiosity he entered the place and inquired the price of sausages. It is always a pleasure to recognize the virtues of a good and noble woman, whether she be of high or lowly birth, but when that good woman is at the head of a mighty nation and has exerted her benign influence not only among her subjects, but also among those belonging to other nations, the pleasure is much enhanced. And so the tribute being paid to Queen Victoria in this, the sixtieth year of her reign, is well merited, for surely she has proven herself to be possessed of these stiffbutes which make a womanly woman, and has at all times lent her aid and assistance to movements for the spread of Christian doctrines and for the uplifting and betterment of humanity. Preparations on a very large scale are being made throughout Great Britain and her colonies to fittingly celebrate the long and notable reign of Her Majesty; and not to be out done by those who remain in their native land, many good and loyal British-American citizens in the United States have formed associations for the same purpose. When Queen Victoria learned of the proposed celebration of her sixty years rule, she expressed a wish that the money raised be not frittered away in things "of the earth, earthy," but that it be expended in relieving the condition of those in distress, and her desires in this regard are being

In the first place, although it has been explained many times, it is better to state once more, briefly, just what the gear of a bicycle means. It is an arrangement by means of which a comparatively small wheel is made to revolve as if it were a very large one-that is, to cover in every revolution. Practically all bicycles now are made with 28 inch "Oh, dot was all right. I don't got wheele, and thus, if a 60 gear is spoken machine (gear always referrs to the rear wheel) revolves as il it were 60 inches in diameter. It is by means of the chain "There was no demand, as I didn't want | turning over two sprocket wheels, the large one in tront and the small one the sprockets determine thegear. Fifteen teeth on the front and seven on the rear give the gear 60; nineteen on the front and eight on the rear give 561, etc. The formula for finding the gest is to multiply the actual diameter of the rear wheel, usually, as was said above 28 inches, by the number of teeth on the front sprocket, and then divide the resultby the number of seeth on the rear sproclet. Now, so far as I have been able to observe and judge, a gear of about 63 is high enough for the aveage woman to ride. The higher the ger, just so much the harder must be the psh on the pedals at each revolution, and i is certainly less taxing to one's strength to push a little mere frequently and lightly than to be at great effort in mailly each movement. Especially in hill climing, or in riding on the level over touch roads, does a high gear make it: deadvantages telt. On a smooth surface, where there is no grade, the high gerr is very pleasant, because with each pish one toyers a great deal of ground, and the machine moves rapidly in proportion to the effort ex-pended. But there are lew persons who can be sure of alway riding on roads like academy floors, and in fact such a daily routine would be extendly monotonous. The pleasantest cycing trips are those which take one out ito the country, and there one must be papered to encounter all sorts of up and-dwr grades and varying conditions of the oid-bed. Of course it is impossible to by down any fixed rule which would aply to all women, but 63 seems a fair verage. Any one who is not strong rould do better to choose 60, and rider of good muscular even 68 without injoy. Nothing above the last figure seemso me advisable for women. For girls who have not the

W. G. WOODS,

DEAR SIE,—I have much pleasure in stating that the Gurney Oxford Hot Water System which you set up in my house in the autumn of 1894 was fully what you represented it to be, and gave entire satisfaction. There was no dust, no smoke, no gas, no leakage, and the air seemed pleasant and agreeable to breathe, so that no one had a cough in my house during the entire winter. Notwithstanding the severity of clast winter our house was so comfortable that we had to go outside to find if the day was cold, while the quantity of coal consumed was only a little more than we had burned in former winters in one large coal stove with less rooms to be heated. The Furnace was easily managed, and with ordinary care the temperature of the house could be kept at any degree desired. I can heatily recommend this system of heating to any one who during our Canadian winter desires to enjoy what I can best describe as "Solid Comfort," (Sgd). THOS. W. POOLE, M.D., Lindsay,
