Have You Heard?

Police superintendent, using telephone: "Is that Mr. Joskins speaking? Good! I thought I'd ring you up at once and inform you that we have found your missing wife."

Mr. Joskins: "Have you really? What does she say?"

Police superintendent: "Nothing!"

Mr. Joskins: "Then you've made a mistake. The woman couldn't possibly be my wfie."

"Did you hear about Bill getting shot?"

"No—how did it happen?"

"Oh—he just went to the hardware store and asked for two pounds of it."

Lawyer (slyly): "As a matter of fact—you were scared half to death and don't know whether it was an automoble or just something resembling an automobile that struck you—do you?"

Defendant (calmly): "May I say I was forcibly struck by the resemblance?"

"Tell me, please, how I should go about getting a start in the great game of business?"

"Sell your wrist watch, and buy an alarm clock."

Subaltern: "I've been trying to see you for the last week, sir, but you've always been busy. When can I see you?"

Colonel: "Well, I suggest you make a date with my secretary and . . ."

Subaltern: "I did, sir, and we had a swell time, but I still want to see you, sir."

"Can't this case be settled out of court?"

"Well, your honor, that's what we were doin', when the cops came along."

Woman on telephone: "I sent my little boy to your store for two pounds of plums and I got only a pound and a half. Your scales must be wrong."

Fruit dealer: "My scales are all right, madam. Have y u weighed your little boy?"

Young and inexperienced father (looking at triplets the nurse had just brought out): "We'll take the one in the middle."
