A Gift of Flour To the Belgians

County Council gives 2000 bags of flour to Belgian Relief Fund.

Mr. Jno. Legate, seconded by Dr. Hershy, moved; that owing to the very great suffering and hardships of the Belgian people during the present war, which was brought about through no fault of theirs, and through the valiant fight put up by the soldiers of that country, we are, perhaps, enjoying a peace to-day that we might not be otherwise, we therefore move that this county council contribute two thousand bags of flour as a first contribution to the Belgian Relief Fund. Carried unanimously by the council standing and singing the National Anthem.

The above illuminating motion is the most important which came before the county council at their meeting this week thus far. The motion was launched yesterday afternoon at the regular sessions of the council and, as denoted was carried without a dissenting voice. There is a little story attached to the gift of the county of Grey to the Belgians. Some of the council would have been much more generous than the gift of flour would indicate, for though this gift will mean a cash contribution of five to six thousand dollars, the original motion that was presented would have authorized the expenditure of the sum of $10,000 for the same purpose, that is to say for the purchase of flour for Belgians. That the full sum of ten thousand dollars was not voted rests to the credit, or otherwise, of a number of the members of the council, who were shook out of their accustomed phlegmatic bearing by the mere mention of such a considerable sum of money.

When Mr. Legate made the motion originally it contemplated giving ten thousand dollars to be used for buying flour for the Belgians, but a number of the councillors could not see it that way. Some even thought they had done their part when they had given three or four bags of grain or potatoes. That is they thought the farmers of the country had done their part. An amendment was made to the motion that one thousand dollars be given, while some of the members favored no action being taken, and others that it be left over for the January session. The result all round was a compromise to two thousand bags of flour. The gift will mean about three cents on the hundred dollars of taxation, and it should not mean a very great hardship to the people of the county to give that much.

The rest of the business of the council for the session has been of a routine nature, chiefly passing accounts of one sort and another. The session will end tomorrow forenoon, having lasted since last Monday evening. All the members have been in attendance.—Times.

The sudden death on Friday last of Mrs. Fred Wickens of this village was a shock of sadness to all who knew her as she was a highly esteemed citizen, born on the 10th line of Artemesia, and the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Genoe of this place. Two years ago she was married to her now bereaved husband, Mr. Fred Wickens. They lived in Kimberley on the homestead for a year and then moved up to Eugenia. Death came in spite of all that human aid could do, as there was no delay in securing Drs. and trained nurses from Owen Sound waited on her in her last hours. When she found that all was in vain she gave her testimony of being ready to go and asked her friends "not to fret but to prepare to meet her in Heaven." The funeral took place on Sunday. The service in the Methodist church at 9 o'clock was well conducted by Mr. Jones, her pastor. Duett sung, intitled, "Sometime we'll understand," by Miss Virgie McMullen and Mrs. Truscott. A large procession followed the remains to Markdale cemetery where they laid her at rest. Beautiful floral offerings were sent in from the neighbors of Eugenia and also the 8th Line where she lived in her girlhood days. The deepest sympathy of the community is now extended to the bereaved friends, a loving and devoted husband, and an infant son eight days old.

Regular weekly prayer meeting will be dismissed for two weeks, but service will be as usual in the Methodist church. Prayer meeting will be as usual every week in the Presbyterian church.

Shelburne

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. and Mr. Earl Chalmers had a very narrow escape from suffocation in their garage on Tuesday night. The garage is very tightly built. Mr. Chalmers ahd Earl were taking the tires off the car and had started the engine to heat the place up a little, not thinking of the possible effect of the gas from the exhaust. Luckily Mr. Chalmers was not affected as badly as Mrs. Chalmers and Earl, and was able to help them out when it dawned on him what was the matter, otherwise the chances are that there would have been a tragedy to report.

Dr. Frank, dentist, of Orangeville, one of the best known and oldest residents of the county town, and father of Dr. Frank, of Shelburne, died at Orangeville on Tuesday following an attack of paralysis. Dr. and Mrs. Frank and Miss Enid are in Orangeville to attend the funeral.

Max Wolfe, peddlar, who has made Shelburne his headquarters for several years past, was a heavy loser Thursdy night last, when some party or parties unknown broke into the stable in which he has been storing his goods and made away with a quantity of merchandise that Mr. Wolfe says was worth several hundred dollars. Wagon tracks were found leading from the stable onto Victoria street over the C. P. R. tracks, but this we understand, was the only clue found. County Constable Marshall, of Orangeville, has been making an investigation but no arrests have been made as yet.

On Monday, while putting a power windmill on the roof of the barn of Mr. Wm. McKelvey, Mono, Mr. N. C. Bellerby, of Shelburne, fell off the roof while trying to get a rope in place from the mast over the edge of the roof, and struck the ground with such force that he dislocated one ankle and fractured the other.

On Tuesday, Mr. Milton Bellerby, when drilling a well at a Mr. Carson's, in Proton, was oiling the machine while it was in motion. The wind blew his sheepskin jacket into the gearing and pulled him in, injuring his head severely before the machine could be stopped. —Economist.
