Died—At Missoula, Mont., on April 12, Mrs. A. L. Palsgrave (nee Miss Mehitable Sloan of Eugenia) at the age of 64 years. The cause of death was paralysis.

A number of citizens went out to the station Tuesday morning to see the Owen Sound contingent of soldiers pass through, who were on their way to Niagara camp to train.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Loucks, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Loucks and Miss Margaret of Meaford, visited the past week with Mrs. A. F. Wyvill and Mr. and Mrs. P Loucks, "Sunnybrook Farm."

Reader, when you are preparing to come to town to do some trading just pick up your home paper, glance at the advertising columns and see who wants the trade. We guarantee they will save you money. The man who advertises certainly has inducements to offer you or he wouldn't ask you to call and see him before buying.

Mrs. T. Jameson received this week word from the Red Cross Society stating that they were glad to say her son, Bert, who was poisoned with gas, is feeling better and they hope he will soon be completely recovered. He is at No. 2 stationary hospital, Boulogne-Sur-Mere, France.

The village council last week donated ten dollars each to Emerson Bellamy, who is with the Owen Sound contingent, and Arnold Thurston, who left Toronto last week. On Friday Reeve McTavish, W. J. Bellamy, W. Buskin and W. H. Thurston motored to Owen Sound and made the presentation to Sergeant Bellamy. The money was delivered to Gunner Arnold Thurston in Toronto just prior to his departure.

The Mendellsohn concert in the Methodist church last week was well attended, the proceeds amounting to nearly sixty dollars. Much of the singing was extra good, notably the choruses and some of the duets and solos. Still, a couple of hours in sacred music alone is not popular with the great mass of people, and there were those present who found the concert slightly tedious on this account. The general impression prevailed that the concert was scarcely as pleasing as the one given last fall when a more varied program was rendered.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, Flesherton, will hold a Garden Party on June 8th, 1915, on the Agricultural grounds. Full particulars later.

Miss May Jamieson of Mont Clair, N. J., accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. Rutledge, here last week and will remain for a fortnight. Mrs. R. had spent the winter in Mont Clair with her daughter, Mrs. Mueller.

Mr. Frank Maher, the well known hotel keeper of Chatsworth, died suddenly in Toronto on Friday last, at the age of 45 years. The remains were brought home and interred in Greenwood cemetery, Owen Sound, on Sunday. Deceased kept hotel in Markdale previous to going to Chatsworth, and was exceedingly popular with all who knew him. He was a mason, and a number of members of Prince Arthur lodge attended the funeral.

The Hydro Progress

The hydro development is progressing quite speedily, still you can "bank" that it will be August before the juice is turned on. The line is completed from Flesherton to the power house, wiring and all. The poles are up to the other side of Berkeley on the Owen Sound line and to the other side of Priceville on the Durham-Mount Forest line. A gang starts this week putting up the poles on the Flesherton-Shelburne line.

According to the Herald Mr. James is credited with saying in Dundalk the other day that there was "nothing in" the story published by The Advance regarding an accident at the works. Why Mr. James denies that there was an accident we are at a loss to know. As a matter of fact the break occurred exactly as The Advance stated it, of which we had ocular demonstration on Monday, when a gang of men was busily engaged replacing and reinforcing the broken pipe with concrete. Moreover, since the first accident the pipe line has been raised some foot and a half in the cutting north of the gates for some distance by clay flowing under it from the sides owing to rains, and will have to be raised and replaced, and also reinforced with concrete. Instead of "nothing in it" there appears to have been even more in it than the Advance announced. As an engineering feat this portion of the works at least has proved to be a mistake, to put it mildly.

The machinery is all on the ground at the power house and is being put in place. The riveters on the pipe line still have considerable work to do and there are yet three small sections of the steel pipe to be put in place before the line is complete from surge tank to power house. The cement basin under the surge tank is complete and only requires time to harden.

Dundalk

A severe electric storm visited this section Wednesday evening of last week. The lightning played on the telephone and electric light wires in town for an hour or so, but no serious damage was done. The fuses in a couple of light transformers were burned out and a number of lights were put out of operation in private dwellings. Malcolm McIntyre was knocked off his feet by a shock in the McCullough House but was luckily uninjured. Others in the house also felt the force of the shock. A barn is reported to have been burned on the 5th line, Melancthon.

Mr. T. C. James, of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, was in town Tuesday going over the present local distributing system of the electric light plant. In the evening he submitted to the Council a plan for street lighting for the town which met with the approval of the members and was adopted without any alterations. The new system provides for 62 150-watt street lamps distributed within the present limits of the system, including a light at each of the four railway crossings. He advised making no extensions to the lines at present erected until after the close of the war, as the price of copper wire has advanced from 16 to 24 cents per pound. Mr. James laughed at the report of a break in the works at Eugenia and said there was nothing in it. He expects to be able to turn the power on in Dundalk in July.—Herald.

Ten To One

The blood of the breed holds good. All the modernist piffle about the enervation of ultra-civilized folk, all the militarist doubtings over the efficiency of colonial irregulars, vanishes like a fog in the sunlight of Langemarck's glory. Read this again, from the official story of that great day:—

"With the Canadian Highlanders extended to double their normal trench front, one-half of it in the open, and assisted by the Tenth Battalion from southern Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, they not only held ten times their own number in check, but they actually retook the guns from the enemy and maintained their position, but the loss, as must have been expected, was appalling."

And this:—

"About sixty thousand Germans got in the rear of the Highlanders, thus cutting them off, but they refused to surrender, and the firing was heard far into the night, the Germans, being in front, on the left flank, and on the rear."

Ten to one, and not only holding their ground, but pressing forward! Surrounded, cut off, hopeless of reinforcements, but fighting on with the old flag flying until the last bullet is gone! Why, Drake's men never did better than that; nor they who fought at Minden; nor the gallant gallopers at Balaklava; nor Nelson's heroes; nor the thin red line at Waterloo! Never throughout the splendid history of British warfare have sons of Britain fought better or died better.

And these are our own boys. Not trained soldiers; not even bred in a military atmosphere. Just ordinary folk like the rest of us—lads from desk and counter, from farm and ranch, and lumber camp, brought up far from the sound or rumor of war. Peaceful, kindly fellows, with no love of bloodshed, and no hatred in their hearts; but with the same spirit thank God—that filled their fathers, who in their turn fought and died for their vision of liberty and for Britain's honor.

So, though we mourn, our sorrow is ennobled by an uplifting pride, that they whom we have lost have died in the old British way with their faces toward an overwhelming foe, and their flag flying.

When shall this world see again
Such a breed of mighty men
As come forward, one to ten,
To the song on bugles blown—England—
To the skies on your bugles blown!—

Christmas Gifts

There is a movement on foot this year for something substantial for Christmas, now that the German flimsy ware is debarred (as it should have been years ago).

Just by way of suggestion we would propose that you call in and examine our stock of furniture suitable for presents, which is unusually full this year. For instance we have rockers for mother, easy chairs for father, beautiful pictures and frames for sister, handsleighs for little brother, little rockers, dolls beds and wicker chairs and other things for little sister—something for everybody. Come in and see the latest thing in dolls beds and rockers.

Then we have the usual stock of all kinds of parlor, bedroom and dining room furniture—desks, chairs, odd pieces, secretaries—Oh! there is too much to enumerate. Come in and go over our stock yourself. Always happy to show goods and to demonstrate that our prices are as low as the lowest.

We are prepared to furnish flowers and floral designs for funerals, weddings, or social gatherings, having arranged with the Dale estate of Brampton to handle their business here.
