SWP

SWP means Sherwin-Williams Paint (Prepared). This is the best paint for you to use because it is made of pure materials—pure lead, pure zinc, pure Linseed Oil, and pure coloring pigments which are thoroughly mixed and ground in scientific proportions by powerful machinery.

It is better than the old fashioned hand-mixed paint because the materials are put together according to correct chemical formulae which have been tested out in a practical way. • Its fine grinding makes it cover nearly 50% more surface than hand-mixed paint.

SWP is an economical paint because it will cover the greatest amount of surface, wear longest, and look best.—Ask us for color cards.

Child Drowned in Tub

A distressing accident occurred at Waldemar on Tuesday morning, when the two-year-old daughter of David Tate was drowned in a tub of water. It is supposed the little one had been playing with a rag in the water and overbalanced. Just how long she had been in the water is not known, but the doctor who was promptly on the spot, is of the opinion she was in it longer than was supposed. All the efforts of the doctor and those at hand at first were of no avail Very much sympathy is felt for the family in this new burden of their sorrows.—Grand Valley Star.

One day last week a boy student of the Orangeville high school showed his generosity by taking one of the girl students for a drive. Having heard of the wonderful scenery about Credit Forks, they decided to gaze upon it, and proceeded thereto. Driving along the road they came upon a small boy gallantly pedaling a girl's bicycle. The lad wore a look of tiredness, and the girl, taking pity on him, promptly exchanged places. The lad's face expressed easiness as he nestled down in the soft seat of the buggy. The girl's expression was that of contentment as she forged ahead of her companion. Presently she came to a short but steep hill and started to coast down. About half way down the bicycle looped the loop and the fair rider landed on mother earth with great pressure. In a few moments her companion arrived and she exclaimed "Are my teeth all out." It was found, however that her teeth were intact but that she had scratched her arm and face. Getting in the buggy they proceeded on their journey to Credit Forks and on arriving her friend entered the store and asked of the lady clerk, "Have you any peroxide of hydrogen?" "No, replied the clerk, but we have orangeade and its just as good to drink.—Sun.

Benj. Cheeseman, formerly Chief Constable of Stayner, was on Friday last found guilty of wilful misconduct in office and sentenced by Judge Vance to pay $145. Cheeseman was given a search warrant to recover twelve geese, but instead of executing it he secured a settlement for $60, of which he got $35, while the woman who owned the geese only got $15. The Judge ordered him to pay a fine of $100 and refund $45 to the person from whom it had been wrongfully taken. Cheeseman was constable for twenty years, but was suspended by Judge Vance in January after the preliminary investigation.—Creemore Star.

A peculiar freak of nature occurred on the farm of H. Leadlay, Cookstown, recently. A ewe gave birth to a lamb and exactly two weeks later gave birth to two more. All three are doing well.

Broad Streets.

Berlin boasts that Unter den Linden is the broadest actual street to be found in any great city. It is 215 feet wide. Other noble thoroughfares are the Ringstrasse, in Vienna, 188 feet; the Paris Grand boulevards, 122 feet, and the Andrassystrasse in Budapest, 155 feet wide.

FEATS OF DIVERS.

Remarkable Endurance of the Pearl Fishers of Torres.

The greatest depth recorded of work done by a diver in a suit is 182 feet. This depth was reached by the Spanish diver, Angel Erostarbe, who recovered $45,000 in silver ingots from the wreck of the steamship Skyro off Cape Finisterre. The sponge divers of the Mediterranean work at a maximum of 150 feet and the Australian pearlers at 120 feet.

The greatest depths reached by divers without apparatus are used by the pearl fishers of Torres, mostly Malayans from the smaller islands. They go down with the aid of a stone and a loop in the rope thereto attached which they clutch with their toes, these organs being far more prehensile than in races normally shod. They seldom venture to descend below fifty feet, a depth at which they can remain for two minutes. The stone enables them to remain at the bottom while they are sweeping the pearl oysters into a basket attached to the stone. When the diver feels that he must come up to breathe he releases his toes from the becket in the rope and at once floats to the surface.

Young and healthy Malayan divers working oyster beds below six fathoms make four descents an hour during four hours in the morning and the same during four hours in the afternoon following a four hour rest. A civilized man at a depth of forty-two feet finds such a dive intolerable after a single minute.—New York Sun.

The Gorgons.

The Gorgons were creatures of Greek mythology, mentioned by Homer and Euripides as being of peculiarly abhorrent aspect. Their hair was composed of serpents, their bodies covered with scales and girdled with reptiles with heads erect, vibrating their tongues threateningly, while the hands of the Gorgons, adorned with sharp talons, were of brass. The gaze of the monsters was deadly, all upon whom they fixed their eyes being turned to stone. One of the three terrible sisters was conquered and beheaded by Perseus, and as he took flight in the air en route for Ethiopia, holding the severed head in his hands, the drops of blood which fell from it became serpents, which ever after infested the sands of Lybia.
