CONTROLS WILL GO AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Wartime standardization and simplification restrictions which have been an essential factor in the successful functioning of Canada's price and supply controls, will be lifted as soon as the need for them is gone. This assurance was given in Toronto recently by E. C. Burton, Retail Trade Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Mr. Burton said it was conceivable that further developments might necessitate further restrictions on the manufacture of civilian goods, but that such cases would be held to a minimum compatible with the provisions of the most essential needs of the communuity.

NOT A BAD IDEA

Once a rich man said he would devide his fortune among his friends if only he knew who they were. Years passed and at last the man died—in a mid-winter blizzard. His last request was that his funeral be held at four o'clock in the morning. Although scores had boasted of being his intimate friends, only 3 men and one poor woman turned out to stand red-eyed and sad beside his grave. When the will was read, it directed that his estate be divided equally among those who attended his funeral. Friends are much scarcer than we think.

Johnny has been studying economic matters, and now feels that teachers should freeze the best marks of the students and thus avoid the monthly report cards.

British courts have ruled that women are merely chattels in the home. Pity the poor judge in Canada who would hand down such a decision. Likely as not his "chattel" would hang a frying pan on his head when he returned to his castle.

BUTTER QUALITY TELLS

It is important to the butter industry of Canada that a high standard of quality be maintained by increasing the proportion of the total production which scores 93 points or higher, and the eliminating as far as possible the lower grades. While butter is rationed, most consumers are interested only in the best quality. It is not known definitely what future market requirements will be but past experiences has shown that products of high quality are more rapidly sold, and at higher prices than those of inferior quality.

How Much is a Dollar Worth?

A dollar is worth as much as it can buy. For instance, during the last world war people paid 65¢ for a pound of butter..while you pay around 38¢ today. It is the same with shoes and the other necessities of life. In 1917, they paid $15.00 and you now pay $8.00 for the same quality. This means your dollar is worth more than the dollar of 1914-18. You get more (1918 1944) for your money —because price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept the value of your dollar HIGH! And you will keep your dollar high in value by using money wisely (BUDGET). You protect your dollar's worth every time you buy a bond ($50)..Pass up some needless luxury (RING $500)..Pay off a debt (BILL PAID)..Refuse to hoard goods ..And refuse to frequent black markets. That's how to make money with your present dollars! Remember, dollars are worth less if they buy less.

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!
