VICINITY CHIPS

Mr. Andrew Bentham of Toronto, spent last week in town.

Mrs. W. Moore spent last week with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. C. Ottewell of Toronto spent the past fortnight with relatives here.

The first genuine taste of winter came on Monday, Nov. 15—an inch or so of it.

Miss Lyla Alexander of Feversham spent last week with her friend, Miss Rita Buskin.

Mr, Robert Flanagan of Huntsville visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. Buskin, over Sunday.

Mr. Bert Best returned last week from the West, where he has been for the last four months.

We understand that Mr. Wesley Clinton of Monte Marte, Sask., has been ill with typhoid fever but is improving.

Misses Tillie Hewitt and Jean Teeter of the Meaford Road, visited the former's sister who is sick in Meaford.

Rev. Waugh of Dundalk spoke before the YoungPeoples'Society of the Methodist church Monday evening on Missions.

A shooting match for ducks and geese will be held on the old Hemphill farm, 4th line, on Friday, Nov. 19. —Wilfred Plantt.

R. J. Sproule has sold the Wilson residence on the western outskirts of the town to Mr. Arthur Johnston of the Meaford Road, who will move to town.

Mr. Mentgomery motored up from Toronto and spent Sunday (7th) with his sister, Mrs. J. Dudgeon, at the Parsonage.

Mr. L. Patterson, Mr. Ephraim and Frank Loucks motored from Meaford, one day last week and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Loucks, and Mrs. Wyville.

Miss Aleda Mitchell give a party to a number of the high school pupils on Friday evening. Miss Aleda makes a charming little hostess and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Another recruit has been added to the Flesherton bunch making sixteen in all. Walter Cargo, eldest son of Mrs. J. Cargo enlisted in the Owen Sound Contingent a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. W. P. Crossley received word recently that his eldest son, Will, had taken unto himself a wife at Moosejaw, Sask, in the person of a Miss Della Wansborough. The Advance extends its felicitations.

As I am leaving town almost immediately I would like all accounts straightened up before Saturday, Nov. 27. I also have a quantity of second-hand furniture to dispose of cheap. W. H. Bunt, undertaker.

Mr. Jack Foley of the Orangeville Sun was a caller on Monday. He was one of eight or ten prominent citizens of Orangeville who came up to view the works at Eugenia. We were pleased to make his acquaintance.

The young People's Society of the Methodist church had an enjoyable time Monday evening of last week, when Nurse Mae Jamieson gave an interesting and instructive talk on first aid to the injured. There was also a good program

Mr. Geo. Johnston of the Toronto line will become a resident of Flesherton in the near future, he having purchased W. W. Trimble's residence opposite the Baptist church. Mr. Johnston is a good substantial citizen and with his good wife will make an acceptable addition to the population.

Corp. Bert Jamieson went up to Porcupine recently and received a rousing reception from the citizens of that mining town. It was at Porcupine that Bert enlisted shortly after the war started, and his reception there was on a par with that given him at Flesherton, but it included the burning of an effigy of Crazy Bill the Prussian Baby Killer.

Mr. W. H. Bunt, furniture dealer and undertaker, has exchanged businesses with Mr. J. Chapman of Owen Sound. The exchange is to take place before Dec. 1. Flesherton will therefore lose one of its very best citizens, which is deeply to be regretted, and Owen Sound is the gainer. At the same time we will welcome Mr. Chapman and wish him success here.

We are informed that both Markdale officers have offered for overseas service, but the date of th is offer has not been given. We are glad, however, for the honor of the Company, that such is the case. We would also like to see the Markdale company supply three times the number of men that have offered. We would also like to see more of the prominent citizens of our sister town represented by their sons at the front. "Your king and country need you."

A doctor and two or three mediocre acrobats and sleight of hand artists held forth all last week in the town hall, but we haven't noticed any diminution in the circulation of specie in town since they ceased probing for dimes here. We believe they have turned their attention to the good people of Feversham this week. Later—Feversham turned them down, refusing to let them open their show. By which Feversham showed more sense than did Flesherton.

Mr. Charley Adams, who recently joined the recruits at Owen Sound, has been returned home by the military doctor as unfit for overseas service. Some years ago Charley broke his ankle and since then it has always been weak. He said nothing of this to the medical man who examined him, and he was passed all right, but when it came to marching eagle eyes saw that something was wrong and he was called out of the ranks and questioned, with the result announced above. Charley feels sore because he was caught out before reaching first base.

The Advance is informed that illegal catching of speckled trout has been going on in a wholesale manner in the Beaver river. We are told of one man (name not given) who has a barrel full salted down. Unfortunately we know these to be something more than rumor. These fish are caught in quantities on the spawning beds every fall, and it is having the effect of utterly destroying summer fishing. What are our game wardens doing? It may be too late to do anything this fall, but this matter should certainly be looked after.

The official opening of the big hydro works at Eugenia will take place on Thursday of this week, when some hundred guests are expected to be present. Dinner cooked by the electricity will be served at the power house. Hon. Adam Beck will himself turn the switch that sets in motion the powerful machinery. Things here in Flesherton are in pretty good shape to receive the current, three gangs of men having been on the job now for some time wiring up the houses. It is expected that there will be about one hundred consumers. The street lighting plant has been ready for weeks.

