Ship Dairy, Draft Animals To Europe

About 50,000 dairy and draft animals will be shipped to five Balkan countries during the next 18 months to help replace Europe's decimated livestock herds, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration announced last week.

About half the animals are scheduled to come from the United States and the remainder from other United Nations in the western hemisphere.

The first shipment, 300 dairy heifers and 900 draft animals, will leave the United States for Greece within a few weeks. In addition, 300 bred heifers and 300 mares probably will be shipped shortly to Yugoslavia.

UNRRA said its livestock program was designed to replace one percent. of the 5,000,000 animals destroyed during the war in Greece, Albania, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland. The first shipment was directed to Greece, it said, because of her "extreme need."

Belgium is in desperate need of meat and is said to be slaughtering milk cows and young beeves in an effort to meet the daily meat allowance of 35 grams a person.

'TOJO NO GOOD'

Waving one of the "I surrender" leaflets dropped behind enemy lines in northern Luzon, a bearded Jap soldier emerges from tall grass crying "Tojo no good. Americans very good." Alert for a trick Yanks keep him covered.

The fly-amanita mushroom derives its name from the fact that a poison for fly-paper was made from its tissues.

British Get Less Food That Needy May Have More

Life has been exceedingly tough for British civilians throughout five years of war, says the Minneapolis Star Journal. It will be tougher as regards both food and clothing before it gets better because of continuing shortages. There would be more to eat and more to wear for the British if they curtailed the war effort against Japan or shut their eyes to the misery of the liberated peoples of Europe. The British will do neither.

With commendable altruism the British are making plans to get along without further clothing and other relief from the United States in order that needier European liberated peoples may receive the fullest possible measure of American assistance.

The British War Relief, which during the past five years has contributed $50,000,000 to needy Britons, will terminate its activities October 1. By British request funds raised in the national war fund campaign next Autumn will be utilized for sufferers on the continent while the United Kingdom will care for its own needy without American assistance.

Waterloo Bridge Across The Rhine

London's "temporary" Waterloo Bridge that was used for seventeen years until the permanent Waterloo Bridge was opened in 1942, now spans the Rhine at Remagen.

It was dismantled and shipped across the Channel after the capture of Antwerp in readiness for an emergency.

Its time came when Remagen Bridge — at that time the Allies' only bridge across the Rhine — collapsed soon after it had been taken by U. S. troops. Special trucks rushed the dismembered bridge to Remagen, section by section, and army engineers worked night and day under enemy fire to rebuild it over the Rhine.

Within a week tanks, guns, trucks and men were pouring over Waterloo Bridge and on into Germany.
