STEPHEN'S CORNERS

We extend our profound sympathy to the wife and family of the late Mr. Ern Hawton of Feversham, whose sudden passing at his home on Saturday came as a shock to everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Redge Londry visited on Saturday with their son Marvin, wife and family at Georgetown.

Miss Emma Meads of Priceville spent the week end with her friend, Miss Hazel Fenwick.

Come to the play "Safety First" in Maxwell Hall on Thursday, May 24. Proceeds to go to Stephen's Corners' War Workers.

Mr. Roy Fenwick and Hazel and Miss Emma Meads attended the Masonic Church service in Flesherton Sunday morning and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meads and family of Priceville.

A large crowd attended the memorial service in Maxwell Church on Sunday in memory of Pte. Archie Laughlin who was killed overseas a few months ago. Rev. Holmes preached a very impressive sermon and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved. The choir rendered very fittingly "No Not One" (by request) and "Face to Face". Another brother, Hughie, made the supreme sacrifice a year ago.

John Bracken — The Farmer

On the 11th of December, 1942, John Bracken stood in the Auditorium in Winnipeg before a great concourse of people. John Bracken — the Farmer — was accepting the leadership of a great resurgent people's party. In ringing tones he was speaking of "The People's Charter". And the soul-searching sincerity of this man of the soil, with his vision of Canada, of Canadians and the "world of plenty that lies within our grasp" was deeply moving.

Picture the background of this man — this moment. John Bracken, the farm boy, on his father's farm in Ontario, milking, haying, carrying in the wood, plowing . . . then young Bracken, honours student at the Ontario Agricultural College going to Manitoba as representative of the Department of Agriculture . . . on to Saskatchewan as Superintendent of Fairs and Farmers' Institutes and Secretary of the Provincial Livestock Association . . . then, later, John Bracken, author, writing books about farms, farming, farmers . . .

And now years later, in Winnipeg, John Bracken, the farmer, is speaking of "the right of farmers and other primary producers to a fair share of the nation's income." Notice the simplicity of the language he uses, clear, concise — sincere.

"During the last decade," he is saying, "farm income fell to such a low average as to become of very great concern in our Canadian economy. It is the responsibility of the nation to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated."

Then, suddenly his voice rises, becomes even clearer, more incisive. "I may say quite frankly that if it had not been for that plank in your platform which provides for a square deal for agriculture, I would not be here."

Two years later, in Alliston, Ontario, — again the same simplicity, the moving sincerity.

"I am an agrarian," said John Bracken, "and I am a Canadian . . . who seeks to correct the major social injustice of our day — the unfairly small share of the national income that goes to farmers and farm women and farm workers." Then, with a statesman's enlargement of vision, he added, "When the injustice to the farmer is removed, the economy of Canada as a whole will be strengthened."

No one could be less parochial in his outlook — more deeply concerned with national welfare than John Bracken, the farmer who embarked twenty years ago on a career so successful as to be without precedent in contemporary political history within the British Commonwealth of Nations.
