Child's Body In Attic

Owen Sound, April 6.—A very gruesome find was made last night by Mr. A. Sloane, of Third ave., when he went into his attic and discovered the skeleton of a child on the floor. The house, which is a small two-storey one with a very small attic, had not been in use for some time until Mr. Sloane took the house some months ago. Through curiosity more than anything else he decided to look into the attic, and there found the remains of the child. The body was that of an infant aged possibly a year or two, and was wrapped in black cloth, and very badly decomposed. The police were notified, and on investigating called the Coroner, Dr. W.G. Dow, who took the remains in charge. While there will likely be an investigation it is not probable that an inquest will be held.

Walkerton

A Carrick farmer near Otter Creek was roughly handled last week by a couple of soldiers who resented some remarks he made in regard to recruiting. The face of the agriculturalist was slightly damaged in the melee, although he otherwise came through the ordeal with a whole skin.

Anthony Hihn, a Culross farmer, was arrested by Chief Ferguson on Wednesday afternoon on a charge of insanity. He was brought to Walkerton and examined by two doctors before Magistrate Tolton and remanded to jail for a still further medical examination. The prisoner was committed to the asylum last July and after a few month's confinement was dismissed as cured. He is stated to have become badly deranged again, and the probability is that he will again be given a term in the institution.

Sergt. F. C. James, an expert architec, and who with his son, Corp. Trieves James, has enlisted with the 160th Bruce Battalion, received an offer this week of $150 a month to return to his old job with a large architecturel firm in Winnipeg. Sergt. James declined the tempting offer, but stated that if the job were still open after the war was over, and he was still on top of the sod, that he would then consider the offer. Instead of trying to gold-line his trouser pockets, the Sergeant is out doing his bit for the flag, which is the direct antithesis of that Carrick farmer who besides keeping certain of his sons at home to work the farm, has hired others of them out to the neighboring planters, thus taking advantage of both the labor market and the high food rates to bulk up his bank account, while others go forward to keep the enemy from devastating his fields, ravaging his home and raiding his gold deposits. Verily if there is anything in the sin of ingratitude, some folks for the way they have acted in this war, are destined for the warmest corner in that place where a snow-ball the size of Walkerton wouldn't last two seconds by the watch.—Herald and Times.

Eighth Line, Artemesia

Mr. Oliver Turner met with a heavy loss on Wednesday last, when the brick house on the farm which he had recently purchased was burned to the ground. The fire originated through a defective chimney. Mr. Turner had considerable of his furniture moved in, but it was saved.

SHORT-SAYERS

On Wednesday evening, April 5, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayers, Fairview Farm, Osprey, when their third daughter, Ella Reta, was united in marriage to Mr. Franklin E. Short of the 12th line, Osprey. The bride, who was given away by her father, took her place beside the groom under an arch of evergreens while the wedding march was being played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. McArthur, of Ravenna. The bride was beautifully dressed in a gown of silk embroidered net over Jap silk, trimmed with shadow lace and seed pearls. Miss Rota Genoe of Eugenia, neice of the bride, made a pretty little flower girl, dressed in y gown of pink silk, and carried a basket of orange blossoms. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Tiller of Maxwell, after which about 40 guests sat down to a bountiful wedding breakfast. A coincidence of the evening was the christening of the bride's little neice, Miss Dorothy Elsie McArthur. The bride received many beautiful presents among which was an organ given by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Long of Meaford. After a brief honeymoon the young couple will reside on their farm on the 10th line, Osprey. The best wishes follow the young couple through life.

Clark

The people of Feversham and vicinity were greatly shocked and saddened by the sudden and entirely unlooked for death of Miss Mary Clark of Toronto, formerly of Barrie, on Wednesday morning last at the home of Mr. R. J. Colquette Feversham, where she had boarded since coming here. Miss Clark had been principal of Feversham continuation school since last September. About three weeks ago Miss Clark was stricken down with pneumonia but under the care of Dr. Roszell of Maxwell, had made a rapid and apparently complete recovery, and on Tuesday last after a careful and thorough examination by her physician was allowed to sit up for a short time which Miss Clark claimed did not tire her in the least and wanted to sit up longer but was persuaded to lie down again. On Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock while those who were caring for her were assisting her to rise, she took a weak spell and although everything that loving hands could do and though her physician was called by phone and was at her bedside in a very short time, life had fled. Miss Clark was only 26 years old and was dearly loved by her pupils and in fact by all who had made her acquaintance, being one of those who endear themselve to all those they come in contact with. The remains were taken to Barrie on Friday last and interred there. Before leaving Mr. Colquett's home on Friday morning her pastor, Rev. Mr. Scobie, Presbyterian Minister of Feversham congregation, held a short service, paying a great tribute to Miss Clark as an exemplary christian lady. The sympathy of the Feversham people are extended to Miss Clark's family in their great sorrow and bereavement. But they sorrow not as one without hope for we know that Miss Clark was ready to meet her Creator and is now with that innumerable company that John saw, who had washed their robes and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb.
