PREVIEW OF INVASION

A Sailor's Letter From British Isles

The following extracts from a naval officer's letter home are well worth passing on:

"Although this is the first time since June of 1942 I have been in the British Isles, the contrast between then and now is quite apparent. The people are just two years more tired...dreadfully tired; tired of blackouts, of rationing, of queuing up, of war generally, but there is no sign of any less determination of seeing this thing through. When I was here last the first big raid had just gone over Cologne, and its effect was like a tonic to all England. However, since then the mighty raids have continued with such regularity and dulling monotony that the original effect of the tonic has worn thin, and its place has been taken by that old feeling of dog-tiredness. I should think that the actual invasion will come like a Spring tonic to a too-long Winter-suffering people. I hope so."

Bagpipes, Too?

The Red Cross and St. John societies have annonuced the shipment of 14,000 musical instruments to British prisoners of war. As if uncertain of their category, it was added that bagpipes were included in this total.

'TOJO' IN HAWAII

Inspection holds no fears for "Tojo," tiny mascot pup of this U. S. Marine, standing in line for inspection following debarkation at Pearl Harbour from a Navy task force aircraft carrier.

It Really Is Not The Bear's Fault

The black bear is one of the most playful and humorous of all animals, but he is still a bear. He does not seek man's company in the first place, and, when it is thrust upon him, he is likely to abuse it. If he is pampered he expects more pampering. If he is given half a pie he will take the other half, if it is within the reach of his powerful paws. Then there are complaints that he has become a nuisance, and he is shot. And it really is not his fault.

How Can I ??

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove scorched spots from clothing?

A Rub with a white cloth moistened with peroxide. Do not use on colored garments as it will remove the color.

Q How can I save celery so that it can be used later for flavoring?

A After washing and drying celery tops place them in the oven until thoroughly dried. Store the leaves in air-tight glasses and use them for flavoring. Some persons prefer them to celery seed.

Q. How can I mend granite utensils?

A Press some putty into the holes in granite utensils and bake until brown in a hot oven. This is an effective method.

Q How can I remove the odor of gasoline from clothing?

A Hang the garment outdoors for several hours, then bring it into the house and hang where the air is warm.

Q How can I test the quality of coffee?

A Pour about a tablespoon of ground coffee into a cup of cold water. If the coffee floats and colors the water very slowly, it is pure. If any of the coffee sinks to the bottom, or stains the water quickly, there is some adulterant present.

Your Watch Does 17 Miles Per Day

Most modern watches tick five times every second, which is equivalent to 18,000 times every hour. The average size of a balance wheel is a little more than half an inch, so that in one hour it will travel 43,812 inches. At the end of the day it will have done nearly seventeen miles.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

1 If someone is relating something that is very disagreeable, what should one do?

3 Would it be all right for a mother to give the bride away if the bride has no father?

3 How should a man introduce his wife to a woman who is much older?

4 Is it correct to have the date on an invitation to be engraved as Wednesday, March 29?

5 Is it proper to say to a woman "Here is a man I want to introduce you to"?

6 Is is all right for a person to leave his napkin in his chair when he leaves the dinner table?

Answers

1 Do not let it upset you, but change the subject as soon as possible. Forget it and do not repeat it as only those things which are pleasant are worth remembering and repeating. 2 Yes, if she wishes 3 "Mrs. Smith, I would like you to know my wife." 4 No; the date should be spelled out, Wednesday, March twenty-ninth. 5 No, The man should always be presented to the woman. Say, "Here is a man I want to introduce to you." 6 No; the napkin should be left on the table.

Before the letters SOS were dopted generally as a distress signal at sea, the letters CDQ were used.

DREAM COME TRUE

Dream of all boyhood came true for this youngster when he got to make friends with elephants of the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus when it arrived in New York. He's pictured fearlessly patting the trunk of one of the big fellows.

Britain Needs More Volunteer Drivers

Thousands of volunteer truck drivers, including women, will be needed this spring and summer to help in the invasion of the continent, said the London "Daily Mail" recently.

Women drivers will be required to drive medium-sized trucks so that men can be upgraded to heavy long-distance trucks. Voluntary drivers will take the strain off the over-worked British railways.

WHAT SCIENCE IS DOING

Birth Of Earth

Granting that the earth was torn out of the sun by a passing star in the form of a huge mass of gas, what was its early history? asks The New York Times. Dr. Perley G. Nutting presents this vivid picture.

Imagine a huge ball of dense gas with a temperature of about 5,000 degrees C. The outer layers cool first. During the cooling process the gaseous earth is violently agitated, so that some elements combine to form liquids which alternately rise and then fall back in the form of rain.

After the temperature of the earth drops a thousand degrees the first liquid core forms—a core of iron and iron alloys. At the liquid surface the atmospheric pressure is about thirty-two pounds to the square inch, or more than twice what it is now.

* * *

The first solids appear at a temperature of 3,000 to 2,500 degrees C, and they probably float on the liquid sphere. Deeper down are heavy vapors of metal and of a few stable compounds of high density. All these vapors condense at higher levels, rain down and vaporize over and over again. At intermediate and higher levels water vapor (as much as 1.85 tons to the square inch) condenses and pounds down in the form of rain but never reaches the surface. At the outer limits of the planet there are free gases, very cold.

When the earth cools down to 1,500 or1,200 degrees C, silica and sili silicates form. They cover the core of the earth to a depth of miles and miles and supplant all but a few metallic vapors. In fact, there are vast snow-storms of these silicates.

How does life begin? Dr. Nutting does not know. But he believes that it originates in the polar regions.

Loss Of Oil Wells Won't Stop Huns

The Red Army's advances imperil about 40 percent of Germany's petroleum supply—about 6,000,000 tons annually—in Ploesti, Poland and Estonia, but even if the Germans lose it, the Petroleum Press Bureau said last night, "it would be unwise to look for paralysis of the German war effort."

It was explained that while the German army strategy "would obviously be severely hampered," the Germans woud be defending less territory in shorter lines of communication and thus would not need as much oil as before.

The bureau added that continued bombing of German synthetic oil plants was necessary because of widespread use of such fuels by the Nazi army and air force.
