Line to be Finished By February, 1915

A delegation of Owen Sound men visited Toronto last week and waited on the Hydro-Electric Commission to find out how early the town might expect a delivery ef electric energy from Eugenia falls. Reporting the interview the Times says:

Mr. Gaby made it emphatic that the commission would spare no effort to expedite the work at Eugenia falls. All winter they have been busy on the proposition and now have everything practically in shape for work in May. There has been much tedious detail in connection with the deeds of the lands which the commission has found it necessary to acquire for the purpose of forming a storage reservoir against the dry period that is inevitable in midsummer. About six hundred acres has been acquired, and all the engineering plans have been laid and the route of the line located.

It is the intention of the commission to develop no less than the full five thousand horsepower from the first. They will build the dam which they spoke of at first and which would not be necessary for the generation of fifteen hundred horsepower or so. But with the virtual acknowledgment that the town of Owen Sound will need two thousend horsepower—if the Doric Cement Company comes in—it was at once necessary to provide for the full load. This will entail considerable work in damming and creating a reservoir. But when this is finished there will be available from three to five thousand horsepower, enough to meet any contingency for the next several years.

An idea of the amount of power to be developed by the new Eugenia plant can be obtained from the statement of Mr. Gaby that they will be able to get a fall of 520 feet. Of course it will be necessary to ditch the water for some distance and to pipe it the rest of the way. But it will be a great head when it is completed and the volume of water will not have to be great to insure a very large amount of power when there is such a magnificent head.

Help being near they were pulled out, and decided to leave the bathing till the frogs begin to sing.

What a fellow will see when he hasn't got a gun! On Monday morning while working in the bush north-east of Eugenia Mr. R. Williams and some other men saw what they thought was a bear. They came home, raised the alarm, and, with some half dozen of our local sports, well armed, returned to the woods ready for the attack. After following up the supposed bruin's trail sor some three or four hours, they returned home after coming to the conclusion that it had been an early woodchuck, no doubt out to find out why the Hydro-Electric Commission were so slow.

The regular meeting of the Women' Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Williams the first Wednesday of April at 2.30 p.m. All members are requested to be present.

Keep Your Records

Within the next few weeks several hundred cheese factories will be opening; hundreds of farmers will be preparing to milk thousands of freshly calved cows. Logically this beginning of a new season is the time to commence keeping records of production of the cows separately. Just a knowledge of the yield of milk from the whole herd may give the owner an idea of the average yield per cow, but that does not give quite enough information. There may be a thousand pounds of milk difference in the total yield of two cows for the season, which would be unnoticeable in the small difference in the appearance of their two milk pails daily. Often the difference is far more than a thousand pounds, yet all cows are lumped together, good, poor and medium, all alike, when taking merely an average.

Since keeping records of individual production many a dairyman has increased the average of his herd by fifteen hundred, and two thousand pounds of milk or more, because he has been able to detect the poor, unprofitable cows that masquerade as real dairy cows. On application to the Dairy Division, Ottawa, milk record forms and instructions are supplied free. Write today, and begin the new season right, with the object of keeping none but profitable cows.

Flesherton Young Man Discovers a Gold Mine

South Porcupine, March 15.—Considerable interest has been taken in Robb township, where a reported find of free gold has been made and the sample shown by George Jamieson of South Porcupine, coming from claims in the township, as remarkably rich.

Jamieson, working on his claims in the south-east corner of Robb, south of Kamiskotia lake, uncovered the vein a few weeks ago, and on his first visit to town brought in several samples which show free gold in large quantities. Robb township is immediately west of Jamieson township, where considerable work was done last year by several parties. Free gold was found on several claims in the southeast corner of Jamieson last fall, but as a rule the veins and values were small.

The lucky finder as narrated above is a son of Mrs. J. Jamieson of Flesherton —Ed.

Markdale

Kenneth Vaughan, John McKenzie and Jos. Hall of Glenelg were before Magistrates Armstrong and Ennis on Monday evening on the charge of furious driving on the public highway, causing bodily injury to Miss Gertie Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walker, on the night of March 3. The charge was laid under section 285 of the criminal code, and is a serious offence, which, if parties were found guilty, were liable to a term of two years imprisonment. Mr. W. D. Henry, who was counsel for the complainant, Mr. Frank Dinsmore, cousin of Miss Walker, announced that if the young men would plead guilty the charge would be reduced to that of Sec. 7, Chap. 47, of the Provincial statutes, and by paying a fine and the costs of the case no further action would be taken. Joe Hall agreed to this lenient proposal, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs, in all $17.95. Vaughan and McKenzie refused to accept this proposition, so the Magistrates committed them for trial, and the case will be tried before a county judge or a jury in Owen Sound, the date having not yet been decided upon. In the meantime they gave their bond for $500 each, as also did the father of each of the young men, as a guarantee of their appearance at court. Great interest has been excited in the case and the old council chamber was packed to the doors on Monday evening. Miss Walker is still in a serious condition as a result of the injuries she received.

The Railroad Hotel at Allandale was burned down, the occupants barely escaping.

While a young son of Mr. Alf. Thompson, of New Lowell, was playing with a rifle, he accidentally shot himself just above the eye. He was rushed to the Collingwood hospital, where the bullet was extracted, and he is now getting along as well as can be expected.
