A Treat in Music

One of the rarest musical treats that we have listened to here for a long time was that supplied by Prof. Wright and a splendidly balanced choir of about thirty voices in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening of last week. The programme consisted of sixteen numbers, including five choruses, trios, octets, quintet, duets and solos. The whole program showed a degree of excellence in training that would be difficult to excel, but the choruses were probably the most enjoyed, that of the last, the "Bridal Chorus" from the cautata Rose Maiden, probably proving the most popular. As for a criticism of the singing, it would be foolishness in the extreme for us to attempt anything of the kind, where every number was so pleasing and left nothing to be desired. The universal verdict was that the concert was the best seen here in many years. The audience was a fairly good one, although there was room in the church for many more. The proceeds amounted to about $55. The personnel of the chorus was as follows.

Sopranos—Mrs. Mark Wright and Mrs. W. A. Armstrong, Misses Trimble, Switzer, Thistlethwaite, J. Richardson, Adelaide Gaudin, Aleda Mitchell, Maud Boyd, Lilian Bunt, Lilian Armstrong, Olive, Pearl, Mabel and Agnes Henderson.

Altos—Mesdames Blackburn, R. Wright, Cairns, and Misses Muriel Henderson, Maud Richardson and Florence Thurston.

Tenors—Rev. Jones, R Wilcock and E. Wright.

Bass—Geo Cairns, Dr. Murray, H. Sullivan and Roy Thistlethwaite.
