In the Lower School examinations Markdale passed four pupils, one had to write off one subject. The number who wrote is not given. Dundalk passed fourteen out of twenty-one who wrote, one to write off one subject. Flesherton passed eighteen out of twenty-two who wrote, with five to write off one subject each.

A frame house on the Meaford Road, owned by Mr. Arthur Johnston, and occupied by a gentleman named Thomas Skinner, was burned to the ground Saturday morning. The fire was discovered about 2 a. m., and had secured great headway. Mrs. Skinner was at home alone with three little children and had much difficulty in saving them. She was awakened by one of the children crying and found the house in flames. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Born--On July 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert J. Chard, of Grimsby, a son.

Four auto loads of villagers went to Owen Sound for civic holiday.

Born—On July 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Chard, of Toronto, a daughter, (Evelyn Onota).

The annual camping party left for Ewart's lake on Saturday, where they will spend two weeks in the delights of that sylvan resort. Those who went from Flesherton, were C. N. Richardson, Dr. Murray, Geo. McTavish, Herb. Sullivan, W. Moore and Wes. Armstrong. Mr. Ken. Mitchell of Chicago and Dr. Fred Murray of Toronto are also attached to the party.

Mrs. Jamieson received on Saturday a letter from her son, T. A. Jamieson, who is an invalid in England from gas poisoning. "Bert" says his recovery is very slow and he has not much energy. He does not expect to be home before the end of the war, and hopes to get back to the front. He says if he is not fit to go to the front they can give him work at the base. That is good British pluck.

Mr. Joseph Armstrong of Toronto, who was visiting here this week, showed The Advance a rare old curiosity or relic in the form of a copy of the London Times of date October 3, 1798, one hundred and seventeen years old. It is a small four-page paper, each page made up of four columns of reading matter. The paper contains Nelson's own story of the victory of the Nile, when he destroyed the French fleet without the loss of one British vessel. This rare old sheet makes very interesting reading at the present juncture.

In connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Winters in the Osprey marsh, it is interesting to note that some forty years ago a man was found dead in the marsh by a party of huckleberry pickers. The remains were badly decomposed and the man had worn a good blue serge suit and carried a valise containing underclothing, but there was nothing by which the remains could be identified. As to Detective Reburn's theory that Mrs. Winters sank to her death in the marsh, the majority of people scout the idea. They say there is no place in the marsh capable of swallowing up a person in that manner.

Mrs. R. W. Shaw of Lions Head, who has been visiting friends here, received a telephone message on Wednesday evening of last week informing her that her husband had fallen and injured himself and her presence was required at home. Later word instructed her to go to Owen Sound as her husband was being brought to the hospital. Mr. Shaw was putting up a hay fork track in a barn and a scaffolding gave way and precipitated him to the floor below, a distance of 37 feet. His body first struck a granary and from that he fell to the floor, striking on some rails. His leg and two ribs were broken and he was badly bruised and shaken up otherwise. He was brought to Owen Sound hospital by boat and the injuries attended to. Owing to a strong constitution he will doubtless recover, but it was indeed a close call from death.

A man living on a homestead in California has just heard that Germany and England are at war. There are plenty of young men in Guelph in apparently a worse state of ignorance. If you don't think so make a round of the movies, the pool rooms and the next circus that hits town.—Mercury.

The keeping of more than five gallons of coal oil is forbidden by the Ontario Statutory Conditions in Fire Insurance Policies. Farmers and others should observe not to store barrels of coal oil in houses or outbuildings, as in doing so they void their insurance policies and release the companies from all liability in paying losses.

By the huge majority of 20,000 the Province of Alberta voted itself dry on Wednesday of last week. The Act comes into force on July 1st, 1916, when no intoxicating liquors may be sold thereafter in the entire Province except for medical purposes. The carrying of the Act will abolish 320 hotel, club and wholesale liquor licenses in Alberta. As the Province of Saskatchewan has also abolished liquor, and both political parties are endorsing prohibition platforms in the coming elections in Manitoba, it looks as if the entire West will soon be in the dry column.

A Defiant Boniface

Not content with the privilege of selling from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. the hotel keeper at Desboro has been charged with selling during prohibited hours. He was brought before the police magistrate in Owen Sound last Friday and found guilty of selling after hours on July 14. There are four other charges to come up against him. This should be a case for inquiry by the provincial commission which is trying to make the booze business respectable. The O.S. Sun referring to Fitzpatrick says: "He wanted an adjournment for a week but the magistrate told him he could only grant him an adjournment for one day and Fitzpatrick would have to pay the costs. Fitzpatrick grew very wrathy and his language became so violent that the magistrate threatened to send him to jail for "contempt of court." The magistrate finally settled the case as follows: On the first three charges Fitzpatrick was fined $50 and costs, and on the last was fined $30 and costs, amounting to $222. A fifth charge of selling in bottles was withdrawn. At first Mr. Fitzpatrick declared he would pay nothing and would go to jail. "You can't hold a gun at my face in this man's country," he said, but when the magistrate began to make a warrant for his commital he wilted and decided to foot the bill. Fitzpatrick was caught by two detectives of the Provincial License Department to whom he sold the liquor and it was on their evidence he was convicted.—Chesley Enterprise.

Lady Nearly Killed

A most distressing accident happened at Wasaga Beach on Sunday afternoon which came very near costing Mrs. John Timmons her life. Mr. and Mrs. Timmons and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rowe were enjoying a walk along the beach when Wes Gallagher's car, driven by a young lady, came up behind at a high rate of speed. The driver sounded the alarm and the pedestrians stepped aside, but for some reason we have not yet heard explained, Mrs. Timmons was struck by the car, knocked down and run over before the car was stopped. She was terribly injured, and the wonder is she was not killed outright. Both legs were broken, one in two places below the knee and badly splintered, and she was also seriously cut on other parts of her head and body. Dr. Mitchell, M.P.P., Weyburn, Sask., who is summering at the beach with his family, rendered first aid before Mrs. Timmons was removed to her home in Sunnidale—Creemore Star.

Miss Reta McNally of Toronto is visiting with her cousin, Miss Iva McNally.

A very successful garden party was held at the home of Mr. John Winters on Wednesday evening of last week under the auspices of St. Mary's church, Maxwell. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Abbot, occupied the chair during the program. Good music was provided by the Dundalk band, the "blizzard" band, Mr. D. Blakey, Miss Ethel Winters and Miss Scilley, and Mr. Bailey, a reading by Miss Hargrave and an address by Rev. Mr. Scobie. A baseball match between Proton and Rock Mills teams, resulted in a victory for the former team. The proceeds amounted to about $130.

Mrs. Kenny of Bolton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John McNeven.
