SIDE GLANCES — By Galbraith

"Considering the way they have released women from war work, maybe their mothers will start taking care of them soon and we can again use the old tree as just a pure loafing place, as God intended!"

Looking Ahead

As Smith and Jones were waiting at the bus stop, a passer-by stopped and asked Jones the time. Jones did not reply.

After the stranger had passed on, Smith asked:

"Why didn't you answer him?"

"Well it's this way," Jones replied. "If I'd told him the time, he might have got chatting, then we might have had a drink together, and in the end I might have asked him home to supper.

"There he might have met my daughter—and she's a very pretty girl—and they might have fallen in love. Finally they might have got married."

"And let me tell you, I don't want a fellow for my son-in-law who can't afford to buy a watch."