The Karsted oil well is still showing some interesting phases. A large quantity of water came into the well this fall, some eight feet more than normal, and no oil floated on the top. Last week Mr. Karstedt thought if he pumped it out he might get good water once more, but as soon as the water was lowered to its summer level oil began coming in as it did before. Then the water rose again and the floating oil stopped. This would seem to prove that the pressure at its source, wherever that may be, is not sufficient to force it higher than about three feet from the bottom of the well. It is pretty sound proof, too, that it can be no leakage from above as the savants have pronounced.

The girl pupils of the high school enjoyed a paper chase one evening last week. The chase led them on a long trail around and through the town and round the agricultural grounds back to the high school from whence it started. The cackle kept up by that bevy of pretty girls reminded one of a flock of wild geese as they passed along. The "hares" were Shirley Murray, Ina Laidlaw and Vena Findley, who succeeded by false trails and otherwise in laying a very confusing course. Miss Annie Graham was the only girl that followed the trail to the sweet — coffee and cake — end, the rest making cut-offs and roosting on fences while the workers nosed the trail. Every girl came in with big American Beauties shining in her cheeks and Mercury sparking in her eyes.

All the hunters have returned home with glowing accounts of this hunt. The weather was the best experienced in years. Mr. Tom Watson captured the largest dear of the season up in Algoma, an animal weighing 253 pounds. The other groups of hunters got some fine deer but nothing to come up to Tom's capture.

Why do statesmen read the Weekly Sun of Toronto? Because it is a paper with a reputation that is unquestioned. It is the farmers business paper, and is watching the farmers interests all the time. Aside, even from its market reports, which are acknowledged to be the best in the Dominion, it is a paper of weight. It has an established personality. You should have it come to your home every week. All through the long winter nights it will furnish a wealth of interesing reading material of a thoroughly reliable character. This paper has special clubbing arrangements with The Sun. Let us have your renewal and add The Sun to your list of papers for 1916.

A party out in the south-west of Egremont has been in the habit of getting a supply of concentrated dizziness in fictitious names at various stations on this line of railway. Recently he had one sent in his own name to Proton and called for it, fifteen miles from home. It came on the night train. He broke open the box and putting the bottles in a bag placed all in his buggy, then went into the hotel there to have a cigar with the boys. When he came out there was no bag or bottles to be found and he hasn't found them yet, but the squeal he put up and language he used is said to have frightened all the rabbits out of the swamps of Proton. It was a cold, dry ride over the fifteen miles that night.

Mr. R. T. Cornfield, Weyburn, Sask. writes: "It is always a pleasure to see the old Advance in the P. O. box every Saturday morning, but it is remarkable how many unfamiliar names have crept into the Vicinity Chips items in the past four years. Probably the oil boom is partly responsible for so many new comers. Threshing is now completed in this district. We have two crops in one and business is good. We had a nice little fall of snow last Sunday and it is still on the ground, three whole days of young winter. By the way, there is a Mr. Archie McDougall in town here, working on the Weyburn Review, who says he worked with you on The Advance, years ago. He is a pretty good fellow, too, and likes to get a peep at The Advance occasionally for old times' sake. Remembrance to all."

Presentations

There was an interesting time at the Presbyterian Guild on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd when two of our soldier boys—Jos. LeGard and Thos Chard—members of the Guild, were each presented with a handsome and valuable safety razors accompanied by addresses. Following is the address given Mr. LeGard who threw up his situation as forman of the Advance office to join the forces:

Dear Mr. LeGard:—

We welcome your return to our Guild and town, though it be but your twenty-four hour leave of absence. You have had a slight taste of military life, and we trust, though the firing line has not yet been reached, your conduct has been worthy of the companionship of the boys surviving to enjoy the glory of Ypres, Langemark and Festubert. As great a work yet remains to be done. We feel you will worthily do your part. Warfare is no child's play, whether it be for the Kingdom of God or for the nation. You have a double duty to perform, and, having enlisted under two kings, are in a twofold way expected "to do your duty". We will remember you at the Guild. We trust all will remember you individually at the throne of Grace. As success crowned your efforts in connection with the Press, so, may your acts, fixed in habits of character and distributed to the world bear news to humanity that will warm the heart and lead men to bless the day that you were born.

Be good enough to accept this little token of our good wishes and regard. Again we say farewell. "God be with you till we meet again."—G. A. McTavish, F. W. Duncan, Muriel McTavish, Donald McVicar, Rita Buskin, (Rev.) A. McVicar.

Officers who do not propose to go to the front themselves, do more harm than good at meetings held for the purpose of securing recruits. The officer who can walk up to a husky young fellow and say—"Tom, I am going to the front to fight the Huns and I want you to come with me."—is the chap who will get solid results.—Clarksburg Review.

Mrs. Ida Ewing, nurse, has purchased Dr. J. A. Smith's house, Main ntreet west, Shelburne, and will turn it into a hospital. Dr. Smith will keep his office in the building, but is moving his family to Miss O'Flynn's residence, First avenue. —Economist.

The big fine of nine hundred dollars in Walkerton on the trio who conducted the Hanover house boat has been cancelled by the department, and the costs only of the action, which amount to about $200, will be collected from the three, who it seems, were construed by the law as running a club house on the Saugeen River. On account of this being the first conviction of its kind the department decided that the payment of the costs would be sufficient punishment of this initial offence.
