Killed By a Kick

A very sad accident occurred on Saturday, 16th inst., which resulted in the death of Edward Speers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Speers of New Floss. It appears that the young man had led a horse to the watering trough, and while it was drinking two other horses which were running loose came up to the trough, one getting on each side of the horse held by Mr. Speers. The animals commenced to fight and kick each other and it is supposed that the horse which Mr. Speers held jumped backward and in the fracas he received a kick from one of the horses breaking his skull and making a deep gash in his head. The young lad never knew what happened him, as he was unconscious from the time he was kicked until he died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.—Stayner Sun.

A Babylonian Tablet

Mr. Fletcher Stewart is the possessor of a brownish colored cube about one and a half inches in thickness, which he prizes very highly. The surface is covered with indentations which call to mind the Babylonian characters which most people have seen in illustrated Family Bibles. This is actually what the marks represent for the cube is one of the ancient Babylonian tablets or temple records that have been dug up on the sites of the ancient towns of Drehem and Jokha in Mesopotamia. The tablets relate to the reigns of five Babylonian kings who were contemporary with Abraham. This particular tablet dates from the reign of Bur-Sin I 2324-2315 B. C. It is one of several thousands found in the ancient ruins, many of which contain records of payments in kind. The tablet is made of clay, containing a great deal of marl or chalk and being free from grit. The writing is in cuneiform characters, each mark being made with the edge of a square stick or stylus. The clay was sun baked or kiln-dried after it was marked. The authenticity of the tablet, which is in Mr. Stewart's possession, is vouched for by Dr. Albert T. Clay, professor of Assyriology in Yale University.—Orangeville Banner.

Kill Your Roosters

Eggs which have been fertilized constitute the greatest proportion of the inferior stock which, when examined, proves unfit for food. It is not necessary that these shall have remained for a time under a broody hen, a temperature of seventy degrees being, in itself, sufficient to cause the germ to commence to grow. If the heat is constand the development of the chick will continue, but if it ceases or is intermittent, putrefaction at once sets in and the egg becomes bad. On the other hand infertile eggs which are free from the active germ cell, do not, under ordinary conditions, deteriorate seriousls.

Few farmers seem to realize these facts, and consequently very few make any offort to insure infertility. The impression prevails among many, that the presence of the male bird in the flock is essential to the production of a maximum number of eggs. This assumption has been proven, time and time again, to be absolutely without foundation.

Farmers and others selling eggs for market are recommended to kill off or dispose of the male birds after the breeding season. As a result of their remaining with the flock after June 1st, Canadian farmers lose each year at least one million dollars, through the presence of partially incubated eggs in the produce which is marketed. The fact that the best trade in many cities in Canada now offers the premium of from one to five cents per dozen, for non-fertilized eggs, suggests an additional financial consideration which but few can afford to overlook.

Durham

Flower thieves are causing annoyance to some Upper Town residents.

While driving to church last Sunday morning with her brother, Miss Sadie McKeown of the Glen, Glenelg, met with a severe accident. Having no whip she prodded the horse with a parasol to increase its speed, when it became restive and commenced to run away, whereupon Miss McKeown attempted to jump from the buggy. In so doing she caught her foot in the wheel and fell backward, breaking two bones in her leg, and having her ankle dislocated. The injured member was set as soon as medical aid could be secured, and she is now recuperating nicely.

A peculiarly sad story reached us last week from Mr. Thos. B. Scott, Moose-Hill, Thunder Bay District. Word has just reached him that his brother John has been missing from his home at Hansboro, North Dakota, since some time last December, and the supposition is that he was killed in a railway accident that took place that month. He had left home purposing to visit his brother Thomas. John Scott was born in Bentinck, south of Allan Park, and moved with the rest of the family to the 4th con., South Glenelg, where his mother, sister and nephew still live. He served two years as apprentice with the late Robt. MacFarlane, and was one year with Thos. Barclay. Later he worked as journeyman in Kincardine. In 1890 he went to N. Dakota and took up a half section. A few years later he got married and six children were born to them, three girls and three boys. In the spring of 1913, his oldest boy was bitten by a mad dog and since has been taking fits at intervals. The boy's mother in working over him also got infected and lost her reason and was taken to a home for the feebleminded and the son and the other children, now bereft of a father's care, have been sent to a children's home. The tragic story calls forth sympathy for the relatives, especiallp the aged mother. —Review.

Late Dr. G. W. Hurlburt

On Tuesday evening, May 12, a long and useful life came to an end in the death of Dr. George W. Hurlburt at 77 years. The first physician to practice in this part of Canada, he travelled the whole district before the concessions and side lines were blazed. In the year 1869 he removed to the vicinity of Prescott and was succeeded by the late Dr. Hunt. Returning to Thornbury in 1880 he became interested in a drug business and consulting practice with the other local physicians.

Dr. Hurlburt had a kindly, unassumm- manner that endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, well versed in his profession and the topics of the day, he was an interesting associate. There are few more widely known and univer. sally beloved.—Clarksburg Review.

Kelly Caught

Joseph Kelly stepped out of Toronto jail on Saturday morning but to enter a similar institution at Owen Sound to do four months for illegally selling liquor in the Georgian Bay town.

The history of Kelly dates back to May 23, 1911, when he was convicted as the actual offender in the sale of liquor in the Pacific House in Owen Sound. All trace was lost of him until Inspector Beckett heard recently of a man named Kelly spending time in Toronto for conducting a "blind pig." His identification soon followed and the warrant was brought into action.

Great is the Toronto Star! It boosts Mr. Rowell and his "Banish the Bar" policy in one column, and sings cheerfully of the beer that made a city famous in the next.—Burks Falls Arrow.

Landlord R. J. Bennett, of the Queen's hotel, Orangeville, pleaded guilty to a charge of allowing liquor to be consumed upon the hotel premises. P.M. Pattullo imposed a fine of $40 and costs. Chief Marshall laid the information.

Two Shelburne and one Orangeville man contributed $20 and costs for being drunk on the streets. It comes high for the privilege of taking too much thirst reducers in the dry belt, but a few experiences as these may have a salutary effect.

According to an advertisement in the Dundalk Herald a lady is asked to return a centrepiece taken from a table in the parlor of the Queen's hotel, Dundalk, on Thursday, April 30th. This lady appears to have a mania for centrepieces as she is accused of swiping three from the same hotel on different occasions.

John Craig of the Third Line, Mono, met with a severe accident on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Craig, who is over eighty years of age, was driving the roller when the seat gave way and he was precipitated to the ground in front, the roller passing over the upper part of his body, fracturing some of the ribs and the breast bone and dislocating the collar bone and inflicting severe bruises. The unfortunate man is being attended to by Drs. James and T. H. Henry, and notwithstanding his great age and terrible shock to the system, his recovery is anticipated, although the condition of the sufferer is very serious—Orangeville Post.
